

The afternoon Court now in session here is for the disposal of all suits exclusively. It is expected to occupy the greater part of next week.

A NOVEL ENTERPRISE.—Some thirty odd of the most substantial farmers of the Upper end of Lawrence and Pike townships have united together in the purchase of the grist mill from Geo. B. Logan, paying $3500 for it.

Who is there?—Leroi says Mr. Galer took down the "Death to Copperhead" banner himself. Hale, who claims the honor of putting it up, says he took it down himself. We know it is a matter of no importance; but then, "willing witnesses" should always agree in their statements.

Brig. Gen. J. B. STRADMAN, of the army of the Cumberland, arrived in town on Wednesday last. He is the guest of his relative, Judge BARKETT, and is in the vigor of health. Gen. S. performed a brilliant part in the sanguinary battle of Chickamauga, as will be seen by reference to the account of that battle which we published last week.

COLD COMFORT.—A few of our intensely "loyal" citizens, as if fearing that a demonstration alike creditable to our town and its guest would be gotten up, in which all parties could unite, concluded to serenade Gen. Stradman on their own hook—no doubt expecting to hear him denounce Democrats generally and "Copperheads" particularly. Accordingly the fire and drums were called into requisition, and the vast crowd, embracing at least a baker's dozen, repaired to the residence of Judge BARKETT and called for the General, who soon made his appearance. But instead of saying any thing flattering to the disciples of Abolitionism, he delivered a short speech, full of good sense, and just such a speech as a true Union soldier ought to make.

Important Law Suit.

[The defendant in the following suit is personally known to most of our lumbermen in Clearfield and adjoining counties. One firm in our county has been supplying him with the greater portion of his timber for the last fifteen years, and they would bear testimony to the promptness and honesty of Mr. Ripley; and now that a Court of Public Record has decided in favor of his integrity, and would offer him our sincere congratulations. R. W. & Co.]

The suit of Andrew M. Frank and others, against David Ripley, which has been long pending on the United States Circuit Court in Connecticut, was tried this week at New Haven before Judge L. B. Waldo, acting as referee. The plaintiffs were partners in this city from 1847 to 1857. The mill and business were then bought out by Mr. Ripley, and the property of the firm divided. Although the other partners received in net profits $30,000, they claimed that about $45,000 worth of the property had been disposed of by Mr. Ripley for his own use, and after waiting several years they attached a cargo of lumber belonging to him in Connecticut, and compelled him to answer their claim in that State. He removed the case to the U. S. Circuit Court, and the trial began on Monday last. The books of the firm for the whole ten years had been thoroughly examined by competent book-keepers on each side, after several months labor, and the entire transactions of Mr. Ripley were investigated before the referee.

At the end of the third day of the trial and before the defendant had closed his testimony, the counsel for the plaintiffs admitted that their claim had been shown to be entirely without foundation, and abandoned the case; whereupon a decree, was entered in favor of the defendant with costs. This result and especially the manner in which it was reached, will be very gratifying to Mr. Ripley and his friends, but will surprise no one in this community where his character for integrity is so well known. The wonder is that men could be found who would risk so large an outlay in an attempt to prove him guilty of fraudulent conduct. The case was tried by Mr. Crump of New London, and Judge Buel of New Haven, for the plaintiffs, and by L. S. Beach of New Haven and A. Q. Keasby of this city for defendant.—Newark Mercury.

A Soldier's Opinion.

A soldier, writing from Camp Tyler, Baltimore, in speaking of things as they now appear to him, says:

"It seems impossible for us to gain a fight at Bull Run. But it is a little difference, for our victories are of no use to us, nor our defeats any advantage to the enemy. Lee drove us from Chambersville to Gettysburg, where we gained a victory; and we then drove him to Culpepper—held our ground on the Rapidan for three months, and are now again driven within the fortifications of Washington. McClellan drove the rebels through Yorktown and Williamsburg to Richmond; and they drove Banks and Pope into Maryland.—McClellan again drove them from South Mountain and Antietam to the Rappahannock, and in attempting to cross that sanguinary river, the fane of Burnside was forever buried. So you see that victories and defeats are alike disadvantageous to all sides, and so we must look for things to go until we get a change of policy and a new administration."

