AN ACT declaratory of the law relating to taking up lumber, and prohibiting the floating of loose saw logs in the Susquehanna river, between the town of Northumberland and the line of the State of Maryland.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, &c., That it is hereby declared to be the true intent and meaning of the first section of the act, entitled "An Act to regulate the taking up of lumber in the rivers Susquehanna and Lehigh, and their branches," approved the twentieth day of March, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and twelve, that any saw logs may be taken up, under the provisions of said section, whether the same be put into the said stream intentionally, or otherwise, and whether the same be floated intentionally, or otherwise, the true intent and meaning thereof being, that no saw logs may be floated, or driven, therein, unless rafted, and under the pilotage and control of men, and that all saw logs, not so rafted, and under the pilotage and control of men, shall and may be taken up, under the provisions thereof; Provided, That this section shall only apply to the Susquehanna river, between the town of Northumberland and the line of the State of Maryland; and the person, or persons, taking up any of said saw logs, so floated, shall be entitled to receive, from the owners thereof, fifty cents for each log, before delivering up the same.

SECTION 2. It shall not be lawful for any person, or persons, company, or companies, corporation, or corporations, to float, or direct and authorize to be floated, down the Susquehanna river, between the town of Northumberland and the line of the State of Maryland, any saw log, without the same being rafted and joined together, or enclosed in boats, and under the control, supervision and pilotage of men, specially placed in charge of the same, and actually thereon; and any person, or persons, may take up the said saw logs, or any of them, if they be found floating loose in said stream, and not under the personal charge of some one upon the same, and shall have the right to hold and possess the same, against all persons whatsoever; Provided, That if the owner, or owners, of said saw logs, or their agents, shall appear and demand the same from the captor, or captors, and shall and do pay therefor, to the said captor, or captors, fifty cents for each saw log, so taken up, within two months from the date of their being so taken up, it shall be the duty of the captor, or captors, to deliver over said logs to the owner, or owners; but if no such owner, or his, or their, agents, shall appear within said time, and pay, or offer to pay, to the said captor, or captors, the said salvage money, the said saw logs shall be absolutely forfeited to, and become the property of, the said captor, or captors; And provided further, That this act shall not apply to saw logs now lying in the said stream, nor in any case in which, by reason of high water, or from any other casualty, said saw logs may be swept out of the West Branch and Susquehanna booms.

SECTION 3. All laws and parts of laws, inconsistent with the provisions of this act, shall be and the same are hereby repealed.

AN ACT regulating the width of schutes in the Susquehanna river.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the owners of all dams, whether individuals, or corporations, which are now, or may be hereafter, erected in the Susquehanna river, from the mouth of Sandy run, on the West Branch, in Clearfield county, to Marietta, in Lancaster county, shall be required to make the schutes in said dams, at least sixty feet wide, thus enabling the safe transmission of rafts and lumber.

SECTION 2. That all individuals, or corporations, who shall refuse, for a period of three months after the passage of this act, to comply with the provisions of section one of the same, shall be liable for all damages sustained, either to person, or property, caused by their refusal so to comply; the damages aforesaid to be sued for and collected as other debts are now, by law, recoverable; and in all actions brought for damages, received at any of said dams, proof of failure to comply with the provisions of the first section of this act, shall be conclusive evidence that such damages were caused thereby.

JAMES R. KELLEY, Speaker of the House of Representatives. DAVID FLEMING, Speaker of the Senate.

APPROVED—The seventh day of January, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven.

ANDREW G. CURTIN, Speaker of the House of Representatives. DAVID FLEMING, Speaker of the Senate.

A PRAYER FOR LANDLORDS.—The following prayer was formerly in a book of private devotions used in England before the accession of Queen Mary.

