A REAL DESPOTISM .- Now that the revolutionary Rump are usurping all the powers of the government, and tism, the warning words of the Father of our country, George Washington, in his "Farewell Address," recur to the minds of all lovers of liberty and haters of tyranny, and tell heav ily against the political party that has violoted his tomb. We quote:

"It is important, libration, that the habits of thinking in a free country should inspire caution, in those entrusted with its administration, to confine the insertice within their respective constitutional spherus, avoiding, in the exercise of the powers of one department, in encround upon moders.