THE NAKED TRUTH.—Judge Parker, in a speech recently delivered by him at the Cooper Institute, New York, said:

"We complain that the war is not prosecuted to a speedy termination.—We complain that its object and purposes are perverted to partisan ends. A war waged for the single purpose of suppressing the rebellion and restoring the Union would have ended long ago. A war for the extermination of slavery will be interminable."

Every word of this is true, and deserves the serious consideration of the people. If we adopt the Abolition platform that the seceded States are foreign, and must be treated as such—that they must take such laws and adopt such customs as we choose to prescribe for them—that they are to be subjugated and coerced into the adoption of the creed of New England fanatics, and made to conform to Yankee ideas and habits, we may as well make up our minds that the war is to be interminable, for certainly no man now living, perhaps not a child born within the present year, will live to see the end of it. This is not idle speculation, but solid truth, which every intelligent, clear-minded man must at once perceive if he will pay but the slightest attention to the subject. The administration of Abraham Lincoln, without a change of policy, cannot terminate this war and save the Union. It is impossible, and those Republicans who really desire peace and Union, squirm as they may, will find, sooner or later, that there is but one way of obtaining them, and that is by joining the Democratic party, and placing statesmen, instead of fanatics and charlatans, in power.—Until this shall be done the war will last, unless—which we do not expect to see—the Abolition administration shall relinquish its present policy and designs, and adopt the sounder views of those whom it now denounces as rebel sympathizers and traitors.—Harrisburg Patriot and Union.

[From the Cincinnati Enquirer.]

A PROPERTY.—MR CHASE.—In a private letter, written the other day, Mr. Vallandigham says: "I observe that Mr. Chase is making himself merry over my exile and defeat. Well, that is all right too.—But I remember when a few years ago, the name of Salmon P. Chase was the synonym of everything odious and vile; and when he was one of the leaders of a party not numbering in the whole United States one tenth part as many as the votes which I received in Ohio, at the late election, and poor and humble enough to be content with the crumbs which fell from the colored people's table at the Baker street chapel. My friend, Mr. Brooks, remembers, also, when he rescued Mr. Chase from the violence of a mob at Dayton, and led him, all trembling, by the arm to a place of safety. Now, Salmon P. Chase is high in wealth and position, clothed in purple and fine linen, and faring sumptuously every day, while I am the subject of his scoffs as an exile.—But I shall live to see the time when Mr. Chase will be rent to pieces by the whirlwind which he has contributed so much to raise, and made the victim of the very mob before which he now triumphs and exults, as did Belshazzar at his feast, and when 'Uncle Abe's pardon' will be of as little value to save him as one of 'Uncle Abe's vulgar jests'. I may have to watch and wait for the time, but it will come, and I shall then be at home and in honor. Let him and his friends laugh now."

A WORD TO PREACHERS.—Edmund Burke was certainly no enemy of regular government, and just as little was he in-sensible to the influence exerted by the reverend clergy, but he has left no record of the expression of an opinion to the effect that neither the Church nor State is likely to be the gainer by such a confusion of ideas as always ensues from the combination of political and clerical labors. He said:

"Politics and the pulpit are terms that have little agreement. No sound ought to be heard in the church but the healing voice of Christian charity. The cause of civil liberty and civil government gains as little as that of religion by this confusion of duties. Those who quit their proper character to assume what does not belong to them, are, for the greater part ignorant both of the character they leave and the character they assume. Wholly unacquainted with the world in which they are so fond of meddling, and inexperienced in all its affairs, on which they pronounce with so much confidence, they have nothing of politics but the passions they excite."
