Let our love be firm; constant and inseparable; not coming and returning, like the tide, but descending like a never failing river, ever running into the ocean of divine excellency, passing on in the channels of duty and a constant obedience, and never ceasing to be what it is till it comes to be what it desires to be; still being a river till it be turned into the sen, and vastness, even the immensity of a blessed eternity.

Are there any poor and wretched and miserable whom we may relieve? Are there any sick and diseased to whom we may minister? Are there any neglected or destitute whom we may instruct or relieve? Are there any living in sin whom we may ad-monish? Are there any who have forsaken the ordinances of God's worship whom we may reclaim? Are there any who have not yet heard of a Saviour's name, to whom we may communicate the knowledge of His

The cattle could not plant the grass, nor cause it to grow. Though they can do nothing in the matter, yet he does it all for them; he causeth the grass to grow. You who are as help-less as exen to help yourselves, who can only stand and moan out your misery, but know not what to do, God can prevent you in his loving kindness, and favor you in his tenderness. Now let the bleatings of your prayer go up to heaven, let the moanings of your desires go up to him, guilty ones, and help shall come to you though you cannot help yourselves.

As I turned over this text in my nind, to catch the various gleams of light which glance from it as from a prism, I thought, "How many are those blades of grass?" Set a child to count them even in one acre, and how long the task will occupy; and yet each one of those blades God makes to grow as much as if there were not another in all the field. So with all the myriads of God's people—he proserves each child as if he had no other.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY.

THE times are hard; you'd like to know How you may save your dollars; The way to do it I will show, If you will read what follows.

A man who lived not für from here, Who worked hard at his trade, But had a household to support That squandered all he made. I net him once. Says he, "My friend, I look thread bear and rough;

I've tried to get my self a suit,
But can't save up chough."
Sape I, my friend, how much have you?
I'll tell you where to go
To get a suit that's sound and cheap:
To REIZENSTEIN & Co.

He took what little he had saved,

And went to Reisenstein & Brothers', And there he got a handsome suit, For half he paid to others. Now he is home, he looks so well, And their effect is such. That when they take their daily meal, They den't eat half as much.

And now he finds on Saturday night, With all their wants supplied, That he has money left to spend,

And some to lay aside. His good success, with absorbal smile, gladly tells to all, on'd save meany, go and buy my clothes at—
