The Clearfield Republican.

CLEARFIELD, PA.

Wednesday Morning Aug 7, 1861.

The Journal's Veracity again at Fault.

Our neighbor is becoming shamelessly unscrupulous of late; and falsehood—palpable, unqualified, and bare-naked—appears to answer its purpose as well as the truth.

In its last issue, in speaking of party organizations, it says, "in some places party lines have been disregarded."

When, where, and by whom? or where has a proposition to that effect even been offered by the Republican party, except in districts where that party is hopelessly in the minority? How was it in the second Congressional district in Philadelphia?—Did the Republicans there offer to "disregard party lines?" On the contrary, they indignantly spurned all offers to do so—nominated one of their most violent partizan leaders on a strict party platform, and had him handsomely beaten by a sound national Democrat, and a member of the odious "Breckenridge wing" of his party: and in a district, too, which gave some two thousand majority against the Democrats last fall. And how is it now in the strong Rebublican counties, such as Chester, Dauphin, Lancaster, Lebanon, &c? Is there any disposition shown in any of these to "disregard party lines?"

Our neighbor need not point us to the Luzerne district. When the Democrats succeeded in nominating Col. Wright the Republicans knew that the game was up with them, and that it would be perfectly useless to try to defeat him.

It is true, that in Butler county, a fusion nomination was made. But with what result? Why, the Republicans thus nominated, have declined; and the party is now making arrangements to nominate a straight-out Republican ticket.

But our neighbor goes on and says:—"the Clearfield Republican, the organ of the Breckenridge wing of the party, gives notice that now is the time for party organization, and exhorts its followers with great earnestness to organize their forces. There is, therefore, nothing left but for those of different sentiments to do likewise."

Let us now see how this bold assertion tallies with the facts:

On the 8th of May last, the Journal announced the Republican County Committee, with A. C. Finney, Esq.—who, as "wings" seem to be of some importance to our neighbor, we will designate as belonging to the Greely wing of the Republican party—as its chairman.

On the 22d of May—two weeks later—L. J. Crans, Esq., Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, called the first meeting of said Committee for the 10th of June. The meeting took place on the day appointed. Not a word was heard from the Republicans on the subject of "disregarding party lines." The Committee adjourned to meet again on the 4th of July. They did so meet, and proceeded to make the usual arrangements for organizing the party—and the Chairman now informs us that, up to this time, he has not heard the first word from the Republican Committee on the subject.

Such are the facts, and we leave the public to fix their own estimation upon the veracity of an editor, who, with such cool deliberation, attempts to misrepresent facts so notorious, and thereby deceive and mislead his friends.

The charge that the Republican is the "organ of the Breckenridge," or any other "wing" of the Democratic party, is equally false; and it may be some comfort to the legal branch of the editorial department of the Journal to know, that among the most zealous supporters of our paper, and the warmest endorsers of its present course, are the leading supporters of the late Senator Douglas.

We agree with the Journal that "there can be but two parties on the great question of the day." And this has been the case for many days, and for many years. The Democratic party are now and ever have been for the Union, as our fathers framed it; and that party whose motto was, and is now, "no Union with Slaveholders," is responsible for our present troubles, and the threatened destruction of that Union which every Democrat will support and defend as the last hope of religious and political liberty on earth.

THE ERIE CONFERENCE.—The Erie Conference which held its Session at Warren, Pa., adjourned on the 24th ult. We publish a list of the appointments for Clarion District, taken from the Warren Daily Mail, published during Conference. It is a very neat little daily, and was furnished by the Rev. D. S. Steadman, who we are glad to learn his returned to Brookville.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch of the 30th ult., takes us severely to task for certain articles that appeared in our paper of the 24th, and characterizes those articles as the "rankest secession Bladby."

To please the Dispatch is the farthest from our thoughts. We would as soon undertake to conciliate the great high priest of Abolitionism Lloyd Garrison himself; for, if there is a paper in the State entitled to the distinction of a John Brown organ, it is the aforesaid Dispatch; and its hostility to the institution of slavery is such that we very much doubt whether it would favor the present war if it did not thereby hope to exterminate that institution.

But why does not the Dispatch turn the thunders of its indignation upon its near neighbor, the Greensburg Democrat, in which paper the identical articles complained of, also appeared? If such things are "rank secession" in Clearfield, why are they not the same in Westmoreland? Will the Dispatch explain the difference? and at the same time inform us why we have not the same right to "examine" the official acts of public servants now that we would have if there was no war?

