

The Doomed Woman. In accordance with the decision of the Court and the warrant furnished him by the Governor, Sheriff Faust, on Wednesday last, at about one o'clock, visited the extreme penalty of the law upon the person of Lena Miller, by hanging her by the neck, within the jail yard, until she was dead!

Those of our subscribers who feel like paying something on subscription in the shape of turkey, can do so at any time previous to Thanksgiving or the Holidays. After that time we may have plenty of beef and pork on hand, and they might be compelled to winter their turkeys.

CHANGED.—The adjourned court, for the trial of civil causes, which was to have been held on the 3d Monday of this month, has been postponed (on account of the weather, we presume, or something else), until the 4th Monday (23d) of December next. The Sheriff requests us to state that those Jurors drawn for November term need not attend.

DESPERATE CONFLICT WITH A MURDERER.—Some time last spring an old lady named Elizabeth McDonald was coolly and deliberately murdered in her own house, in Washington township, Jefferson county, Pa., and robbed of $1,000 in gold and some other money and valuables. The crime was committed by two desperate villains, one of whom was arrested soon after, tried, convicted and hung. Before he was hung he said that W. D. Graves was his partner in guilt. The officers of the law have ever since been on his track. The other day he was found in a school house, at Cedar Springs, Michigan. The officer entered, and called on him to surrender, which he seemingly did. He laid his pistol down in order to iron him, when the man seized it and pointed it at the officer. The latter thereupon drew another revolver. The two remained a moment aiming at each other, when Graves turned and ran for the woods. The officer fired several times, but did not hurt him. He was finally overtaken, when a bloody and desperate fight took place. The man fought with clubs, stones, and anything he could command, and until he was completely covered with blood, and so perfectly bruised and cut to pieces by the officer that he could no longer make a show of resistance. Finally, when taken and ironed, he begged the officer to shoot him, or give him a pistol that he might end his own life, knowing, as he did, that if it was not ended then it would be in a few months hence on a scaffold in Pennsylvania.

The Boston Post is responsible for this.—At a printer's festival recently held in Lowell, Massachusetts, the following toast was presented: "The printer.—The master of all trades—he beats the farmer with his hoe, the carpenter with his rules, and the mason with setting up tall columns; he surpasses the lawyer and doctor in attending to his cases, and beats the person in the management of the 'devil'."

Hon. John H. Hubbard, Democratic Congressman from Connecticut, has purchased the house that was to be occupied by Senator Sumner, in Washington.—Exchange.

The honorable Senator need not break up house-keeping because his wife has followed a Baron to Europe. Why don't he follow the example of the "great commoner"—Stevens—get a lovely negro wench to do his chores?

All the mutilated National Bank notes sent to the office of the Comptroller of the Currency for destruction and exchange for new notes, should be in packages of $500, and should, in all cases, be cancelled before sending by cutting out the signatures, otherwise the notes will be returned at the expense of the bank for cancellation.

Hon. S. S. Cox obtained his name of Sunset Cox from his writing a very extravagant sophomoric article in the Ohio Statesman (Columbus), entitled "Grand old Sunset," while acting as the editor of that journal. One of the Cincinnati journalists gave him the sobriquet, and it has stuck to S. S. C. ever since.
