

TYRONE CAT TIME, on and after April 1st, 1866, trains on the Pennsylvania Rail Road, will stop at Tyrone, as follows:

LEAVING EASTWARD. Leaving Westward. Philadelphia Express, 8:35 Baltimore Express, 7:15 Philadelphia Express, 10:37 Philadelphia Express, 8:20 Day Express, 8:31 Fast Line, P. M., 9:01 Way Passenger, 6:45 Mail Train, P. M., 7:15

The Stock holders of the Sandy Lick Rail Road, hold an election for Directors on the 28th inst. See notice.

DEAD.—We have been informed that James Curley, of Karthaus tp, died at Oil City, last week.

THE REPUBLIC.—This is the title of a new daily paper, to be started shortly in Pittsburgh, by Messrs. Kennedy & Sawyer, to support the policy of President Johnson.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS.—We call the attention of Directors, Teachers and the friends of education, to the advertisement of the County Superintendent elect—Mr. Snyder—in another column, in reference to opening a Normal School. The Directors, Resolved to do something, at their late meeting, and we hope they will not go back on themselves; but take hold of the machine and help move it along.

The card of a new law firm appears in our columns this week. As the names of the parties are familiar to our readers, we deem it unnecessary to enlarge, either upon its legal or numerical strength, as customers will always find some one at the office to take them in.

AGENTS WANTED.—We call the attention of our readers, to the advertisement of Messrs. Shaw & Clark, in another column of this issue. They are the great, improved, cheap Sewing Machine manufacturers, and want agents to sell them.

Mr. Gaulin has a proclamation in this issue of our paper, that is of vital importance to those who are in want of the things he desires to dispose of, at a slight advance. Read what he says, and then call and see him. He is always ready for a "dicker."

TO CONTRACTORS.—Those in want of a contract, will find it to their interest to read the notice in another column, given by the Building Committee of the Presbyterian Church, who it seems are determined to erect a new Stone building, on the ground where the old antediluvian structure now stands, on the corner of Second and Pine streets.

FIRE.—We understand that the dwelling house on the turpike, occupied by Mrs. Spackman, was consumed by fire on Friday last. The fire caught from a defective flue. The neighbors succeeded in saving nearly all the household goods.

The celebrated Congressman and Banker—Culver,—was again arrested at Franklin, last week, for "trover and conversion," and held in $23,000 bail for his appearance at Court.

CONFESSION.—Probst who murdered the Dearing family in Philadelphia last month, has confessed to killing the whole family, without any assistance from any one. He is to be hung on Friday the 8th day of June next.

Edwin Forrest, the tragedian has arrived in California, and is playing at the San Francisco Theatre. Five hundred dollars in gold was paid for the first-class choice of seats on the occasion of his first appearance.

CONFIRMED.—We are pleased to learn, that the Senate has confirmed the appointment of Gen. Knipe, as Post Master at Harrisburg, who takes the place of that Hessian Mule contractor, and stay-at-home loyalist, George Bergner. The General will, no doubt, make a capital officer.

The Toledo Blade, in referring to the decapitations of office-holders by the President because of the non-support of his policy, quotes these lines for the benefit of office-holders in that locality, and they will apply to them in this locality, too:

"Hark from the East a doleful sound, Let Pubs attend the cry, Ye living men come view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

REMOVAL OF THE DEAD.—The remains of Maj. Thomas H. Clay, of Kentucky, who died in Atlanta, in 1864, were disinterred on Friday last and forwarded to Kentucky. Major Clay was a confederate officer, a son of Colonel Clay of Mexican fame, and a grandson of Henry Clay. His remains are to be interred beside his father in the State Cemetery at Frankfort.

The Constitutional Amendments.

The Washington Correspondent of the Age, thus describes the scene in the Rump House, on the 10th inst., while the amendments to the Constitution were under consideration in that body.

"The plan of the so-called Reconstruction Committee for obstructing the restoration of the Union went through the House this afternoon by a strict party vote—128 to 37. Even Mr. Raymond, of New York, voted for it. Several prominent Republicans, Blaine, Bingham, Farnsworth, and others wanted it amended by striking out the section disfranchising the white men of the South until after 1870, but the Radicals following the lead of Mr. Stevens would not allow it to be altered. So the entire programme was adopted. When Mr. Raymond voted there was considerable applause among the Republicans, both on the floor and in the galleries, and it was some minutes before order was restored. The call then proceeded, and when the result was announced the scene over the final passage of the Civil Rights bill was re-enacted. Loud applause mingled with clapping of hands went up from the floor and galleries, especially the colored gallery, which was well filled (as usual) with representatives of the Freedmen's Bureau. Mr. Eldridge, of Wisconsin, rose to a point of order and directed the attention of the Speaker to the violation of the rules of the House by persons in the galleries. He was greeted by a storm of hisses from the negroes in the gallery, which seemed to please the Republican members exceedingly. It is understood that the bills which accompanied the constitutional amendment will not be acted upon by the House until the fate of the amendment is settled by the action of the Senate. It is confidently asserted today that it cannot receive the requisite vote (two-thirds) in that body."

Fruits of Patent Philanthropy. The mortality among the Blacks of the South, seemingly in corroboration of the statement of the fearful mortality among freedmen since emancipation which lately was announced by Judge Sharkey, of Mississippi and caused a murmur of incredulous surprise to run throughout the North, we have the figures of the provost marshal general of the armies of the United States to show us how destructive has been the war amongst enlisted blacks. The testimony thus borne shows how vastly disproportionate have been the ravages of disease among colored troops compared with the white soldiers, though the latter were in so much greater degree subjected to the rigors of active campaigning and marches. The reports tell us that while 2,997 colored soldiers were killed in battle or died from wounds received in action, the enormously large number of 26,801 were swept away by disease; and in his analysis, the provost marshal general says, among the white troops the proportion of deaths in action and from wounds to the deaths from disease is about one to two; among the colored troops as one to eight. About one hundred and eighty thousand colored men were enlisted in the army during the war, of whom accordingly nearly one out of every seven died of disease. The general proportion among white troops is one to fifteen. It may be assumed that where one colored soldier died of disease, at least five others were seriously sick, so that a very large proportion of the colored troops must have been constantly upon the sick list. There need be little surprise, then at the statement of Judge Sharkey, in his evidence before the reconstruction committee, that there were now in Mississippi very little over one half as many freedmen as there formerly were slaves. He said there was no way of estimating the mortality that prevailed among them; they died in immense numbers. The mortality among the colored people of the South, especially along the Mississippi river, during the past five years, is well known. In 1860 there were 436,000 negroes in Mississippi, and by Judge Sharkey's statement more than 200,000 of them must have died. This statement is deplorable, and indicates how desirable it is that the full relations of peace and industry should be re-established in the South as speedily as possible. The moral and physical condition and future prosperity of the blacks will be improved immensely if the politicians will but withdraw their hands from intermeddling with the affairs of both races in that section. Humanity demands that this be done.

JEFF DAVIS.—The President has no doubt intimated his purpose to release Jefferson Davis on parole, as neither Congress nor the United States Supreme Court will take any means for trial. He has taken care that his position on the subject should be understood. It cannot be doubted that the President will soon follow up his peace proclamation with an extension of amnesty to some classes heretofore excepted from it. He has conferred with Gen. Grant and Mr. Seward on this subject. They are believed to favor this policy.

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY.—The Secretary of War announces, in general court martial orders, that the sentence of death in the case of one hundred and seventy-three Santee Sioux Indian prisoners has been remitted by the President.
