Brutal Treatment of Sisters of Charity by John W. Geary.

John W. Geary, with his narrow intellect and bigoted nature, we have no doubt, made a most acceptable member of that infamous political organization which proscribed men on account of their birth or religious belief.

One of the most intelligent, wealthy and respectable citizens of Frederick, Maryland, sends us the following statement of an occurrence, which shows in its true light the bigoted and tyrannical character of the vain upstart who is the Radical candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania.

To the EDITORS OF THE INTELLIGENCER.—Dear Sirs:—It occurs to me that justice demands that the rude and brutal manner in which some Sisters of Charity were treated by John W. Geary, should be known, in order that the Catholic citizens of Pennsylvania may understand the character and the spirit of the man who appeals to them for support at the coming gubernatorial election.

In the fall of 1861, under protection of a pass from General Scott, some four or five Sisters of Charity left the St. Joseph's House at Emmitsburg on their mission to nurse the sick and wounded soldiers of both armies. They had permission to visit any point along the line of contest from Winchester to Richmond, as their services might be needed.

In vain did she explain fully the charitable character of her holy mission; in vain did she exhibit the general unresisted pass given her by the Commander-in-Chief at Washington, authorizing her to go, with her associates, wherever their holy mission might call them, or wherever they might be needed to nurse the wounded, console the dying; in vain did she beg to be allowed to proceed as several parties of Sisters had been allowed to do unmolested before, over the same route; in vain did she speak of the crying wants of the wounded, the sick, the dying soldiers of the Union army, to relieve and succor whom was a great part her mission; in vain did she assure this petty tyrant (Geary) that she had nursed the sick and wounded soldiers of all parties in the Crimean war, without molestation or hindrance, receiving from Turk and Russian no less courtesy and kindness than she did from Frenchmen and Englishmen; in vain did she protest with tearful entreaties against such usage in her native land, after having traveled on a similar mission all over Europe unmolested. John W. Geary, a bigot by nature and a petty tyrant in his position, thrust her and her companions into the cars and sent them back to Frederick City, on their way to the House of St. Joseph, from which they came.

The Surgeon General at Frederick, a high-toned gentleman, and a native of Philadelphia, hearing of the manner in which the Sisters of Charity had been treated by Geary, and fearing the damaging effect which such brutal conduct would have upon the many thousands of Catholic soldiers who were fighting in the front ranks of the army, at once dispatched an orderly to General Banks, at headquarters near Poolsville, with a letter containing a statement of the conduct of General Geary, which letter will be found officially recorded on the books of the medical Director. The Adjutant after riding all night, returned to Frederick with an imperative order, commanding General Geary to escort in person and place safely on the southern side of the Potomac the said Sisters of Charity, and to give to them every assistance to aid them in the discharge of their sacred mission of mercy. With what grace he could after his brutal conduct, Geary did escort them beyond the Potomac, after having endeavored to set himself up as superior to the commander-in-chief.

Any soldier who was under Geary at Point of Rocks at the time alluded to will remember his treatment of these Sisters of Charity. He will not dare to deny one word of the above statement. If he should, the Medical Director and the Sisters will testify to the entire truthfulness of what is here written.

The facts have been furnished in the shape in which they appear, as we have stated, by one of the wealthiest, most intelligent and honorable men in the city of Frederick. They show what a mean and miserable bigot John W. Geary is. We hope our contemporaries will give the statement a wide circulation.—Lancaster Intelligencer.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY

The times are hard; you'd like to know How you may save your Dollars; The way to do it I will show, If you will read what follows.

A man who lived not far from here, Who worked hard at his trade; But had a household to support, That squandered all he made,

I met him once, says he, "my friend, I look thrice hard at my trade; I've tried to get myself a suit, But can't save up enough."

Says I, my friend, how much have you? 'Til tell you where to go, To get a suit that's good and cheap— At REIZENSTEIN'S and Co.

He took what little he had saved, And went to Reizenstein & Brothers And there he got a handsome suit, For half he paid to others.

Now he is home, he looks so well; He gladsly tells me, That when they take their daily meals, They don't eat half so much.

And now he ends on Saturday night With all the good he wants supplied; That he has money left to spend, And some to lay aside.

His good success, with cheerful smile, He gladly tells me all; If you'd save Money, go and buy, Your clothes at Reizenstein Clothing Hall.

Where the cheapest, good, and best Clothing and good furnishing goods can be had to an every taste and in every style. April 11, 1866-4t.
