WISHERS.

How many sick ones
Wish they were healthy;
How many beggar men Wish they were wealthy;

How many ugly ones
Wish they were pretty;
How many stupid ones
Wish they were witty;

How many bachelors
Wish they were married;
How many Benedictines Wish they had tarried;

Single or double,
Life's full of trouble;
Riches are stubble, Pleasure's a bubble.

Varieties.

Good temper is like a sunny day, it sheds a brightness over everything; it is the sweetener of toil, and the soother of disquietude.

A gardiner is described as being requested to set his master's watch by his sun-dial, when he forthwith planted it in the ground close to it.

Why don't you limit yourself? said a physician to an interperate person; "set down a stake that you will go so far and no farther."
"So I do," said the toper; "but set it so far off that I always get tipsy before I get to it."

The following advertisement appeared in one of the city dailies:—
"Wanted—A situation as son-in-law some respectable family. No objections to going a short distance in the country. For the reference and particulars, address Frank Stuart, Post Office, Williamsburg, N.Y."

Trouble in the Episcopal Church—The Baltimore News Sheet publishes a resolution, which is to be offered in the Episcopal Convention, arranging Bishop Whittingham for inviting the Tyngs and Beechers of the North, and for favoring those engaged in the slaughter and subjugation of the people of Maryland.

A letter from the McLean Regiment says: "To day the Col. ordered an inspection of some hard bread, or army crackers, to be made, which resulted in condemning forty-six barrels out of fifty. The crackers we eat are stamped '1810,' and the boys say they have seen several marked 'B. C.'

A priest of Milan, Italy, was much struck with the repentant air of a young, elegantly dressed man. The other day, and gave him absolution.
He soon afterwards found that he had lost his valuable repentant. The penitent was an eminent pickpocket; and the worst of all in the eyes of the priest is that he sent the scamp away fully absolved, so that as a matter of conscience he could not appear against him.

An old lady, who was unacquainted military terms, asserted in a company of gentlemen that her son was an officer in the army. "What is his rank, madam?" "I don't recollect," said she,
"but the word ends with 'al.'" "You must mean a gene-ral, madam?" "No, that is not the word." "Perhaps a corporal?" said another. "No, sir."
"Well, madam, perhaps it is a second-ral?" "Yes, yes, that is it," cried she, eagerly.

A young man who was about being married presented himself to the priest for confession. He appeared rather embarrassed, and did not seem to know how to proceed to enumerate his errors.

"Come, said the father, kindly, did you ever tell a falsehood?"
"I am not a lawyer," replied the young man.

"Did you ever steal?"
"I am not a merchant," again spoke the young man.

"You surely have not committed murder?"

The young man's eyes were cast down, his color came and went and his whole appearance was unlike that of a doomed criminal. The young man raised his down cast eyes, and looked the priest in the face and with a trembling voice said, "I am a doctor."

"Father," said a young hopeful, the other day, "How many fowls are here on this table?" "Why, said the gentleman, as he looked placidly on a pair of nicely-roasted chickens that were smoking on the table, "there are two. "Two?" replied the smart boy, "there are three, sir, and I'll prove it." "Three!" replied the old gentleman, who was a plain, matter-of-fact man, "I'd like to see you prove it." "Easily done, easily done. Is not that one?" said the smart boy, laying his knife on the first, "and that two?" pointing to the second, "and do not one and two make three?"
"Really," said the father, turning to his wife, who was stupefied at the immense learning of her son, "really, this boy is a genius, and deserves to be encouraged," and then to show that there's fun in old folks as well as young ones, he added, "Wife, do you take one bowl, and I'll take the second, and and John may have the third for his learning."

The Christian's Surety.

