Clearfield Republican.

D. W. MOORE, G. R. GOODLANDER, } Editors

PRINCIPLES, not MEN.

TERMS—$1 00 per Annum, if paid in advance

VOL. XXXIII.—WHOLE NO. 1731 CLEARFIELD, PA WEDNESDAY, NOV. 5, 1862. NEW SERIES—VOL. III.—NO 15

HORSE CONTRACT DEVELOPMENTS

"OLD ABE" BEATING A RETREAT.

Simon's Finger in the Pie

There is a Major McKinstry, Brigadier General and Quartermaster, now on trial by court martial in St. Louis. The evidence in the case—an inquiry of a Mr. Lamb into corruption and spicy, inasmuch as the President of the United States, amid all his cares and anxieties for the preservation of the Union, had time to listen to stories of doing something handsome for a friend in Illinois. It will be seen, too, that Simon Cameron was about. The gentleman he seeks interestedly desired to serve, because of "the patriotism of Illinois," was a brother of Simon's son, residing in Harrisburg; and the other individual, Mr. Young, lived in Middletown, the seat of honest Simon Lincoln. After the perusal of this chapter, the reader is of course, in this State will have an appetite for something hot to the [illegible]

We understand that the lady is a sister of Mrs. Lincoln.

Q. And you personally are acquainted with the President of the United States?

A. I am.

Q. How long have you been acquainted with him?

A. For many years.

Q. Are you acquainted with his handwriting?

A. I am.

Q. Do you know James L. Lamb, of Illinois?

A. I do.

Q. Have you seen James L. Lamb's signature frequently?

A. I have.

Q. Are you acquainted with Major McKinstry's handwriting?

A. I am.

Q. Have you seen James L. Lamb's signature frequently?

A. I have.

Q. Are you acquainted with Major McKinstry's handwriting?

A. I am.

Q. Have you seen Major McKinstry's signature frequently?

A. I have.

Q. Are you acquainted with the handwriting of the President of the United States