Prints on Apples and Pears.

A friend, who has lately been on a visit to the "Hub of the Universe," writes us this: "I have just seen a very pretty and fanciful idea developed on pears and apples in the orchard of a friend at West Roxbury, Mass. As you ramble among the trees you are ever and anon saluted by an inscription upon the fruit, done as it were by the hands of nature herself. Here you meet with the familiar name of Mary, or Alice, or a date (1868) in brief, everything that may suggest itself to your taste or fancy, and all done in the skin of the fruit without abrasion or any foreign impression. The discovery was made by the Hon. Arthur W. Austin, of West Roxbury, in 1851-2. He observed, during the former year, that apples did not redden in that part of the fruit where a leaf happened to lie upon it. In 1852 he cut out letters from newspapers, and when the apples were yet green, he pasted them upon them with paste such as the apothecaries use, made of Gum Tragacuth. The apples would redden in all parts not covered by the pasted letters. When the fruit had reddened to perfection the letters were removed, and they would appear permanently outlined in green. So, again, when he pasted on the apple a paper in which the letters were cut out, the parts covered by the paper would be green, and the letters would appear, distinctly turned in red, the green ground surrounding them. The experiment is a very pretty one, and produces a happy effect. Let our fruit growers try it. How much sweeter must be the relish of apple or pear, if the name of a favorite should thus appear on it, as if written by the hand of nature. What a price such fruit, so inscribed, would command in market, and what a pretty present it would be to any lady at a feast."—Charleston Courier.

Sociability.

Hawthorne, in his diary, makes record of a day wherein he resolved to speak to no human soul. He went to the village, got his mail at the postoffice, returned, and triumphantly records the fact that he spoke to no man. Is it any wonder that, with all his genius, Hawthorne was melancholy and essentially an unhappy man? How much wiser and better the opposite course. Think of how much happiness you convey to others by kindly notice and a cheerful conversation. Think how much sunshine such sociability lets back into your own soul! Who does not feel more cheerful and contented for receiving a polite bow, a genial "good morning," a hearty shake of the hand? Who does not make himself the happier by these little expressions of fellow feeling and good-will? Silence, and a stiff, unbending reserve are essentially selfish and essentially vulgar. The generous and polite man has a pleasant recognition and a cheerful word for all he meets. He scatters sunbeams wherever he goes. He paves the path of others with smiles. He makes society seem genial, and the world delightful, to those who else would find them cold, selfish, and forlorn. And what he gives is but a tithe of what he receives. Be sociable, then, wherever you go, and wrap your lightest words in tones that are sweet, and a spirit that is genial.

LEMONS FOR FEVER.—Says that walking cyclopedia of health knowledge, Dr. Hall: When persons are feverish and thirsty beyond what is natural, indicated in some cases by a metallic taste in the mouth, especially after drinking water, or by a whitish appearance of a greater part of the surface of the tongue, one of the best "coolers," internal or external, is to take a lemon, cut off the top, sprinkle over it some loaf sugar, working it downward into the lemon with a spoon, and then suck it slowly, squeezing the lemon and adding more sugar as the acidity increases from being brought up from a lower point. Invalids with feverishness may take two or three lemons a day in this manner with the most marked benefit manifested by a sense of coolness, comfort and invigoration. A lesson or two thus taken at "tea-time," as an entire substitute for the ordinary "supper" of summer, would give many a comfortable night's sleep and an awakening after rest and invigoration, with an appetite for breakfast, to which they are strangers who will have their cup of tea, or supper, or "relish" cake and berries, or peaches and cream.

Modern science is literally making "the desert to blossom as the rose" in the great desert of Sahara. In 1856 five artesian wells had been opened, around which vegetation thrives luxuriantly; 30,000 palm trees, and 1,000 fruit trees were planted, and two thriving villages established. At the depth of a little over five hundred feet, an underground river or lake was struck, and live fish have been thrown up, showing that there is a large body of water underneath.

Motto for married men whose domestic circles are agitated—"We want peace." How to get it—get out of the house.

A gentleman, endowed with a great deal of brass, desires to meet with a lady possessing a corresponding amount of tin.

Weston's Next Pedestrian Feat.

Mr. Edward Payson Weston is preparing for a pedestrian trip from Bangor, Me., to St. Paul, Minn., and back to New York, a distance of 5,000 miles. He will start from Bangor at 4 p. m. on Tuesday, December 1, and must reach the City Hall, New York, on or before 4 p. m. on the 11th of March, the actual walking time being, omitting Sundays, 86 days. His route, as recorded in his time-table, is as follows: From Bangor due west to Buffalo; thence through Michigan to Chicago; thence to Prescott, where he will cross the Mississippi; thence up the river bank to St. Paul, which city he must reach on or before the 29th of January. To make his full distance of 5,000 miles, he will, on his return, make a detour through Minnesota and Iowa, and down to St. Louis, and thence he will travel through Terre Haute, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus, Wheeling, Steubenville, Pittsburg, Hollidaysburg, Harrisburg, Baltimore and Philadelphia, to New York. All ferry crossings are to be deducted from the measurement of distances. Mr. Weston must actually walk 5,000 miles within the stipulated time, or he can not take the prize, which in this trial, is $20,000. Eight witnesses are to accompany him in carriages from the beginning until the termination of his journey. He will walk through 17 States, 188 counties, and 728 cities and towns, and take 9,794,996 steps, all within 100 consecutive days.