"Simon, Simon, Satan hath desired to winnow you as wheat"—here is the believer's toil—"but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not;" this is our safety. No man's condition is so sure as ours. The prayer of Christ is more than sufficient both to strengthen us, be we ever so weak; and to overthrow all adversary power, be it ever so strong and potent. This prayer must not exclude our labor; their thoughts are vain who think that their watching can preserve the city which God himself is not willing to keep. And are not they as vain who think that God will keep the city for which they themselves are not careful to watch? The husbandman may not, therefore, burn his plough, nor the merchant forsake his trade, because God hath promised, "I will not forsake thee." And do the promises of God concerning our stability, think you, make it a matter indifferent for us to use, or not to use, the means whereby to attend, on reading? To pray, or not to pray, that we fall not into temptation? Surely, if we look to stand in the faith of the sons of God, we must hourly, continually, be providing and setting ourselves to strive.
It was not the meaning of our Lord and Savior, in saying, "Father, keep them in thy name," that we should be careless to keep ourselves. To our own sedulity required.—Hooker.

Not long after the general peace, in 1815, when all classes of English travellers, learned and unlearned, polished and unpolished, flocked to the continent in search of the classical and picturesque, one of those pilgrims met a companion sitting in a state of most woful despair, and apparently near the last agonies, by the side of one of mountain lakes of Switzerland. With great anxiety he enquired the cause of his suffering. "Oh," said the latter, "I was very hot and thirsty, and took a large draught of the clear water of the lake, and then sat down on this stone to consult my guide-book.
To my astonishment I found that the water of this lake is very poisonous! Oh I am a gone man!—I feel it running all over me! I have only a few minutes to live! remember me to —'" "Let me see the guide-book," said his friend. Turning to the passage he found "L'eau du lac est bien poisonneuse."—"The water of the lake abounds in fish," is that the meaning of it?" "Certainly," "I never was better," said the dying man, leaping up with a countenance radiant as the sun on a fine May morning. Then extending his arm in the true long-bow style—"There's a mouse!" he exclaimed, and cut a series of capers over the grass that would have done honor to a Vestris. "What would have become of you," said his friend, "if I had not met you?" "I should have died of imperfect knowledge of the French language."

TAKING A MAN TO PIECES.—Captain Evans was an old naval veteran, of sixty-seven; he had lost an arm and an eye before the battle of Navarino, which last action unsettled his understanding. Both legs being carried off by a chain shot,— Cork legs were coming into fashion; Capt Evans had a pair of the first quality made for him; he could sew a fork or hook, as occasion required, and being grieved, the deficiency was not easily perceived. As increasing years rendered him infirm, his valets took advantage of him, so that he voted to his brother, a Somersetshire squire, to send him up some tenant's son as a body servant.

"No matter how stupid, if honest and faithful," he wrote.

His brother was absent, and sent his steward to select a lad. This the steward did, but merely mentioned that Captain Evans was infirm, not applying the humor of his master's deficiencies, and sent him to London at once, where the Capt. lived.

At ten at night he arrived and was immediately shown to Captain Evans's sitting room.

"What is your name?"
" My name be John, zur."

"Well, John, my rascally valet is absent again, without leave; help me to bed, as it is late; then you can go down to your supper."

Adjourning to the bed-room, the old gentleman said:

"John unscrow my leg."

"Zur," said John.

"Unscrow my leg; this way, see." John did so.

"John, unscrow my other leg."

"Zur," said John.

"Unscrow the other leg, sir!"

John did so, now in a state of bewilderment.

"John, unscrow this arm."

Trembling still more, to the captain's great amusement, he obeyed.

"John, put this eye on the table."

John took hold of it as though it would have bit'n him.

"Now John—no, I won't take the other eye out—lift me into bed."

"This don't, the waggish captain continued.

"John, beat up the pillow; it is not comfortable."

It was done.

"Beat it up again, it is quite hard."

John again shook the pillow.

"That won't do; John, I can't get my head comfortable. John, unscrow my head!"

"No, by thunder, I'll unscrow no more." John fled from the room to the kitchen, swearing his master was the devil, taking himself to pieces like a clock.

CELIXIR PROPYLAMINE

The New Remedy for RHEUMATISM.

During the past year we have introduced to the notice of the medical profession of this country the Pure Crystallized Chloride of Propylamine.

REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM; and having received from many sources, both from physicians of the highest standing and from patients, the Most flattering Testimonials of its real value in the treatment of this painful and obstinate disease, we are induced to present it to the public in a form READY FOR IMMEDIATE USE, which we hope will commend itself to those who are suffering with this afflictive complaint.