But to show our readers that we do not misrepresent the Dispatch in styling it a John Brown organ, and to enable our readers to judge which is the worse treason, the articles we published, or those given to the world by the Dispatch, we give the following extract from a letter published in the adjoining column of the same number that contains the attack upon us, written by Rev. A. M. Stewart, Chaplain of the 13th regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, and dated at "Charlestown, Va., July 17, 1861." After a lengthy introductory, in which he introduces the reader to Charlestown, the place where John Brown was tried and executed, he gives vent to the following strains:

"In the beautiful undulating fields and woodlands around the spot where John Brown and his confederates were hung, is now encamping a Northern army of thirty thousand strong. Regiments from Wisconsin and Maine, Indiana and New Hampshire, Ohio and Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New York, are now quietly pitching their tents around this poor, guilty secession town, and not a dog dare to wag his tongue. And for what has this Northern army of battle come? Beyond peradventure, to order substantially to carry out the great design of John Brown's insignificant end. True it may be that multitudes of soldiers in this Northern army may not understand or even believe this. But when the true history of the present great revolution shall be correctly written, some future Macaulay will chronicle that old John Brown threw the first ball, Zachary the first cannon, and Abbott the first bayonet. Till then rest in peace, brave spirit, and trust to posterity for a vindication of your deeds."

We now ask, what kind of loyalty is this? How does this compare with the professed objects of the war, as expressed by the President and by Congress? And how contemptuously insulting to at least four-fifths of that "army thirty thousand strong," who, according to this traitor Chaplain, "little understand" that the real object of the war in which they have taken up arms is "to carry out the great design" of the thief and murderer John Brown. Can words be more directly hostile and traitorous to the Constitution and Government of the United States? Is it any wonder that sound democratic doctrine should smell like treason in the nostrils of an editor giving them publicity? Remember, this is not the impulsive language of an editor, nor of a politician, nor yet even of a political meeting—but the cool, deliberate language of a minister of the Gospel, acting under a commission from the present administration.

And this letter is given by the Dispatch with its evident endorsement; for, in apologising for not giving it sooner, the editor significantly says: "but as it treats of a subject—old John Brown—which will last through all time, we give it now."

The Objects of the War.

The following petition to Congress from the New York Republican Central Club, says the New York Tribune of the 2nd instant, was adopted at the last meeting:

Whereas, Ever since the establishment of our Government, Slavery has been a constant source of disturbance and crime; and whereas we believe that the present conflict will prove to be irrepressible so long as Slavery exists, inasmuch at it is the sole cause of the present war and consequently will generate future war; and whereas we believe it is the duty of Congress to resort to every Constitutional method of saving the nation and future generations from the enormous debt and loss of life with which we are now threatened; therefore be it

Resolved, That we believe that a large majority of the people of the North will faithfully sustain those members of Congress who vote for improving the present constitutional opportunity of delivering the nation from the great curse of Slavery. And in view of the formidable opposition and awful loss of life at Manassas Junction, we hereby petition Congress not to leave Washington until they shall have either passed in substance the proposed law of the Hon. Seth C. Pomeroy, for the suppression of the slaveholders' rebellion by abolishing Slavery in the seceded States amended, if thought best, by compensating the Union slaveholders out of the confiscated property of the rebels, or abolish the Fugitive Slave Law as pertains to said seceded States.

Resolved, That copies of the foregoing be transmitted by our Secretary to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives, with the request that they be read in both Houses of Congress.

This is high authority. The Central Republican Club of the great city of New York, is something more than the empty mutterings of a bar-room politician, a country editor, or even a member of Congress. Will the loyal, national men, who endorsed the Chicago platform by voting for Mr. Lincoln (and there are many such) quietly permit such a perversion of their intentions? Will they take the proper steps to show that such is not the purpose of the Republican party, and that this Central Club of New York speaks without authority? Time will tell.

PEACE.—In some remarks illustrative of the motives and purposes entertained by the New York Journal of Commerce, in urging a peace policy upon public consideration, that paper has the following:

"We prefer not to be misunderstood respecting our wish for peace. We desire peace only upon terms of justice and honor to both parties. While we would not submit to dishonorable propositions from the Confederate States, we would require of them no humiliating terms. The greatest good of the people of the whole country is what should be sought—what must be the motive of honorable men, if the the war is ever to cease. It must one day cease, for it is not in the power of human endurance to bear its evils through all time. To us it seems scarcely worth while to prolong the war for the purpose of proving which side can stand the greatest infliction of human torture and pecuniary suffering. We are, however, perfectly aware that upon any plans which might be submitted for the restoration of peace, there will be different opinions and conflicting views. Of this we do not complain. It is against the action and policy of those who oppose peace on any terms, and whose efforts are directed to stirring up the angry passions of the people to a war of vengeance and annihilation, that we protest, and shall continue to protest, with great respect for the opinions of others, but yet with all the ability with which a conviction of right may inspire us. While the war continues, let the government be sustained in all its constitutional and lawful efforts, and above all, let the proper authorities be suffered to discharge their duties without officious interference from any quarter."

Penn's Reserve is the title of a paper published by the typos of the 5th Regiment Penn'a R. Corps, whilst quartered at Piedmont, Va. From various embellishments, local items, &c., in its columns, we think we recognize the finger marks of some of the "boys from this place.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Premiums and diplomas will be paid for after the first Wednesday of November and till the 1st day of January, 1862, after which money premiums unclaimed will be considered as a donation to the Society. The officers of the Society and members of the Committee of arrangements will wear a badge designating their office, and it will be their duty as well as pleasure to attend to the expressed wishes and wants of exhibitors and others, if it is in their power to do. A select police force will be in attendance for the preservation of order and protection of property.

