

LETTER FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

CAMP MCGINNIS, Cumberland, Md., July 10, 1861.

DEAR READER:

I have nearly forgotten when I wrote to you last, or what the subject of my last was. My recollection, however, is that I dropped you a line from Camp "Mason and Dixon," seven miles from this place, and within the borders of our own State. We were stationed at the latter place about ten days, but for what purpose no one except those high in authority, had any idea; and it may be fairly questioned if they had any definite design in it. When we left Camp McColl, near Bedford, the impression was that we were to march directly to this point, but when we approached the State line, the commandant of the detachment began (very properly) to have some doubts about the propriety of crossing the borders without orders from the Federal Government, as our troops still belonged to the Pennsylvania Reserve Corps. Col. Wallace with the 11th Indiana Zouave regiment then occupied this point, and continued to occupy it until last Sunday (the 7th inst.) when they received orders to march down the Potomac on Martinsburg, and we immediately received orders to march to supply their place here. Our orders were received late on Sunday evening, and we were directed to be ready by 4 o'clock next morning. We accordingly commenced preparing a day's rations, packing up, &c., for a move. One Regiment, that under command of Col. Buell, took up their march before midnight, to enable them to reach Cumberland to prevent an attack supposed to be meditated by the secessionists upon the town, as soon as Col. Wallace's command would get out of reach. This however did not take place; the 1st regiment arriving about 2 A. M. and throwing the inhabitants into the greatest consternation. Not expecting our forces so soon and having no notice until they heard their heavy steps as they passed along the streets they were taken altogether by surprise. When they remained what forces were in their midst their alarm subsided so far as actual danger was concerned, although those of the citizens who had secessionist proclivities, (and I am inclined to think there is a number such in the place) felt anything else than gratification at seeing their town again under the surveillance of the Union soldiers. The second regiment (or rather what is now designated the 5th) to which we belong moved on in the morning and reached Cumberland about 8 o'clock A. M. Upon arriving here we encamped in the place occupied by Col. Wallace on a bluff overlooking the town to the north and north east. Our position commands the town and a view of the surrounding hills and mountains, several of which are in Virginia. Cumberland is a town of about eight thousand inhabitants, being scattered over a considerable amount of space on both banks of Will's Creek at its junction with the Potomac. Before the beginning of the unhappy trouble in which our country is now involved it had considerable trade, being situated in the coal regions at the junction of a branch railroad running to the coal mines, with the Baltimore and Ohio R. R. and at the mouth of the little Cumberland valley and another valley on the east, both having considerable supplies of produce. All which, from 20 miles above is, or rather heretofore has been, brought to this point. But since the war has broken out, the railroad communications have been cut off, and nearly all business has been suspended, and the town is now very dull. It has, like all coal towns, a dark dingy appearance; but I have no doubt, when business was flowing at its ordinary current it was a lively and pleasant town. The town proper is built on an eminence the site of old Fort Cumberland, once under command of Washington. On the mound where the fort stood is now a handsome freestone church belonging to the Episcopalians of Cumberland. Here is also the public buildings, seminaries, and handsome residences, which give it a new and fresh appearance, although it is the oldest part of the town. The country around this island is mountainous and rugged, but mountain in the highest degree. The Potomac and Will's creeks wind among the rugged hills, and around bold promontories and precipices, in tortuous channels.

Car Time at Tyrone. The summer arrangement of the Pennsylvania railroad, on and after the 10th of June, will be as follows: TRAINS LEAVING EASTWARD, Fast Line 9.17 p. m., Mail Train 11.55 a. m. TRAINS LEAVING WESTWARD, Express Passenger 6.40 a. m., Mail Train 5.40 p. m. The Express East, and Fast Line West, do not stop at Tyrone.

To THE LADIES.—By the latest news received from the eastern cities, we would inform them of the present fashion, and what the rage consists of, viz: all opposite colors are in vogue. Amongst which stands the most prominent, Black Barge and Balzaine, trimmed with scarfing. All light material on the drab or black color, are so the thing trimmed with Pink or Blue Saffron, according to fancy. The dresses must be made with pocket on the outside, trimmed and pointed Gapes to complete the fashion.

These items are all to be had at the One-Price Cash Store of H. W. Smith & Co on the corner of Second and Pine Streets, Clearfield.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A few days ago Aaron Danforth, formerly of Penn township, this county, who is an employe on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Altoona, had his leg broken between the knee and ankle, while endeavoring to replace some cars on the track, in the yard at that place. A rope with an iron hook on the end was used for the purpose, but by some means the hook gave way or became detached, and flew out of its place, striking Mr. D. on the leg, and producing an ugly flesh wound with the fracture. Surgical aid was given, and Mr. D. is doing well.

