O, say can you see, since the war's deadly tilight, Our time-horsered flag without sailly regretting The fate of a propie who sold their birthright, And behold may the sun of their liberty setting? And the fax we now pay (near two millions per day) Gives proof that fainstice and syrants bear away; While the Size-Spangied Banner in meckery waves O'er bond-helding tyrants and tax-ridden slaves.

The States all United in friendly communion;
But now they behold from our Union of old
Many States strickes out and by "niggres" controlled,
While the Star-Spangled Banner deridingly waves
O'er a country destroyed by fanatics and knaves,

O, what would our sires who for liberty bled, Think to see their homes sunk in such vile degradation?

The South ruled with bayonets, powder and lead,
And the North under bonds of most galling taxation?

Could they rest in their graver while their children are slaves
To those shoulder-strepped tyrants and bondholding knaves?

While the Star-Spangled Banner doth muntingly O'er these war-blighted realms of liberty's grave.

O'er the had of the free and the home of the brave. COL-AND-GRANT-FAX SONG,

BY GRANT-PERE. Arn-"Father, Come Home."

O, Hiram Ulysess, come back to your dad,
For the clock on the steeple strikes two;
Impeachment's "gone up" and Ben Wade is stark And he swears it's all over with you;

And he swears it's all over with you?
The Chicago Convention will help you no more,
The Methodist Conference won't pray;
There's the ugliest news from the Oregon shore,
And in short there's the d—ickens to pay.
Come home! Come home!
Sweet Hiram Diysses, come home:

Old Brownlow is going to Red Sulphur Springs,
And Stanton can't "cisk" any more;
Old Thad, in despair to his dasky bride clings,
While Summer, the sunuch, feels sore;
Ben Butter is stealing a lock on his spoons,
The bendholders quake for their gold:
The bands have stopped playing "these foil old tames."

And I fear, sweet Hiranf, you're sold. Come home, &c.

I've a horse in the circus for you and Col-fox—
"Tis the horse that you rode in the South;
The monkey stands ready to less on your backs,
And there's whickey to pour in your mouth.
So Hiram, excet Riram, don't feel very bad
When you learn that my tidings are true;
You're better at home with cigars and your dad,
For the White House ain't waiting far you.
Come home! Come home!
Sweet Hiram Ulysses, come home.

Public Sale.

Will be sold at public sale in the general Bonded Warehouse, Philadelphia, (separately or as a whole in the party,) on the 15th day of August, to the best bidder, the leader of the Radical party, known as the "great Commoner," the "old man eloquent," the "host in himself," but in Lancaster county as Thad Stevens, the party having no further use for him for the following reasons:

After having refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good. After having dissolved representative houses repeatedly for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on on short notice. the rights of the people and refusing to permit others to be elected after obstructing the administration of justice, by refusing to assent to laws for establishing Judiciary powers.

After having made Judges depend-

After having kept among them in After rendering the military independent of, and superior to the civil

After protecting them by a mock trial and punishment for any murder they should commit on the inhabitants of these States.

After imposing taxes on the people without their consent. After depriving them in many cases of the benefit of trial by jury.

After abolishing the free system of English law in a neighboring province and establishing therein an arbitrary and establishing therein an arbitrary government.

abolishing their most valuable laws and altering fundamentally the forms of their governments.

and declaring ourselves invested with power to legislate for them in all cases THOMAS H. FORCEE. whatsoever.

After using the general government for the sole benefit of what he calls bloated bond holders, ever since the war, and taxing the labering man to perpetuate and enlarge this necessary aristocracy, he has on his own responsibility, without our advice or consent, through his vanity or vault-ing ambition, dared to "go back" on this glorious record, and attempt to compel us to work like other people, for our luxuries, or consent to live like the common people and dogs. If we keep him in our party longer he might even go so far as to attempt to je25-ly tax us for our property as we now do the common people, and check us in our anticipations of creating in a few years a bunded aristocracy that has never been equalled for wealth or power since the creation of the world. These are a few of the reasons that have compelled us to dispose of this man who has become a great Commoner for further codurance.
