ragement for Young Men. Numbers of young men are often found all over the constry, who are waiting for something to tare up-waiting for an opportunity is get some casy, sedentary employment, and, perhaps, think the world upchar-itable or measure for not at once at the following instances, and rouse yourselves to duty : Cornelius Vanderbilt, one of the richest men in America, who controls the New York Central, Hudson River, and several other Railroads, in fact, the half of the City of New York, was the balf of the City of New Yorz, was a boatman, sloop captain, and steam-boat captain, for nineteen years be-fore he set ap for himself in the busi-ness of building and running steam-boats, in which he gained more money than was ever before gained in a sin-gle life-time, except by plunder. There is not to-day, in the whole world, a a man who knows as much about attempts as this assume Cornelius steamboats as this same Cornelius Vanderbilt.

Astor is another illustration. He learned the fur business from the very rudiments. He used to beat furs from morning till night in his anster's back shop, and after doing this awhile, he used to take a basket of trinkets and nick-aacks, and go around among the sloops and markets, driving hard bar gains with boatmen, Indians and marknown it; he knew it as a man knows the trade to which he has served a long apprenticeship under a watchful and exacting master.

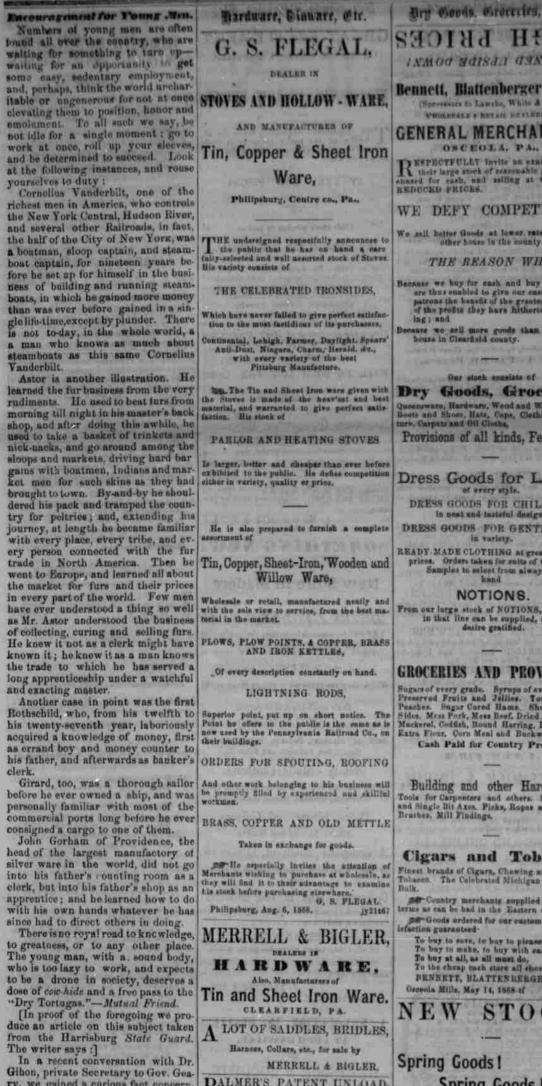

Another case in point was the first Rothschild, who, from his twelfth to clerk.

head of the largest manufactory of silver ware in the world, did not go to greatness, or to any other place
