An Assassin Wanted.

Modern loyalists and the negroes have almost consummated that which their grandifathers and the Indians falled to establish on this continent a century ago—a Despotism, instead of civil and religious liberty! We have irreligion and a multiplicity of erimes; enough to disgrace any half civilized country. Where peace, union and concord once dwelt, we have strife, disunion and discord. Those who preached liberty and union most vehemently, have robbed us of both. Those who denounced assassination as the wickedest of all crimes, less than two years ago, now advertise for hands. Those who denounced "border rufflings halfot boxes" and treating elections.
