Keep up the habit of being respec-ted, and do not attempt to be more amusing and agreeable than is consistent with the preservation of respect.

Some one has sweetly said of those who die young, that they are like the Alpine lambs which shepherds bear in their arms to higher and greener pastures, that the flocks may follow them.

Find fault when you must find tault, in private, if possible, and some time after the offence rather than at the time. The blamed are less inclined to resist when they are blamed without witnesses.

When you meet with neglect let it arouse you to exertion; instead of accurately strended to. [may15-y mortifying your pride, set about lessening those defects which expose you to neglect, and improve those excellencies which command attention and respect.

While ten men watch for chances, one makes chances; and while ten wait for something to turn up, one turns something up; so, while ten fail, one succeeds and is called a man of Juck or favorite of fortune. There is no luck like pluck, and fortune most favors those who are most indifferent to fortune.

Christian. To be a mere nominal Christian, and go to church, is cheap in Christ, and confess Christ, requires much self denial. It will cost us our sins, and our self-righteousness, and our ease, and our worldliness.

An hypocrite comes hardlier to heaven than a gross sinner, and hath far more obstacles. As he that must he stripped is not so soon clothed as he that is naked, and as he climbs not a tree so soon that must first come down from the top of another tree where he is perched, so it is here.

A BRIEF SERMON. - A Rochester clergyman made the following remarks in the pulpit on a Sunday morning.

"I am informed that a lady who attended a funeral in this church last Sunday, lost in this house as she thinks a valuable breastpin. The article is valued at as much as five hundred dollars, it is said. I hope that the latter is not a member of this congregation; and that if any one of you should be the owner of such costly jewelry, it would not be worn when you come to the house of God on the Sabbath, but that all would adorn meek and quiet spirit. If any one has found the lost jewel, they are requested to leave it with the same requested to leave it with the sexton."

WHO MADE ALL THAT?-It is related that when Napoleon Bonaparte was returning to France from the expedition to Egypt, a group of French officers entered into a discussion conpedition to Egypt, a group of French officers entered into a discussion concerning the existence of a God. They were on the deck of the vessel that bore them over the Mediterranean Thoroughly imbued with the infidel and atheistic spirit of the times, they were unanimous in the denial of this truth.

It was at length proposed to ask the opinion of Napoleon on the question, who was standing alone wrapped up in silent thought. On hearing the question, is there a God? he raised his hand and pointing to the starry firmded, "Gent who made all that?"

How to Avoid CALTMNY .- "If any one speaks ill of thee," said Epictetus consider whether he has truth on DRUGS AND MEDICINES, Off Claths. his side, and if so reform thyself, that his censures may not affect thee. When Aximander was told that the very boys laughed at his singing, "Ah said he, "then I must learn to sing better." Plato being told that he had so that none will believe them. Hearing at another time that an intimate friend had spoken detractingly of him, he said: "I am sure he would not do it if he had not some reason This is the surest as well as the noblest way of drawing the sting out of a reproach, and the true method of preparing a man for that great and only relief against the pains of calumny.

Perfect love carries all other feelings with it and in it. And no man and w knows how to be a Christian till he knows how to love Christ with a sense that Christ's love is such as to House and Sign Painter and Paper be enough greater than all his faults and deficiencies to enable him to bear them. I do not need to go back to show how it is that we do not presume upon this love, and sin against We cantot, if we realize it to be a divine outpouring. It is not in human nature to tresspass against goodness such as God's, where it is real-lized. It would reverse the very action of the mind. The two states are A. H. FRANCISCUS & Co. incompatible with each other. Love cannot dishonor love, from reasons HANDFACTURES AND AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF which are fundamental to human nature; and experience shows that no man strives so hard to be free from is MANILA ROPE. imperfections and sins as the man who feels that he is swallowed up in the depths of divine forgiveness and divine love.

He is a poor Christian whose face is only soon, and whose voice is only heard, during times of revival. At such seasons there are, in nearly every Church, spiritual Geysers that indulge in fervid ebullitions, make a great noise, and send up lofty jets of devotion; but straightway they are seen and heard no more. Commend us to the perennial Elims whose "twelve wells of water" invite you every day to plunge in your pitcher. They are fed from, an inexhaustible vein deep down below the reach of parching droughts. The effective Christian is he whose perennial flow of godly words and deeds bespeaks the Academy.