On account of the strong temptations to demand exorbitant rates, an exchange thinks the prayer should be received and adopted once more into the churches:

"The earth is thine, O Lord, and all that is contained therein; notwithstanding thou hast given possession thereof to the children of men to pass over the time of their short pilgrimage in this vale of tears. We heartily pray thee to send the Holy Spirit into the hearts of those that possess the grounds, pastures and dwelling places on the earth, that they, remembering themselves to be thy tenants, may not rack and stretch out their houses and lands, nor yet take unreasonable fines and incomes after the manner of covetous worldlings, but so let them out to others that the inhabitants thereof may be able both to pay the rent, and also live honestly, to nourish their family, and to relieve the poor. Give them grace to consider that they are but strangers and pilgrims in this world, having here no dwelling place, but seeking one to come; that they, remembering the short continuance of life, may be content with that which is sufficient, and not join house to house, nor couple land to land to the impoverishment of others, but so behave themselves in letting out their tenements, lands and pastures, that after this life they may be received into an everlasting dwelling place, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.—A capital story is told of a young fellow who one Sunday strolled into a village church, and during the service was electrified and gratified by the sparkling of a pair of eyes which were riveted upon his face. After the service he saw the possessor of the shining orbs leave the church alone, and emboldened by her glances, he ventured to follow her, his heart aching with rapture. He saw her look behind, and fancied she evinced some emotion at recognizing him. He then quickened his pace, and she actually slackened her's as if to let him come up with her—but will permit the young gentleman to tell the rest in his own way: "Noble young creature!" thought I, "her artless and warm heart is superior to the bond of custom. I had reached within a stone's throw of her. She suddenly halted and turned her face toward me. My heart swelled to bursting. I reached the spot where she stood; she began to speak, and I took off my hat as if doing reverence to an angel. "Are you a peddler?" she asked. "No, my dear girl, that is not my occupation." "Well, I don't know," continued she, not very bashfully, and eyeing me very sternly, "I thought when I saw you in the meeting house that you looked like a peddler who passed off a powder half dollar on me three weeks ago, and so I determined to keep an eye on you. Brother John has got home now, and says if he catches the fellow he'll bring his nook for him; and I ain't sure but you're the good for nothing rascal, after all."

A BEAUTIFUL SENTIMENT.—Shortly before the departure of the lamented Hober for India, he preached a sermon which contained this beautiful illustration:

"Life bears us on like the stream of a mighty river. Our boat at first glides down the mighty channel—through the playful murmurings of the little brook and the windings of its grassy borders. The trees shed their blossoms over our young heads; flowers seem to offer themselves to our young hands; we are happy in hope, and grasp eagerly at the beauties around us, but the stream hurries on, and still our hands are empty. Of course in youth and manhood is along a deeper and wider flood, among objects more striking and magnificent. We are animated at the moving pictures and enjoyment and industry all around us; we are excited at some short-lived disappointment. The stream bears us on, and our joys and griefs are alike left behind us. We may be shipwrecked, but we cannot be delayed; whether rough or smooth, the river hastens on till the roar of the ocean is in our ears, and the tossing of the waves is beneath our feet, and the foods are leaved up around us, and we take our leave of earth and its inhabitants, until our future voyage there is no witness save the Infinite and Eternal."

THE NEWSPAPER.—Take the most thorough man of the world of your acquaintance—the man most perfectly versed in what goes on in all conditions and ranks of life—and I ask you what he would be without his newspaper? By what possible machinery could he learn, as he sits at his breakfast, the late news from China, of the last ballet at Paris the state of the funds at San Francisco, the winner at Newmarket, the pantomime at the Olympic, and the encyclical of the Pope?

Without my newspaper, life would narrow itself to the small units of my personal experience, and humanity be compressed into the ten or fifteen people I meet with.

As for the advertisements, I regard them as the mirror of the age. Show me but one page of the "wants" of any country, and I engage myself to give a sketch of the current civilization of the period. What glimpses of those interiors do we gain by those brief paragraphs. How full of suggestions they are!

Precarious style of life—dwelling in other people's memory.

