All violent passions are evil, or, in other words, produce or tend to produce unhappiness; for evil and unhappiness are only mutable terms.

It your righteousness does not exeved the righteousness of the good moral folks about you, why are you better than they? If you have noth- the old stand in Graham's new building, which ing better than your neighbor has, who is not a Christian, why should he try to be a Christian? Why should produce. he come to your ground, unless your's is higher than his.

It was only a single sentence that fell upon the ears of the servant in your tongue." It was but a word, a Qil Cloths. brief sentence, yet it proved a word of salvation to the person to whom it was addressed.

We cannot be too bold in affirmanot mistake the person in whom we graphic Albums, Pipes. Tobacco and Segars most unconsciously from Jesus to Notion line. ourselves. We are but branches, which must certainly and speedily which flows from the vine.

You see the shadow of the heavens in a lake. But the heavens that look out of that placed water do not seem All of the best quality, and selected with special very deep; the shadow of heaven is shallow because the heaven shadowed there is low. But when the low clouds have all passed away, look down then into the lake and tell what sight you see; the heaven shadowed in the waters is deep, like eternity

It speaketh somewhat, when our Lord bloweth the blossom off our insane hopes in this life, and loppeth the branches of our worldly joys nigh the root, on purpose that they should not thrive. Lord, ruin my fool's heaven in this life, that I may be saved forever. A forfeiture of the saints' part of the yolk and marrow of short, laughing, worldly happiness, is not such a real evil as our blinded eyes conceive.

Nothing is so sweet as those saintly voices that speak to us of God; nothing is so beautiful as what God inspires. Romances make on me the impression of gunpowder; they burn, blacken, rend the heart; religious works en lighten, sustain, nourish it. Good books are the manna of the people of God, the celestial food of sonls on their journey to beaven; let us gather it up.

The best rule to determine the good or evil in amusements is this. Whatever makes the body healthier and the mind purer and better is a whole some recreation. But whatever stimulates the passions and feeds a dangerous appetite should be let alone. This is a safe rule for a Chrisian parent to adopt in deciding on the character of the entertainments for his fireside. The parent is the pastor of the "church in the house." Don't be a drone. You may rely upon your present possessions or on your future prospects, but those riches may fly away, or hopes may be blighted; and if you have no place of own, in such case, ten to one, you will find your path beset by thorns. Want may come upon you before you are aware of it; and, having no profession, you will find yourself in any thing but an enviable position. It is therefore, important that you should be zamething. Don't depend upon fortune, for she is a fielde support, which often fails when you lean upon her with great confidence. Trust to your own exertions.

It may be beautiful to sour, but looking into one's heart is very use ul. One discovers what is going on within, a knowledge indispensable to Now is your Time to Call and Examine, our spiritual progress—indispensable while he is placing on his shelves a full assert to salvation. Is this not of much better worth than costacles and transports, than a piety of the imagination, which rises as in a balloon, to touch the stars, and then collapsing, falls back to earth? There is an ideal side in de votion which has its dangers, which fills the fancy with beaven, angels, scraphic thoughts, without infusing any solid principle into the heart, or turning to the love of God and the practice of his law.

Discontent is the spring of action and the life of progress. The conten-ted man, satisfied with what he has and what he is, makes no acquisitions or attainments. He is master of the art of standing still. Hold on, is his motto; keeping quiet is his religion; things as they are, his heaven. The discontented man keers everything in motion. He watches, explores, mines, scales, tears down and builds. He makes a railroad, a steamship, a telegraph, sinks a mine and bores for oil; invents a cotton-gin and a sewingmachine; covers the world with the THE LAST ARRIVAL footprints of his activity and genius as he pioneers civilization and creates

HOW TO SAVE MONEY.

THE times are hard; you'd like to know

How you may save your dollars; The way to do it I will show, If you will road what follows.

A man who lived not far from here,

I met him once. Suys he, "My friend, I look thread bear and rough; I've tried to get myself a suit, But can't save up enough,"

Says I, my friend, how much have you?

o get a suit that's sound and cheap : To BEIZENSTEIN & Co.

He took what little he had eaved, And went to Rejecustein & Brothers', And there he got a handsome suit, For half he paid to others.

That when they take their dally meal, They don't ext half as much.

And now he finds on Saturday night, With all their wants supplied. That he has money left to spend, And some to lay aside.