PROMPTNESS.—Promptness is a cardinal virtue. Nothing noble in life can be achieved without it. Before it all difficulties vanish, all obstacles disappear. The prompt man is the successful man. He takes time by the forelock. The opportunity comes and he seizes it. Luck is on his side. The forces of nature take part and set with him. Promptness is not rashness. It never acts blindly. It does not waste its strength in random blows. It strikes at the right place. It is a wide awake faculty. It sees clearly, and acts a wise decision. It does not put off till to-morrow what ought to be done to-day.

Burke, the wisest, and most philosophic of England's statesmen, once said, and it is well to consider his words: "There is no qualification for Government but virtue and wisdom, actual or presumptive. Wherever they are actually found they have, in whatever state, condition, trade or profession, the passport of heaven to human place and honor. Woe to the country which would madly and impiously reject the service of the talents and virtues, civil, military, or religious, that are given to grace and to serve it; and would condemn to obscurity everything formed to diffuse a lustre and glory around a State. Woe to the country, too, that passing into the opposite extreme, considers a low education, and a mean, contracted view of things, as a preferable title to command."

Two prisoners who recently escaped from an Illinois jail afforded a remarkable instance of thoughtful consideration in a moment of success. After having gagged and bound the jailor and rolled him into their cell, they kindly put a pillow under his head, spread a blanket over him, told him to ring the bell if he wanted anything and added the advice that if he should lie on his back he would find it easier than any other position. They then locked the door and walked out.

An old fellow of the ultra inquisitive order asked a little girl on board the train, who was sitting by her mother, as to her name, destination, etc. After learning she was going to Philadelphia, he asked. "What motive is taking you thither, my dear?"

"I believe they call it the Locomotive, Sir.," was the innocent reply.

The "intrusive stranger," was extinguished.

A Clergyman happening to get wet was standing over the fire to dry his clothes, and when his colleague came in he asked him to preach for him, as he was wet. "No sir, I thank you," was the prompt reply, "preach yourself; you will be dry enough in the pulpit."

An Irishman, noticing a woman passing along the street, spied two strips depending from under the lady's cloak. Not knowing that these were styled "sashes," and were hanging in their right place, he exclaimed, 'Faith, ma'am, your gallasses are untied."

An Alabama editor, in puffing a grocery store kept by a woman, says: "Her tomatoes are red as her own cheeks; her indigo as blue as her own eyes, and her pepper as hot as her own temper."

A New York ferry company has been made to pay $2500 for crushing a lady's hand. A great many have had to pay as much as that annually, for life, for gently squeezing that female organ.

One can no more judge of the true value of a man by the impression he makes on the public, than we can tell whether the seal was gold or brass by which the stamp was made.

"Let us have peace,' as the fellow said when he locked up his wife in the coal cellar.

Among the enormous estates lying loose to be claimed by American citizens, is the Albertson estate in Holland, said to be worth fifty million dollars.

NOBODY'S CHILD.

BY EMILY H. GRANT.

Alone in the darkness, pitiless street,
With any cold stones and bare cold feet,
All day I've wandered to and fro,
Hungry and shivering and nowhere to go;
The night's coming on in darkness and dread,
And the chill frost trying upon my head;
But why does the wind look upon me so wild?
Is it because I'm nobody's child?

Just over the way there's a flood of light,
And warmth, and beauty, and all things bright;
Bend fat children in robes so fair,
Are meeting some to capture there.
I wonder if they, in their blissful glee,
Would pity a poor little beggar like me,
Wandering alone in the merciless street,
Naked and shivering, and nothing to eat?

Oh! what shall I do when the night comes down,
With its terrible blackness all over the town?
Shall I lay me down 'neath the angry sky,
On the cold, hard pavement, alone, to die?—
When the beautiful children their prayers have said,
And mammas have tucked them up snugly to bed?
No dear mother ever upon me smiled;
Why is it, I wonder, I'm nobody's child?