WANTS TO BE A SON-IN-LAW.—During the summer of 1864, while the hospitals in Richmond were crowded with wounded, the ladies of the city visited them daily, carrying with them delicacies of every kind, and vied with each other to comfort and cheer up the wounded. On one occasion a bright eyed dame, of about seventeen summers, was distributing flowers and speaking tender words of encouragement to those around her, when she observed a young officer who was suffering from his wounds exclaim, "O, my Lord!" Approaching timidly, in order to shake his profanity, she said, "I think I heard you call on the name of the Lord. I am one of his daughters. Is there anything I can ask him for you?" Glancing hastily upon her lovely face and perfect form, he replied, "Yes please ask him to make me his son-in-law!"

WENDELL PHILLIPS RAMPAINT.—This gentleman gave one of his characteristic lectures in Boston, on the 24th ult. He called Johnson "a traitor," Seward "a jelly," and "without brains since 1858." Wilson "a trimmer," and Greeley "an ass." He said Grant "had no ideas," and was not even a soldier." In regard to the Presidential election of 1868, he said:—"Whoever took the helm of State in 1868 would decide the fate of this country for the next fifty years. If the Democrats succeeded we would lose two-thirds of the fruits of the war; if the compromising Republicans succeeded we would lose one-half; but if Thaddeus Stevens was elected we would save ninety-nine per cent."

Be it remembered that Phillips is "the brains" of the Republican party.

HOW TO FRESHEN SALT FISH.—Many persons who are in the habit of freshening mackerel or other salt fish, never dreaming that there is a right or a wrong way to do it. Any one who has seen the process of evaporating going on at the salt works knows that salt falls to the bottom. Just so it is in the pan where your mackerel or fish lies smoking. When it lies with the skin side down, the salt will fall to the skin, and remain there; when, if placed with the flesh side down, the salt falls to the bottom of the pan, and the fish comes out freshened as it should be; in the other case it is nearly as salt as when put in.

SCHOOL ACCOUNTS.—There appears to be a general negligence on the part of School Directors to publish the account of the receipts and expenditures of their respective districts as required by the Act of Assembly. The State Superintendent of Common Schools states that this section of the law is as obligatory upon the Board of Directors as is the section requiring them to keep open the schools, and a neglect to perform this duty according to the law will subject Directors to removal by the courts, the same as the neglect of any other duty required by law.

THE ERA OF FRAUD.—The entire fraud, embezzlements, or malfeasance in office of any kind, during the long years of Democratic rule in this State concentrated and then thrice magnified, would be invisible to the naked eye placed side by side with the fraud and corruption being practised this very hour by the Republican loyalists. The entire party has become one pestiferous mass of corruption, and will remain so until fumigated by the people, which we think they will do about next October.

George Francis Train says our modern marriage service should read thus: Clergyman—Will you take this brown stone, this carriage and span, these diamonds, for thy wedded husband? Yes. Will you take unpaid milliner's bill, this high waterfall of foreign hair, these affectation accomplishments and feeble constitution for thy wedded wife? Yes. Then, what man has put together let the next best man run away with, so that the divorce court may tear them asunder.

PRESERVING FURS.—The following for preserving furs will interest our lady readers about now: One ounce gun camphor, and one ounce powdered shell of red pepper, are matorated in eight ounces of strong alcohol for seven days and then strained. With this tincture the furs and clothes are sprinkled over and rolled up in sheets. This remedy is used in Russia, under the name of "Chinese tincture for moths," and is found very effective.

A cotemporary says: "Charles Sumner is one of those vain and insolent beings whose manner constantly says, 'I thank God that I am not like other men.'" And all other decent people ought continually to say, "we thank God that we are not like Charles Sumner." A world peopled wholly with such creatures as Sumner, would be hell itself.

AS GOOD AS WHEAT.—Babies resemble wheat in many respects. Firstly—neither are good for much until they arrive at maturity. Secondly—both are bred in the house, and also the flower of the family. Thirdly—both have to be cradled. Fourthly—both are generally well thrashed before they are done with.

An Ohio paper says there is a man in Cleveland so mean that he sits on the door-steps of the church Sundays to save the wear of his pew cushions.