ELIXIR PROPYLAMINE, in the form above spoken of, has recently been extensively experimented with in the

PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL, and with MARKED SUCCESS (as will appear from the published accounts in the medical Journals)

It is carefully put up ready for immediate use, with full directions, and can be obtained from all the druggists at 75 cents per bottle, and at wholesale of BULLOCK & CRENSHAW, Druggists and Manufacturing Chemists, Jesse's Alley, Philadelphia.

MARRIAGE GUIDE.—Being a private Instructor for married persons or those about to be married, both male and female, in everything concerning the physiology and relations of our sexual system, and the production or prevention of offspring, including all the new discoveries never before given in the English language by W. W. JENKINS, M. D. This is really a valuable and interesting work. It is written in plain language for the general reader, and is illustrated with numerous engravings. All young married people, or those contemplating marriage, and having the least impediment to married life, should read this book. It discloses secrets that every one should be acquainted with, still it is a book that must be locked up, and not lie about the house. It will be sent to any one on receipt of twenty five cents, in specie or postage stamps.

Address Dr. W. W. JENKINS, No. 416 Spruce st., above Fourth, Philadelphia, Pa.

The time has come when all who will, can escape the iron grasp of Mercury, by endeavoring to use the well known and justly celebrated Eclectic European Physician, Dr. Bort, who will administer those only true and safe medicines, extracted from the most choice roots and herbs, which are prepared under his own supervision, and therefore avoid the use of all MISERABLE POIS-ONS, which were never designed for the system, to take which many thousands have fallen victims and gone to early graves.

THINGS TO BE REMEMBERED.
Remember that Dr. Bort wants no patients but those fully capable of appreciating and distinguishing the services of a regular thorough bred physician, from a paltry, unlearned and trifling quack.

Remember, Dr. Bort's remedies and treatment are entirely unknown to all others in this country; prepared from a life spent in the great hospitals of Europe and the first in the country.

Remember, that Dr. Bort has a more extended practice than any other physician in Western Pennsylvania.

Remember, that citizens of education, and our popular men, are all well acquainted with, and take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Bort to the afflicted.

Remember, that Dr. Bort makes no false representations to gull the unfortunate, but all he says will be faithfully carried out.

Remember, that Dr. Bort pays every attention to diseases of a chronic nature.

Remember, that Dr. Bort is furnished with over six thousand letters of recommendation from some of the most distinguished men living. Also has awarded to him diplomas from some of the most celebrated Hospitals and Infirmarys in Europe, for his unparalleled observations in Diagnosis, and observations in the medical progress of the cure of diseases that have heretofore baffled the skill of many of the medical profession.

An early call from those wishing to consult the Doctor, is earnestly requested, so as to receive full benefit of treatment, and thus do justice to himself. Time limited.

Please bear in mind when Dr. Bort will be in your place. Persons desirous of consulting him will confer a great favor by calling on the first day of his arrival, as his rooms are so often crowded it is utterly impossible to attend to the anxious solicitations of all. Dr. Bort will arrive at each of the above places on the first coach on the day appointed.

Please extend the invitation to all invalid acquaintances, and oblige yours, &c.

Sarsaparilla

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

And for the speedy cure of the following complaints: Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, Eruptions, Tetter, Itch, Ringworm, Eruptions, Pimples, Parasitic Affections, Blains, and all Skin Diseases.

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U.S.A.
Having inherited a hereditary taint, I have been afflicted in various ways for years. Sometimes I suffered from eruptions on my face, and at other times from itching humors on my arms and legs.
I have tried many different remedies, but without success. I have been told that Sarsaparilla would cure me, and I have tried it, and it has cured me. I have been told that it would cure me, and I have tried it, and it has cured me. I have been told that it would cure me, and I have tried it, and it has cured me.

Dr. Robert M. Peble writes from Salem, Sept. 1850, that he has cured an inveterate Scrofula, which threatened to terminate fatally, by the use of your Sarsaparilla, and also a Malignant Erysipelas by large doses of the same.
He cures the common Eruptions by it constantly.

Dr. J. H. Clark writes from Lowell, Mass., that he has cured a Scrofulous Affection, and also a Malignant Erysipelas by large doses of your Sarsaparilla, and also a
