THE REPUBLICAN.

The Wolf Chase.

During the winter of 1834, being engaged in the northern part of Maine, I had much leisure to devote to the wild sports of a new country. To none of these was I more passionately addicted than that of skating. The deep and sequestered lakes of this Northern State, frozen by intense cold, present a wide field to the lovers of this pastime. Often would I bind on my rusty skates, and glide away up the glittering river, and wind each mazy streamlet that flowed on toward the parent ocean, and feel my pulse bound with joyous exercise. It was during one of these excursions that I met with an adventure, which even at this period of my life I remember with wonder and astonishment.

I had left my friends' house one evening just before dusk, with the intention of skating a short distance up the noble Kennebec, which glided directly before the door. The evening was fine and clear. The new moon peered from her lofty seat, and cast her rays on the frosty pines that skirted the shore, until they seemed the realization of a fairy scene. All nature lay in a quiet which she sometimes chooses to assume; while water, earth and air seemed to have sunken into repose.

I had gone up the river nearly two miles, when coming to a little stream which emptied into the larger, I turned in to explore its course. Fir and hemlock of a century's growth met overhead, and formed an evergreen archway, radiant with frost-work. All was dark within, but I was young and fearless, and as I peered into the unbroken forest that reared itself to the borders of the stream, I laughed in very joyousness. My wild hhrrah rang through the woods, and I stood listening to the echo that reverberated again and again, until it was hushed. Occasionally a night bird would flap its wings from some tall oak.

The mighty lords of the forest stood as if not but time could bow them. I thought how oft the Indian hunter concealed himself behind these very trees—how oft the arrow had pierced the deer by this very stream, and how oft its wild halloo had rung for his victory. I watched the owls as they fluttered by, until I almost fancied myself one of them, and held my breath to listen to their distant hooting. When suddenly a sound arose, it seemed from the very ice beneath my feet. It was loud and tremendous at first, until it ended in one long yell. I was appalled. Never before had such a noise met my ears. I thought it more than mortal—so fierce, and amid such unbroken solitude, that it seemed a fiend from hell had bloan an internal trumpet. Presently I heard the twigs on the shore snap as if from the tread of some animal, and the blood rushed back to my forehead with a bound that made my skin burn, and I felt relieved that I had to contend with things of earthly and not spiritual world, as I first fancied. My energies returned, and I looked around me for some means of defense. The moon shone through the opening by which I had entered the forest, and considering this the best means of escape, I darted towards it like an arrow. 'Twas hardly a hundred yards distant, and the swallow could scarcely excel my desperate flight; yet as I turned my eyes to the shore, I could see two dark objects dashing through the underbrush at a pace nearly double that of my own. By their great speed, and the short yells which they occasionally gave, I knew at once that they were the much dreaded grey wolf.

I had never met these animals, but from the description given of them, I had but little pleasure in making their acquaintance. Their untamable fierceness and the untiring strength which seems to be a part of their nature, render them objects of dread to the benighted traveler.

"With their long gallop, which can tire
The hounds deep bate, the hunter's fire."

they pursue their prey, and nought but death can separate them. The bushes that skirted the shore flew past with the velocity of light as I dashed on in my flight. The outlet was nearly gained; one second more and I would be comparatively safe, when my pursuers appeared on the bank directly above me, which rose to the height of some ten feet. There was no time for thought; I bent my head and dashed wildly forward. The wolves sprang, but miscalculating my speed, sprang behind, while their intended prey glided out into the river.

Nature turned me towards home. The light flakes of snow spun from the iron of my skates, and I was now some distance from my pursuers, when their fierce howl told me that I was again the fugitive. I did not look back—I did not feel sorry nor glad; one thought of the bright, glad faces awaiting my return; of their tears if they should never again see me, and then every energy of mind and body was exerted for my escape. I was perfectly at home on the ice. Many were the days I spent on my skates, never thinking that at one time they would be my only means of safety. Every half minute an alternate yelp from my pursuers made me but too certain that they were close at my heels. Nearer and nearer they came; I heard their feet pattering on the ice, nearer still, until I fancied I could hear their deep breathing. Every nerve and muscle in my frame was stretched to its utmost tension.

