Our readers will not look for a paper next week with too much confidence. They do, and there should be another issue in the river, they might be disappointed.

THE NEWS.

The movements around Petersburg last week were of the most important character. The President, Secretary Schward, General Grant, Sherman, Meade, Sheridan, Ord, &c., all met in council at City Point, and on Wednesday Grant's whole army commenced an advance movement.

OFFICIAL GAZETTE.

WASHINGTON, April 2, 11 A. M. The following telegram from the President, dated at 8:30 this morning, gives the latest intelligence from the front. A bloody battle was raging with continued success to the Union arms.

THE LATEST.—By last night's mail we have the official announcement that Richmond was occupied by our forces at 10 o'clock on Monday morning last; that the last of the rebel forces had just evacuated, and that Grant was pushing towards the Danville road to intercept Lee's retreat.

KILLED IN BATTLE.—We are informed that CHARLES HEMPHILL, son of Wm. J. Hemphill, Esq., of Curwensville, was killed in the late battle in front of Petersburg.

We also learn that Jacob Burns, and Smith Howard, (a substitute,) were killed, and Ellis Burns wounded, in the same battle. These were all from this county, and belonged to the 100th Pennsylvania regiment.

ANOTHER FLOOD.—On Saturday last the river at this place wanted but three feet of the great flood a few weeks previous. On Sunday some few rafts were on the move; but on Monday they kept sliding past all day.

HEAVY LOSS.—We learn that the heavy "gorge" of saw logs on Clearfield creek, somewhere above Best's dam, made sad work on last Friday. Nearly every raft, no matter how well secured, was torn loose and carried to destruction.

DIED IN PRISON.—We have been shown a letter from a soldier in front of Petersburg stating that GEORGE DALLAS WELCH, son of the late Wm. C. Welch, Esq., of this place, died (of "starvation," as the letter says,) in the military prison at Salisbury, N. C., on the 6th of February last.

REMOVED.—The post-office in this place has been removed to No. 3, Shaw's row; or, we might say, to the north side of the mud hole on Market street.

WEEDEN'S SICKLES, Esq., the able editor of the York Dispatch, [Pa.] Democrat, publishes the following in his issue of 30th of October, 1861:

When our only child, now in his third year, was about eight months old, a sore appeared first in small pimples on his forehead over his nose. These rapidly increased and formed a loathsome, violent sore, which finally spread over his forehead and face, not even excepting his eyes, which became so swollen that his eyes were closed.

Everything having failed, we were induced by the high recommendation of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, for the cure of Scrofulous disease, to give it a trial. In his treatise on Scrofula, Dr. Ayer directs a mild solution of Iodine of Potash to be used as a wash while taking the Sarsaparilla, and it was faithfully applied.

Before one bottle of Sarsaparilla had been given the sore had lost much of its virulence and commenced to heal. Another bottle effected an entire cure, and the general prediction that the child must die was contradicted. His eyelashes which came out, grew again, and his face is left without a scar, as smooth as anybody's.

NO FAILURE.—An Abolition sheet asks 'The Urbana Union' if it considers the war a failure? The editor responds: 'Is the war a failure? Not entirely. You have made three thousand millions of debt—destroyed two thousand millions of property in slaves—four thousand millions in dwellings and farm improvements—made eight hundred sky-rocket banks—not a court of justice in any Southern State, and where Federal Courts are pretended to exist, at the North they are not trusted with trial of offences, made such by Congress. Oh, no—no failure—the success is conclusively grand and outstrips the wildest dream of desolation. Failure avant!'.

MISSOURI IS IN A BAD WAY. The authority of the Federal Government has been upheld by Provost Marshals, that of the rebels by bands of guerrillas. Between the two, the people of that State have been bound between the upper and nether millstone. What was once a fair and flourishing State is now, for the most part, a desert—the abode of beasts of prey in human forms. This is one of the ineffable charms of civil war. To kites, vultures, cormorants, and jacals it is a rare god-send.

A great fall in the price of produce and store goods has taken place in the eastern cities.

The Charleston correspondent of the New York Tribune proposes a mode of governing South Carolina and the Southern States generally after they have been conquered, so that the Abolition party may be retained in power. There would be a bare possibility of the success of his plan if a standing army of half a million of men can be kept in the occupations of the country during the life time of two generations. He says: 'Let it be understood that the State cannot return to the Union until her loyalty is not only undoubted, but beyond suspicion; let the ruins be sold for taxes, and the abandoned residences be confiscated; let thoroughly anti-slavery men alone be put or retained in command here, and South Carolina, in a very few years, will be as true and as national in her opinions and deeds as Kansas or Massachusetts. But if the opposite policy prevail, the coffin of the Abolition party will have one more plank made out of the Palmetto. I repeat (and I will prove my assertion at any length when the right time comes), that, as a class, the best of the white Unionists here would be regarded as the worst of Copperheads in the Northern States, and that unless we encourage and invite a large emigration, and enfranchise the negro we will have trouble with the State again.'

RICH CASE.—A singular case has just come to light in Boston. One Johnson, a staff officer in the United States service, stole $13,000 in government bonds, and forwarded them to his mother at South Boston for safe keeping. A daughter-in-law of the mother got wind of the money, and stole it from the old lady, who had placed it between the bed and mattress on which she slept. Officers of the law here stepped in, and the money was found at last in the breast pads of the last thief. Quite a number of this interesting family have been arrested, and the case is expected to develop rich things.

The members of the State Legislature, at their late session, voted themselves $1,000 salary. Their proceedings lasted less than three months and at the sum fixed upon for this period their wages would amount to over $4,000 a year. The salaries of Congressmen are only $3,000 per annum, so it will be seen that our State legislators fix a higher estimate for their services than the members of the Federal Legislature. A very wise, modest, pure, patriotic and economical set of fellows that.

WHY THREAD IS DEAR.—In the good old times, before the days of prohibitory tariffs, the price of a spool of cotton was as low in this country as in England. "Cents" were sold at four cents a spool. Notwithstanding the advance in cotton, the retail price in England is still two pence (2d.) a spool for the best threads or only four cents in American coin. Making due allowance for the rise in exchange a spool of thread would not cost us more than nine cents, if it were not for the excessive tariff. The other six cents which we pay when we give fifteen for an American thread, is the profit of our spinners.

THE FREAKS OF MILITARY LAW.—Daniel Flanigan, the editor of a Democratic journal in Warren county, Ohio, has recently been arrested, tried, convicted, and sent to Fort Delaware for six months, on a charge of publishing articles "discouraging volunteer enlistments." The monstrosity of this proceeding will be appreciated, when it is known that the article in question was copied from a journal of N. Y. city whose editor was tried before a court-martial for its publication and acquitted.—Buffalo Courier.