Speech of Mr. Beckenridge.—We give in another column a very brief and imperfect abstract of the remarks of Senator Beckenridge in the Senate on the 14th inst. This is the gentleman whom the Journal said would not "dare to show his face at the extra session of Congress" and that the "Union men of Kentucky had evidence enough to hang him." Our readers after perusing his remarks, can say whether a man who can thus plead for the preservation of the Constitution of his country should be denominated as a traitor, or not.

REPRESENTATIVE CONFERENCE.—We call the attention of our Democratic friends in this Representative District to the following resolution:

Resolved: That the next meeting of the Representative Conference of this District be held at the Borough of St. Mary's, in Elk County, on the 24th Thursday of August A. D. 1861.

This resolution was passed by the Conference held in Ridgeway in August last, and in accordance therewith the next Conference will meet at St. Mary's on the 14th day of August next at 8 o'clock P. M. Our Democratic contemporaries in the District will please copy the Resolution.

LIEUT. LORAIN.—We regret to learn that the gentleman was severely wounded at the battle of Bull's Run, on Thursday last. We take the following from the correspondent of the New York Herald of the 20th instant:

"Capt Ayers (late of Sherman's battery) earned his laurels during the affair. He was distinguished by wonderful precision and rapidity. He was the comrade of Capt. Ayers and Lieut. James Loring. Present and Noble, was the distinguished prize among the staff officers. While the two batteries were in the woods discharging grape shot at the enemy, a private killed, and Lieut. Loring severely wounded in the leg by rifle shot. Lieut. Loring's horse was also killed almost simultaneously."

Lieut. Lorenzo Lorain graduated with high honors at West Point in 1855, and was commissioned as a Lieut. in the regular army. He has been connected with Sherman's battery since the commencement of the present troubles. We have not learned what the probable result will be of his wound.

A Boston Republican orator told the citizens of our town last fall that "secession men and a cow" had nearly "waded the Virginians to death, and that 75,000 Northern men would break these secessionist Southerners before breakfast." This Boston gentleman has proven himself to be an ASS-tute prophet with a slight variation. By referring to the proceedings of the gentleman who are running the machine at Washington now, it seems they want 500,000 men and $500,000,000 and probably five years to complete the job. We wonder if the Boston gentleman has engaged in the score?

Mrs. Augusta Evans of Mobile the author of "The Revival," is now in the Southern camp, at Norfolk, ministering to the comfort of her friends.

We would be very much obliged to some of our wise Republican neighbors to inform us in what portion of the Constitution, either of the three branches of our national government have a right to usurp the duties of the others, or the power to legalize the illegal and unconstitutional acts of each other? The President admits in his message that he has acted outside of the Constitution and calls upon Congress to legalize his acts; this is indeed strange conduct. The members of Congress were required before taking their seats, to subscribe an oath to support the Constitution, and the very first act they are called upon to do, by the President, after taking this oath, was to break down the Constitution.

A bolder assumption of power by men who assume to respect and support laws and constitutions, is nowhere to be found on record, not even among the boldest usurpers of the middle ages.

STILL IN TROUBLE.—It seems that "Bleeding" Kansas though admitted into the Union as a State and under the control of Black Republicanism, still refuses to be comforted. This young little sister state, not yet out of her baby clothes has no less than three United States Senators at Washington—Lane, Pomeroy and Stanton, as graceless a trio of political villains as ever trod the earth. We wonder if the "border ruffians" are still at the bottom of these Kansas troubles? Why does not his Supreme Majesty at Washington, "Coerce" these Kansas "rebels," or issue an edict of martial law and bring them into subjection?

STARVATION IN PHILADELPHIA.—In Philadelphia the working classes of the sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth and nineteenth wards have appealed to the city government to furnish them employment. At this meeting one of the speakers said: "We merely ask for labor to sustain life. We have men in our midst who have not tasted meat for months; men who have not received two meals a day for months; others have but one meal a day, and I know one man who did not eat anything for two days and died from it. It was wrong not to call this meeting sooner, but there is yet time to save those who are upon the verge of starvation."

Democratic Primary Election. In pursuance of resolutions passed by the Standing Committee, David C. Dale and James M. Welch, of the "Rattman Rangers," and John Bigler and David McLaughlin of the "Washington Cadets," will hold elections in their respective companies on such day as they may appoint prior to the 1st Saturday of August, and transmit the result to the chairman, so that the same may be counted at the meeting of the County Convention.

The Democratic voters of the different boroughs and townships will, on the 2nd Saturday of August next, elect two delegates to attend a County Convention to be held on the 3rd Monday of September next, to determine if any changes should be made in the mode of nominating candidates, and in the party rules, and to make such changes.

Under the Rules of the party the respective Committees of Vigilance will appoint one of their number, or some other suitable person, as Return Judge, for the purpose of attending the County Convention, which will be held at the Court House on the Tuesday afternoon next succeeding the Primary Election.