The trotting course is level, well graded, and one-third of a mile in circuit. Ample arrangements will be made for the convenience of spectators.

Children under ten years of age not admitted unless accompanied by their parents or guardians.

Every person wishing to be enrolled as a member of this Society must apply on or before the first day of the fair, and on the payment of one dollar to the Treasurer shall receive a certificate of membership containing the name of the applicant and endorsed by the Secretary.

Every person becoming a member as aforesaid shall on the presentation of his certificate receive a ticket which will admit him free during the fair. Any person complying with the above regulations and paying $10, shall become a life member and shall be exempt from all assessments and shall annually receive from the Secretary a free family ticket.

All persons must be provided with tickets which can be had from the Executive Committee, Treasurer or Secretary or at the door. Persons acting as Judges are expected to become members of the Society. Persons from other counties can become members by complying with the above rules. Ladies can become members by making application as above and paying to the Treasurer fifty cents when they will receive a ticket to admit them free.

Exhibition of ladies' and gentlemens' horsemanship will take place on Tuesday and Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock, but riding will not be allowed; those violating this rule will be excluded from competition. Plowing match will take place on Wednesday at 10 o'clock A. M. The address will be delivered at 2 o'clock on Friday the 18th of October, and immediately after the address the reports of the Judges will be read and the premiums awarded.

All articles for which a premium of two dollars and upwards, shall pay fifty cents each fee except horses for trotting which shall pay two dollars. All articles entered for a premium under two dollars shall pay twenty-five cents. All articles, except horses, for which no premium is offered, no charge.

Exhibitors must become members of the Society and have their animals and articles entered on the Secretary's books on or before the 1st day of October; and all animals and articles (except horses, which must be brought within the ring as early as Wednesday at 10 o'clock A. M., and all persons entering animals or articles for exhibition will present cards for the Secretary with the class and number of each said articles, previous to placing said articles on the ground. Hay and straw will be furnished gratis for all animals entered for premiums; grain will be furnished at cost for those who wish to purchase.

No horse shall be entered or allowed a premium unless he is free from disease. Horses will be received until Wednesday noon, but must be entered previously. All persons who intend to exhibit horses, cattle, sheep or swine, or who intend to offer stock or any other article for premium, shall notify the Secretary of such intention on or before the 10th of October, and furnish him a list and full description of the same.

Persons intending to exhibit blooded animals must produce authentic pedigrees, and are specially requested to furnish the Secretary, on or before the 10th of October, with a list of their stock, and the pedigrees of each, this will facilitate the preparations of entries and in case of imported pedigrees, will afford the owner time to procure the same.

Instructions to Judges.—No animal to receive an award in more than one class.

Judges are expressly required not to award premiums to over-fed animals. No premium is to be awarded to bulls, or any animal which shall appear to have been fattened, only to show of fat cattle, the object of the Society being to have superior animals of the useful kinds for breeding.

Fat Cattle.—The Judges on fat cattle will pay particular attention as to the animals submitted for examination. It is believed all other things being equal that those are the best cattle that will weigh the greatest weight over the smallest space of ground. The judges will require all in this class to be weighed, and will take measures to give the weight of each, and publish the result in their reports. They will also, before examining any premiums, require of the competitors a statement as to the manner and cost of feeding, as required by the regulations of the premium list.

When there is but one exhibitor, who may show several animals in one class the full premium will be awarded, that to the most worthy, as the merits of the animal may be judged.

The superintendent will take every precaution in his power, for the safety of stock and articles on exhibition after their arrival, and assistance on the grounds, but will not be responsible for any loss or damage that may occur. The Society desires exhibitors to give personal attention to their animals and articles during the fair to attend to their removal at the close of the fair to attend to their return. The Society cannot take further care of them.

Rules of Plowing.—The name of the plowman must be given as well as the kind of plow and team used, at the time of entry.

The quantity of ground to be plowed by each team to be ¼ acre.

The time allowed to do the work will be three hours. The furrow slice in all cases to be uniform. The teams to start at the same time. No plowman to do his work without a driver or other assistance.

The premiums offered by the Society will be awarded to the individuals, who, in the judgment of the committee, shall do their work in the best manner, provided the work is done in the time allowed for its performance.

Each plowman to strike his own land and plow entirely independent of the adjoining lands. Within the one-fourth of an acre plowed each plowman will be required to strike two lands, to throw two lands, and finish with the dead furrow in the middle.

Any information desired in regard to the Society can be gained by addressing the Executive Committee or the Secretary, who will be pleased to give any information in their power at any time.

Any article not enumerated in the above classes, and placed upon exhibition, if worthy of notice, will be suitably rewarded.

The Executive Committee reserves a discretionary power to award Diplomas in any case for best articles, or for articles not entitled to premiums by the rules.

Three Judges for each class will be appointed and announced before or on the first day of the fair.

All articles may be entered free of charge, excepting horses for pleasure, and for the trotting premiums.
