The proud mantle on this continent. The proud mantle of professional fame so long enjoyed by the world-renowned firm of Quirk, Gammon & Snap, now descends to grace the shoulders of the recentlyestablished but highly successful legal and moral partnership above alluded to. That they are equal to the emergency, seems to be amply attested by a late number of the Pittsburg Commercial, in which the achievements of at least two of the firm (O'Meara and Copperhead persecution. This was ceived the following communication head lines and notes of exclamation, together with the pleasant details by which they succeeded in diddling both the political parties out of their greenbacks. The "untutored" Irish, of whom one of the firm seems to have been the keeper, were incontinently sold to another member of the firm, (who loves them excessively,) and eighty-five dollars were honestly made. the firm, it became his high duty to Having voted them in the interest of expose fraud and protect the purity of the ballot-box, (1) and straightway he proclaims that he must have $2,000, or he would go to Harrisburg. But greenbacks being scarce, and Senator Wallace refusing to pay more than $100 per month, (sensible man as he was,) he turns around and takes $500 of John J.
