The Naval expedition which left Fortress Monroe on Monday, 26th ultimo, on secret service, under command of Major-General Butler and Commodore Stringham, has achieved a splendid success...

got in and raised the stars and stripes. The place was too hot for the men, but the flag was left waving...

When the firing ceased the fort was occupied in force and held afterwards.

The Monticello had proceeded ahead of the land force to protect them, and had reached the Inlet when a large fort on an oyster shape...

At the same instant she got aground, and stuck fast, the enemy pouring in a fire, hot and heavy...

The escape of the vessel crew was miraculous. Until this time we supposed the day was ours...

As we lay close in shore we saw the bright bivouac fires on the beach, with groups of men about them.

At early daybreak on Thursday the men went to quarters in the fleet, and at a quarter past eight, the vessels having borne down nearer than the previous day's position...

At twenty-five minutes past ten the Harriet Lane opened fire, and soon after Cumberland came in from the offing and joined in the attack.

The fire was so hot that all the enemy that could do so got into a bomb-proof in the middle of the battery.

Finally, at five minutes past eleven A. M., an 11 inch shell having pierced the bomb-proof through a ventilator and exploded inside near the magazine...

Preparations were immediately made to land the troops the following morning, at which time the transports ran near the beach...

Your correspondent was on board at the time she got ashore. Fortunately no lives were lost, though several boats going to her assistance were swamped.

Gen. Butler and aid came by special train to the city to-night, and immediately called on the Secretaries of Navy and War.

Official Report of Gen. Butler.

UNITED STATES FLAG SHIP MINNESOTA, August 31, 1861.

GENERAL.—Agreeable to your orders, I embarked on the transport steamer Adelaide and George Peabody five hundred of the Twentieth Regiment New York Volunteers...

Owing to the previous prevalence of south west gales a heavy surf was breaking on the beach. Every effort was made to land the troops...

It was impracticable to land more troops because of the rising wind and sea. Fortunately a twelve pound rifled boat gun loaned us by the flag ship...

We were induced to desert any further attempts at landing troops by the rising of the wind, and because in the meantime the fleet had opened fire upon the nearest fort...

The Harriet Lane Captain Faunce, by my direction, tried to cross the bar to get in the smooth water of the inlet...

It had become necessary, owing to the threatening appearance of the weather, that all the ships should make an offing, which was done with reluctance...

At eight o'clock the fleet opened fire again, the flagship being anchored as near as the water allowed...

I then went with the Fanny over the bar into the inlet. At the same time the troops under Colonel Weber marched up the beach...

As the Fanny rounded in over the bar, the rebel steamer Winslow went up the channel having a large number of rebel troops on board...

Fanny, but she proved to be out of range. I then sent Lieutenant Crosby on shore to demand the meaning of the white flag...
