The Devil's Visit to Washington.

The Devil sat on his sniphur throne, And heard, with hitter grin. Reports from the planet be deems his own, As blace subs brought them in. The Feman scare in Great Britain pleased

The Prints seem in Great Instant passes.
His optical temper well;
And the news from Brazil and Paraguay,
Prom Hayit, Peru, and Sheal Bay,
Not forgetting the late Chinese affray,
Rather tickled the King of Hell.

But when his scouts of this "Happy Land" Dolivered their dark report. The Demon waved in the smoke his hand,

And gave a triumphant soort.

"This news," he yelled, "is the best I've heard.
Since sin on the earth began;
The work I favor goes bravely on.
The model Republic is dead and gone,
And the powers that govern at Washington.
Have adopted my patent plan."

Then, turning to Moloch, His Darkness said,
"I'm off for the Ten mile Square;
Rule thou, old boy, in thy master's stead,
While I see to business there."
The blackamore courtiers, one and all,
Appleauded their chief like mad;
So he obsured his shape, as the Devil can,
And up to the earth on a fire-streak can,

Of the lovely gentus Rad.

Of course, his Blackness was well received
By his troop of special friends.

Who laid before him the plans conceived
To compass their private ends.
Thad. Storens, Summer, and Old Box Wade,
Ned Stanfors and Butler, too,
They told him of dodges, plots and schemes,
Atrocious beyond his foulest dreams.
Until he exciained, "For me it seems
There is nothing on earth to do." So he turned on his beel and went his way,

A sadder, a wiser sprite,

Observing, "A lesson I've learned to-day,
That has changed my purpose quite.

I meant to have had these fellows' souls,
When from earthly lands set free,
But new I prefer they should go it alone,
In a separate private bell of their own, For I swear by my horns, and tail, and throne,
They're a little too much for the."

Democratic Almanac. HIS invaluable publication is for sale at this office. It should be in the hands of every Democrat. It contains full election returns from every county in the United States; besides, the number for 1866 contains a complete list of the names of all the newspapers suppressed and mobbed during Lincoln's administration; and that for 1867 contains the names of all those civilians who were imprisoned during the same period. These two lists, for future reference, are worth more than the price of the publication. The number for 1868 is also full of valuable statistics. Any one sending as sixty cents, will receive by return mail a copy for each year, free of postage.
