JUSTICES' & CONSTABLES' FEES.

Dr. Hills publishes a notice, in which toothache subjects may find some consolation.

Moving Along.—The new Bridge Company, it will be noticed, invite proposals for the erection of their piers.

We know something, and some we don't know. We know that Impeachment was a failure, but we don't know why Joseph Shaw & Son sell their shoes so cheap.

PER AHEAD.—The little folks, and many big ones, will no doubt be pleased to learn that they will have an opportunity of visiting Gardner & Kenyon's Circus, which will exhibit in this place on Thursday, the 11th inst.

How ill white hairs become a fool and jester, said Henry IV. How ill, indeed, they become any one when "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative" occasionally applied will keep the hair as fresh and glossy in old age as in youth.

NORMAL SCHOOL.—We learn that this institution is in a flourishing condition, a large number of teachers being in attendance.

THE THREE BENS WITH AN F.—Three of the most prominent and illustrious lights in the Radical party write their Christian names Benjamin F., viz: Benjamin F. Butler, chief manager in the impeachment plot.

Benjamin F. Rice, carpet-bag Senator from Arkansas. He stole $5,000 of a client's money in Kentucky, gambled it off and ran away in the night.

Benjamin F. Wade, President of the Senate, and Professor of cursing and swearing. He voted to make himself President of the United States.

What a lovely trio of Bens to be sure. Your Benjamin Franklin! It's lucky for him that he did not live to see his name so disgraced.

Within the past six weeks the deaths of three of their missionaries have been reported to the American Board: Dr. Lord of the Madura mission, on a visit to New York; Mr. Johnson, for twenty-one years a devoted missionary at the Sandwich Islands, while on a visit to the Micronesia Islands; and Mrs. Barnum, of the Eastern Turkey mission.

These were all of them experienced and valuable laborers in their respective fields and their loss will be severely felt.

The Philadelphia Gazette says: But from the country generally the demand for houses and places of business in Philadelphia far exceeds the foreign demand.

Every day brings its supply of people from some section anxious to settle here, to obtain a home or a place of business. In these ways a great deal of money is thrown into our market for real estate purposes, and the home movement is surging at a rate to find the state of prices and rents exorbitantly high because they can be obtained easily.

POOR OLD WADE was shamefully treated by his Radical friends. After they had got him to disgrace himself by voting to convict the President, they said to him through their Convention, as Cromwell said to the Long Parliament when he dispersed it with his troops, "Get you gone—the Lord has done with you!"

The best joke of the season is the fact of the pure and incorruptible Ben. Butler, upon the part of the impeachers, heading an investigation to see whether any money was ever taken by Senators for improper considerations.

George W. Andrews, guardian of Mary H. Jenks and Anna H. Jenks, minor heirs of D. B. Jenks, deceased, vs. A. K. Wright et al. Ejectment. Verdict for plaintiff, judgment not to be entered until points reserved by the Court are disposed of.

John Carille vs. Brady School District. Summons in assumpsit. Verdict for plaintiff for $111.61.

Wm. S. Sneyly vs. Geoffrey Fisher. Summons in debt. Verdict for plaintiff for $210.81.

A. R. Butterbaugh vs. Wm. Wagoner. Appeal from Justice. Judgment confirmed.

Sarah Brooks vs. David Horn—Verdict for plaintiff for premises.

George Natchez vs. Jacob Wilcox et al. Ejectment. Verdict for plaintiff, judgment not to be entered until points reserved by the Court are disposed of.

Money for the President

In regard to the interesting reports given in Washington, correspondence of the testimony by Mr. Ralph Newton, a broker of New York, and Mr. Samuel Ward, of the same city, before the impeachment managers, who are pretending to inquire into corrupt influences upon the votes of Senators in the trial of the President, we find some further accounts of statements made by these witnesses in the correspondence of the World, as follows:

Some thirty-six telegrams which Mr. Newton had sent from this city over different lines were in possession of Butler, who coolly proceeded to question them as to their import. Mr. Newton, who was, of course, examined with a view to prove that he had been influencing the votes of Senators for acquittal, testified that he knew no Senators except those who were very radical, and he knew nothing about money being paid to any Senator.

In response to the question whether he was aware that money had been raised for the President, he responded in the affirmative. There had been subscribed in New York, he said, $100,000 for the President in case of conviction, and $50,000 to defray expenses of his trial in case of acquittal.

This money was in the hands of a highly respectable citizen in New York, Mr. William G. Appleton. He finally got through with his evidence, which amounted to nothing that Butler seemed to expect that it would amount to.

The trial of John H. Sarratt has again been postponed. After the judicial murder of his brother, these people at Washington seem to have some qualms of conscience on the subject of sending another to their list of victims.

The missiles which John A. Logan hurled were buried at his own hand, when he was on his way to Chicago, are supposed to have been merely the "kick in his hat."

A witty democrat says the elder eath was taken up first on Scriptural ground as the impeachers hoped that a dead Green would leave the whole