No father, no mother, no sister, not one
In all the world loves me; even the little dogs run
When I wander too near them; 'tis wondrous to see
How everything runs from a beggar like me!
Perhaps 'tis a dream: but, sometimes, when I lie
Gazing far up into the dark blue sky,
Watching for hours some large, bright star,
I fancy the beautiful gates are ajar,

And a host of white-robed, nameless things
Come fluttering o'er me in gilded wings;
A hand that is strangely soft and fair,
Caresses gently my tangled hair,
And a voice like the carol of some wild bird—
The sweetest voice that was ever heard—
Calls me many a dear, pet name,
Tells my heart and spirit are all aflame,

And tells me of such unbounded love,
And bids me come up to their home above;
And then, with such pitiful, sad surprise,
They look at me with their soft, blue eyes,
And it seems to me, out of the dreary night,
I am going up to that world of light,
And away from the hunger and storm so wild;
I am sure I shall then be somebody's child.

THE STRANGER ON THE SILL.

BY T. BUCHANAN READ.

Between broad fields of wheat and corn,
In the lonely home where I was born,
The peach tree leans against the wall,
And the woodbine wanders over all;
There is the shaded doorway still,
But a stranger's foot is on the sill.

There is the barn—and still as of yore
I can smell the hay from the open door,
And see the lazy swallows throng,
And hear the pee-wee's mournful song;
But the stranger comes—oh! painful proof—
His sheaves are piled to the heated roof.

There is the orchard—the very trees
Where my childhood knew long hours of ease,
And watched the shadow moments run,
Till my life had imbibed more shade than sun;
The swing from the bough now sweeps the air,
But the stranger's children are swinging there.

Where bubbles the shady spring below,
With its bulrush brook where the hazles grow,
There there I found the calamus root,
And watched the minnows poise and shoot;
And saw the robin lave his wing—
But the stranger's basket was at the spring.

Oh! ye who daily cross the sill,
Step lightly, for I like it still;
And when you crown the old barn eaves,
Then think what countless harvest sheaves
Have passed within the scented door
To gladden eyes that are no more.

Deal kindly with those orchard trees;
And when your children crowd your knees,
Their sweetest fruits shall they impart,
As if old memories stirred the heart;
To youthful sports still leave the swing,
And in sweet reverence hold the spring.

The barn, the trees, the brooks, the birds,
The meadows with the lowing herds,
The woodbine on the cottage wall,—
My heart still lingers for them all;
Yes, stranger on my native sill,
Step lightly, for I love it still.

I'LL THINK OF THY KISS.

On the foam of the billow,
'Mid the roar of the deep—
On the calm of my pillow,
When the tempest 's asleep—
At the blush of the morning,
When far o'er the sea,
The gold of its dawning
Comes flashing and free—
At the darkling of daylight,
When low sinks the sun,
With the pride of a monarch
Whose conquest is won—
In the hour of sorrow,
In the moments of bliss,
I will think of thy voice, love,
I'll think of thy kiss.

On the banks of the Douro,
'Mid the graves of old Spain,
When the wanton Bolero
Wakes passion again;
In the halls of Alhambra,
Where marble appears
The splendor of kingdoms,
The ruin of years;
By the side of the fountain,
In the noise of its mirth,
'Mid the depths of the mountain,
Where the bandit has birth;
In the hour of silence,
'Mid vesper and prayer—
I will think of our vows, love,
And wish thou wer't there.

In the beauty of Florence,
Where art has her home—
'Mid the grandeur of Venice,
The ashes of Rome—
In the wrecks of past glory,
Whose skeletons loom
In the vagueness of story,
The kings of a dream—
In the carnival's madness,
When riot runs free,
And revel wins sadness
To share in its glee—
In the midst of their rapture,
In visions like this,
I will think of thy voice, love,
I'll think of thy kiss.

In the bush of the midnight,
When weary and lone,
The shadows shall haunt me
Of days that are gone—
And remembrance shall tell me
How like to my pride,
In the half-buried column
That sleeps by my side;
No temple to claim it,
No worship is there—
Alone in its ruin,
Alone in despair:
Oh! then in my anguish,
How soothing the bliss,
To think of the voice, love,
To think of thy kiss!

"William," said one Quaker to another, "thee knows I never call anybody names; but, William, if the Mayor of the city were to come to me and say, Joshua, I want thee to find me the biggest liar in Philadelphia," I would come to thee and put my hand on thy shoulder and say to thee, "William, the Mayor wants to see thee."

At a religious meeting among the blacks a colored preacher requested that some brother should pray. Thereupon half-wit Mose commenced a string of words entirely without meaning. At this the pastor raised his head and inquired, "Who dat praying? Dat you, brudder Mose? You let somebody pray dat's acquainted wid de Lord."

Hoofland's Medicines.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS

AND

Hoofland's German Tonic;

The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the Liver, Stomach, or Digestive Organs.

Hoofland's German Bitters

Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts) of roots, herbs, and barks. His preparation is kept entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.

Hoofland's German Tonic

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public. Those preferring a medicine free from alcoholic admixture, will use

Hoofland's German Bitters.