The trees along the shore seemed to dance in the uncertain light, and my brain turned with my own breathless speed; yet they seemed to hiss forth with a sound truly horrible, when an involuntary motion on my part turned me out of my course. The wolves close behind, unable to stop, and as unable to turn, slipped, fell, still going on far ahead, their tongues lolling out, their white tusks gleaming from their bloody mouths, their dark shaggy breasts freckled with foam, and as they passed me their eyes glared, and they howled with rage and fury. The thought flashed on my mind that by this means I could avoid them, viz: by turning aside whenever they came too near, for they, by the formation of their feet, are unable to run on ice except on a straight line.

I immediately acted on this plan. The wolves having regained their feet sprang directly towards me. The race was renewed twenty yards up the stream; they were already close on my back, when I glided round, and dashed past my pursuers. A fierce growl greeted my evolution, and the wolves slipped upon their haunches and sailed outward, presenting a perfect picture of helplessness and baffled rage. Thus I gained nearly a hundred yards each turning. This was repeated two or three times, every moment the wolves getting more and more excited and baffled, until coming opposite the house, a couple of stag hounds, aroused by the noise bayed furiously from their kennels. The wolves, taking the hint, stopped in their mad career, and after a moments consideration, turned and fled. I watched them till their dusky forms disappeared over a neighboring hill. Then taking off my skates, I wended my way to the house, with feelings better to be imagined than described.

Hoofland's Medicines.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS

AND

Hoofland's German Tonic;

The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the Liver, Stomach, or Digestive Organs.

Hoofland's German Bitters

Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts) of roots, herbs, and barks. It is a preparation highly concentrated and entirely "free from alcoholic admixture of any kind"

Hoofland's German Tonic

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public. Those preferring a medicine free from alcoholic admixture, will use

Hoofland's German Bitters.

Those who have no objection to the combination of the Bitters as stated, will use

Hoofland's German Tonic.

They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.

The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing so closely as it does with the Stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fullness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heart Burn, Disgust for Food, Fullness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult breathing, fluttering of the Heart, Choking or Suffocating sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of vision, dots or webs before the eyes, dull pain in the head, deficiency of perspiration, yellowness of the skin and eyes, Pain in the side, back, chest, limbs, etc., sudden flushes of heat, burning flesh, constant imaginings of evil and great depression of spirits.

The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, or purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigations and inquiries possesses true merit, is skillfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well known remedies—

Hoofland's German Bitters,

AND

Hoofland's German Tonic,

Prepared by Dr. C. M. JACKSON,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.

These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, or Nervous Debility, Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases arising from a Disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.

Debility,

Resulting from any cause whatever; Prostration of the system induced by severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, &c., &c.

There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.

Persons Advanced in Life, and feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find the use of these Bitters or the Tonic, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.

Notice.

It is a well established fact that fully one-half of the female population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health, or to use their own expression, they "never feel well." They are languid; devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite. To this class of persons the Bitters, or the Tonic, is especially recommended.

Weak and Delicate Children are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of marasmus without fail.

Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. Those, it will be observed, are men of note, and of such standing that they must be believed.

Testimonials.

Hon. George W. Woodward, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, writes:

Philadelphia, Pa., March 16, 1868.

"I find HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS is a good tonic, useful in affections of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours, truly, GEO. W. WOODWARD."

Hon. James Thompson, Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, writes:

"Philadelphia, April 23, 1856.

"I consider Hoofland's German Bitters a valuable medicine in case of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from experience.

"Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON."

From Rev. Joseph D. Kennard, D. D., Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia:

DR. JACKSON—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear proof in various instances, and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail, but scarcely, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above cause. Yours, very respectfully,

J. D. KENNARD,
Eighth, below Custer Streets.

From Rev. E. D. Fendall, Editor of Christian Chronicle," Philadelphia:

I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver. Yours, truly, E. D. FENDALL.

Caution.

Hoofland's German Bitters are counterfeited. See that the signature of C. M. JACKSON is on the wrapper of each bottle. All others are counterfeits. Principal Office and Manufactory, at the German Medical Store, No. 631 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.
