If you are going to love Christ you things of everyday life.

but "I will come" is His intention. Oil Cloths. Expect him till he comes.

The man that is right with God and Their Stock of Fancy Goods is Unexhis fellow men can scarcely help being a gentleman. All Lord Chesterfield's letters boiled down wouldn't make Embracing Notions, Searfs, Head-nets, Nack as much of a gentleman as that.

Morality without religion is only a kind of dead-reckoning—an endeav-or to find our place on a cloudy sea by measuring the distance we have to run without any observation of the heavenly bodies.

The Christian life is not an engage ment by contract between a master and his servant. It is the union of two hearts—that of the Saviour with two hearts—that of the Saviour with regard to the trade of Clearfield country. that of the saved-by the enduring ties of the most intimate love.

The last, best fruit that comes to late perfection, even in the kindliest soul is the tenderness toward the hard, forbearance toward the unforbearing, warmth of heart toward the cold, philanthropy toward the misanthropic.

He that unduly fears man, cannot truly fear God; and he that lives much in the fear of God will not re gard overmuch what man can do with him; the want of faith is the root of all fear which becomes less and less. as faith gathers strength and increases in the soul.

"Why do you show favor to your enemies instead of destroying them?" said a chieftain to the Emperor Sigis mud. "Do I not destroy my enemies by making them my friends?" was the Emperor's noble reply. Kindness is the best weapon with which to beat an adversary.

I would rather make stockings all my life long than useless verses. When one thinks of the account we shall have to render to God of all our actions, all our hours, one may well be careful as to the use made of them. Life is so short to gain heaven in, that each lost moment deserves tears.

'Tis not in study on contemplation of nature, not in many things nor in anything created, that the soul can find consolation; but in God, in God alone, in his word, in the divine Scrip-tures, in a faithful and believing life. Ah, who is there that, kneeling down with his heart full of tears, does not rise comforted?

What swimmer is there, who, if he saw a fellow being drowning in deep water, would not plunge in and save him; or what man if he saw one cal ling from the window of a house enveloped in flames, would not peril his own life to save him. But it is infinitely more to save a fellow being TWENTY PER CENT. LOWER THAN from a moral death.

I have no objection to the most ex-tended and free discussions upon doctrinal points of the Christian religion; and, though the law of England does not permit it, I do not dread the reasoning of Deista against the existence of Christianity itself, because, as was the public that he is determined to sell all kinds said by its divine author, if it be of of Goods CHEAPER than the CHEAPEST, in said by its divine author, if it be of God it will stand.

Happiness is a state of discipline only to be found in any considscrable degree of perfection and per-manency (without which qualities while he is placing on his shelves a full ass it is unworthy of the name) in a regulated and harmonious mind, where Dry Goods, religion is the charioteer, and reins, and guides, and moderates the mental Queensware, courses in the great journey of life.

One whom we miss changes the world completely; no longer any charm, no longer any happiness here, and then we think of heaven. Thus it is that affliction leads to God. Let us bless him for having ordered our griefs as means of our salvation; this is making us like Jesus Christ, who Christianity is the most perfect kind of knowledge; it must essential ly produce the most perfect kind of happiness. It is the golden, everiasearth; the ladder that appeared to patriarch in his dream, when he beheld Jehovah at its top, and the angels of God ascending and descending with messages of grace to mankind.

God weighs your troubles in scales and measures out your affections, every drachm and scruple of them; and since they come therefore directly from a loving father's hand, accept them with grateful cheerfulness, and for us to state that pray that the result which Divine We have Everything that is Needed Wisdom has ordained to flow from them, may be abundantly realized and consumed in this markst, and at prices that in your sanctification, in being made des20 JOSEPH SHAW 4 SON.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY.

THE times are hard; you'd like to know How you may save your dollars; The way to do it I will show, If you will read what follows. A man who lived not far from here, Who worked hard at his trade, But had a household to support That squandered all he made.

I met him once. Says he, "My friend, I look thread bear and rough; I've tried to get myself a unit, But can't sare up enough."

Says I, my friend, how much have you? I'll tell you where to go To get a suit that's sound and cheap: To BRIZENSTEIN & Co. He took what little he had saved, And went to Reisenstein & Brothers', And there he got a handsome suit, For half he paid to others.

Now he is home, he looks so well, And their effect is such, That when they take their daily meal, They don't eat half as much.