"Were you ever cross-examined?" "Yes, when questioned by my wife, after spending the evening abroad—cross enough, in all conscience."

Wit and Humor.

"A little nonsense now and then, is relished by the best of men."

The pawnbroker's favorite time of year—the season of Lent.

"Here's to internal improvements," as Dobbs said when he swallowed a dose of salts.

Why does a railway clerk cut a hole in your ticket? To let you pass through.

The last case of jealousy is that of a lady who discarded her lover, a sea captain, because he hugged the shore.

A Russian miser is noticed to have learned to bark, in order to save the expense of keeping a watch dog.

It is stated that the French troops in Mexico will be so delighted when their ships arrive to take them home, that they will unanimously go into transports.

Smith asked Jones what the high price of butter was owing to. "A considerable part of it is owing to my grocer," said Jones, "for it is the two last months since I paid him."

A lady leaving home, was thus addressed by her little boy: "Mamma, will you remember and buy me a penny whistle, and let it be a religious one, so that I can use it on Sunday."

"My dear," said a husband affectionately to his better-half after a squabble, "you'll certainly never be permitted to go to Heaven!" "Why not?" "Because you'll be wanted as tormentor below."

A lady about to marry was warned that her intended, although a good man, was very eccentric. "Well," she said, "if he is very unlike other men, he is more likely to make a good husband."

A cake was given to a Baptist festival in Burlington, Vt., to be given by a vote at ten cents each to the handsomest lady in the room. A "colored" lady got it. Vermont taste.

An excited gentleman at a fire headed a line of fire buckets, and as fast as they were passed to him, he threw buckets and all into the fire, crying out all the while—"Pass on more of them buckets!"

The wife of President Juarez was present at a reception given by Secretary Seward to the diplomatic corps, on Saturday evening. She is said to have attracted as much attention as the Japanese Embassadors.

"My dear young lady," exclaimed a gentleman, "I am astonished at your sentiments. You actually make me start—on my word you do." "Well, sir," replied the damsel, "I've been wanting you to start for the last hour."

Sheridan's father conversing with him on the former glories of the family, remarked that they were once called O'Sheridan.

"I do not think," returned the son, "that we ever had a better right to be called O'Sheridan than at present."

Seventy thousand Germans, it is said have engaged passage by steam to the United States. The new Prussian conscription laws are driving many to our country. They are evidently unaware of the tax conscription going on in this country.

A teacher in Springfield, Massachusetts, while conducting an examination, asked among other questions the following: "Why is the pronoun 'she' applied to a ship?" To which one of the boys rendered the following answer: "Because the rigging costs more than the hull."

A member of a fashionable church in New York, electrified a music-seller some time since by inquiring for "Solomon's Song," saying his minister had spoken of it as a production of great genius, and that he wanted his daughter to sing it. "Brother Shoddy, sure."

A young man out West was entrusted with the money to bring his father home a good family sewing machine. He carried off a neighbor's daughter to Chicago, married her and brought her home, declaring that she was the best family sewing machine he could procure.

GOOD TOAST FOR THE TIMES.—The following toast was given at a late public meeting: "The Times—they require more sowing—more hoeing—more mowing—less importing—more exporting—less consumption—more redemption, and less suspension of specie paying."

Mr. Jones met Mr. Smith, as he was going on board a steamer on the Mississippi, and asked: "Which way, up or down, Smith?" "That depends on circumstances," "If I get a berth over the boiler, I shall probably go up—if in the cabin, down." We have not heard from him since.

Wiggins was one day with a friend when he observed a poor dog that had been killed, lying in the gutter. Wiggins paused, gazed at the dead animal, and at last said: "Here is another shipwreck." "Shipwreck! Where?" "Why here's a bark that's lost forever." His companion growled and passed on.

A great Methodist orator in Dublin once attempted to preach from the text, "Remember Lot's Wife," and made a failure. Afterwards, remarking to Dr. Bond that he did not know the reason of his failure, the venerable doctor replied that "he had better hereafter let other people's wives alone."