Those who have no objection to the combination of the Bitters as stated, will use

Hoofland's German Tonic.

They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.

The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as closely as it does with the Stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fullness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heart-burn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult breathing, fluttering of the Heart, Choking or Suffocating sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of vision, dots or webs before the eyes, dull pain in the head, deficiency of perspiration, yellowness of the skin and eyes, Pain in the side, back, chest, limbs, etc., sudden flushes of heat, burning flesh, constant imaginings of evil and great depression of spirits.

The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, which he is assured can only be obtained from his investigations and inquiries into its merits, as he will rely upon the fact that no preparation which possesses true merit, is skillfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well known remedies—

Hoofland's German Bitters,

AND

Hoofland's German Tonic,

Prepared by Dr. C. M. JACKSON,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.

These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases arising from a Disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.

Debility,

Resulting from any cause whatever; Prostration of the system induced by severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, &c., &c.

There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.

Persons Advanced in Life, and feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find the use of these Bitters or the Tonic, an effort that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.

Notice.

It is a well established fact that fully one-half of the female population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health, or to use their own expression, they "never feel well." They are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite. To this class of persons the Bitters, or the Tonic, is especially recommended.

Weak and Delicate Children

are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of marasmus without fail.

Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. These, it will be observed, are men of note, and of such standing that they must be believed.

Testimonials.

Hon. George W. Woodward, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, writes:

Philadelphia, Pa., March 16, 1868.

"I find HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours, truly, GEO. W. WOODWARD."

Hon. James Thompson, Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, writes:

"Philadelphia, April 28, 1868.

"I consider Hoofland's German Bitters a valuable medicine in case of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from experience.

"Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON."

From Rev. Joseph D. Kennard, D. D., Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia:

Dr. JACKSON—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear proof in various instances, and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail, but usually, I ought not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes. Yours, very respectfully,

J. D. KENNARD,
Eighth, below Coates Street.

From Rev. E. D. Fendall, Editor of Christian "Chronicle," Philadelphia:

I have derived a decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver. Yours, truly, E. D. FENDALL.

Medical.

AS AN APERIENT.

There is no medicine so much in favor with those who are acquainted with their action as Roback's Blood Pills; they are safe, pleasant and mild in their operation, and are purely vegetable; can be taken by children as well as adults; try them.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS.

As a remedy to soothe all nervous excitement, and in its truest sense, a nervine, there is, perhaps, no medicine extant which is received with so much favor as Roback's Stomach Bitters; a wine glass full on going to bed is all that is required to produce sound and healthful sleep.

ERYSIPELAS.

Or, St. Anthony's Fire, can be most effectually eradicated by the use of Roback's Blood Purifier in conjunction with Roback's Blood Pills.

OPTHALMIA.

Or, Inflamation of the Eyes, not unfrequently arises from a disordered state of the stomach: a few doses of Roback's Blood Pills will, in most cases, effect a cure by removing the cause.

KEEP YOUR BLOOD PURE.

There are no remedies, now before the public, so well calculated to purify the blood and recuperate (so to speak) the whole system as Roback's Blood Purifier, Blood Pills and Stomach Bitters.

LEUCORRHŒA.

Or, Whites, which follow local debility and constitutional weakness, can be effectually cured by the use of Roback's Stomach Bitters. Do not let the druggist sell you any other remedy, as these Bitters are prepared with especial reference to this complaint, and are warranted to cure.

BAD TASTE

In the mouth in the morning is one of the symptoms of a bilious condition or disordered state of the liver, and should not, for a single day, be neglected, as it is but the premonitory symptom of a train of evils and the very seeds of disease. Procure at once Roback's Blood Pills, administer them according to the directions accompanying each box, and the difficulty and danger of disease will at once be removed.

NOT A BEVERAGE.

Unlike most of the bitters of the present day, Dr. Roback's are not intended as a pleasant stimulating whisky beverage, but are perfectly medicinal, containing only sufficient pure bourbon whisky to hold in solution the medicinal extractive matter from which they are composed.

A MISERABLE LIFE

Is that of the dyspeptic. Why suffer when Roback's Blood Purifier and Blood Pills will surely cure you? They can be obtained from any druggist.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTIVE

Is worth a pound of cure. Fever and Ague can be prevented in all climates and in all constitutions by the constant use of Roback's Stomach Bitters, and oftimes the very worst cases have been cured by their timely use. Persons living in malarious districts should never be without them.

FOUND

That after repeated trials of other remedies, Roback's Stomach Bitters, Blood Purifier and Blood Pills are the best medicines extant to cure the diseases for which they are recommended.

INDIGESTION

Is but another name for dyspepsia, and the parent of many ills. Roback's Stomach Bitters taken in wine-glass full doses directly after each meal, will surely effect a permanent cure. Do not take our word for it, but try them.
