THE REPUBLICAN.

CLEARFIELD, PA.

THURSDAY MORNING.....DEC 16, 1869.

A BOY'S TRIALS.

We do not think that any boy ever put on his first long-tailed coat without a sense of shame. He first twists his back half off looking at it in the glass, and then, when he steps out of doors, it seems as if all creation was in a broad grin. The sun laughs in the sky, the cows turn to look at him; there are faces at every window; his very shadow mocks him. The very boards croak with a consciousness of the strange spectacle, and the old pair of pantaloons that stop a light in the garret window nod with derision. If he is obliged to pass a group of men and boys, the trial assumes its most terrific stage. His legs get all mixed up with embarrassment, and the flap of the dangling appendage is felt against them, moved by the wind of his own agitation; he could not feel any worse were it a dish rag, to be worn by him as a badge of disgrace. It is a happy time for him when he gets to church and sits down with his coat tail under him; but he is still apprehensive with thinking of the Sunday Schools, and wondering if any of the children will ask him to swing his long-tailed blue.

The entrance into society may be said to take place after boyhood has passed away, yet a multitude take the initiative before their hearts are presentable. It is a great trial to tender or tough age. For any overgrown boy to go to a door, knowing there are a dozen of girls within, and knock or ring with absolute certainty that in two minutes all their eyes will be upon him, is a severe test of courage. To go before these girls and make a satisfactory tour of the room without stepping on their toes, and then sit down and dispose of one's hands without putting them in one's pocket, is an achievement of which few can boast. If a boy can get so far as to measure off ten yards of tape with one of the girls, and cut it short at one end, he may stand a chance to spend a pleasant evening; but let him not flatter himself that the trials of the evening are over. There comes at last the breaking up. The dear girls don their hoods and put on their shawls and look so saucy, so mischievous and unimpressible, as if they did not wish any one to go home with them. Then comes the pinch, and the boy having the most pluck makes up to the prettiest girl, his heart in his throat, and his tongue clinging to the roof of his mouth, and crooking his elbow, stammers out the words: "Shall I see you home?" She touches her fingers to his arm, and thus they walk home about a foot apart, feeling as awkward as goslings. As soon as she is safe inside her own doors, he struts home, and really thinks he has been and gone and done it.

FUTURE PUNISHMENT.—Let the fairest star be selected, like a beauteous island in the vast and shoreless ocean of the azure heavens, as the future home of the criminals from the earth, and let them possess whatever they most love, and all that it is possible for God to bestow; let them be endowed with undying bodies, and with minds which shall forever retain their intellectual powers; let no Saviour ever press his claims upon them, no God reveal himself to them, no Sabbath ever dawn upon them, no saint ever live among them, no prayer ever be heard within their borders, but let society exist there forever, smitten only by the leprosy of hatred to God, and with utter selfishness as its all prevailing and eternal purpose—then, as sure as the law of righteousness exists, on which rests the throne of God, and the government of the universe, a society so constituted must work out for itself a hell of solitary bitter suffering, to which there is no limit except the capacity of a finite nature! Alas! the spirit that is without love to its God or to its neighbor, is already possessed by a power which must at last create for its own self-government a worm that will never die, and a fire that can never more be quenched!—Dr. Macleod.

Knowledge, like wealth, is simply an element of power and enjoyment. Its possession does not imply either wisdom or virtue. Knowledge is an increased power to do good or evil. There is a necessity, therefore, that man's whole nature should be educated to make him a complete being; it is essential that the development of his moral keep pace with that of his intellectual faculties.

A certain deacon on occasion of missionary collections, was wont to shut his eyes and sing, "Fly abroad thou mighty Gospel," with such earnestness and unction that he would quite forget to see the plate when it came around. "Oh, yes, but just you give it something to make it fly!" said the plate-bearer.

A clergyman says it is curious to note how many people attend a circus "only because they want to please their children;" but still more curious to observe that in many instances it takes two or three able-bodied men, with as many women, to look after one little boy or girl.

"He knows on which side his bread is buttered," is now rendered, "He is aware on what portion of the staff of life the oleaginous produce of the dairy is disbursed."

If "brevity is the soul of wit," what a funny thing a fashionable coat is.

SAVING.

A man is very apt to deceive himself into an idea that he cannot save, and that there is no use of attempting it. He convinces himself that his income is little enough for present necessities, and puts off the hope of accumulation, if he forms it at all, to that period when he shall be in somewhat better circumstances. His circumstances do perhaps improve, but his wants have extended as much, and still the time for saving is far ahead. Thus, he goes on and on, resolving and resolving, until he is at last surprised by some calamity, which deprives him even of his ordinary earnings, or by death, which cruelly cuts him off in the very midst of the best intentions in the world. Did any man, we would ask, ever experience a falling-off in his income even so small an amount as a shilling in the week? Many answer they have. Did they continue to live at that reduced rate? They reply, "We did so; we were compelled to do it!" Very well; and pray, what is the difference between being compelled to live a shilling a week cheaper, and compelling yourself to do it? Or, suppose stationary wages and a rising produce market. Did you not find, that, though bread rose a penny a loaf, and other provisions in proportion, you still contrived to make your income procure you something like the usual exhibition of vitals? You answer, "Yes." And where, I would ask, is the difference between spending a small extra sum upon certain articles of food, and laying it by for accumulation, supposing it not to be so needed? It is clear, that, if you had the fortitude and strength of character to make the saving as much a matter of compulsion, as the other circumstances are, you would save. You have, therefore, no excuse to present for your not saving, except that you are too weak-minded to abstain from using money in your power?

MIS-SPENT EVENINGS.—The boy who spends an hour of each evening lounging idly on a street corner, wastes in the course of a year, three hundred and sixty-five precious hours, which, if applied to study, would familiarize him with the rudiments, at least, of almost any of the familiar sciences. If, in an addition to the wasting of each evening, he spends five cents for a cigar, which is usually the case, the amount thus worse than wasted would pay for four of the leading magazines of the country. Boys, think of these things. Think how much precious time and good money you are wasting, and for what? The gratification afforded by the lounge on the corner or by the cigar is not only temporary, but positively hurtful. You cannot indulge in these practices without seriously injuring yourselves. You acquire idle and wasteful habits, which will cling to you through life and grow upon you with each succeeding year. You may in after life shake them off; but the probabilities are that habits thus formed in early life will remain with you till your dying day. Be cautioned then in time, and resolve that as the hour spent in idleness is gone forever, you will improve each passing one, and thereby fit yourselves for yourselves for usefulness and happiness.

JOSH BILLINGS.—If a man wants to get at his actual dimensions, let him visit a graveyard.

If any man wants to be an old bachelor, and get sick at a boarding tavern, and have a back room on the fourth story, and a red-haired chamber-maid bring his watergruel to him in a tin wash-basin, I have always said, and I stick to it yet, he has a perfect right to do it.

When a man loses his health, then he fust begins to take care of it. This is good judgment. This is!

It is so nowadaze, that if a man can't cheat in some way he isn't happy.

Success in life is apt to make us forget the time when we wasn't much. It is so with the frog on the jump; he can't remember that he was a tadpole—but other folks can.

An individual, to be a fine gentleman, has either got to be born so or bro't up in it from his infancy; he kan't larn suddenly any more than he can larn to talk injun korectly by practicing on a tomm'hawk.

FIGHT BETWEEN WASPS AND RATS.—A couple of farm servants on a plantation in the Southern part of Alabama, who had been asleep in a loft of a large barn, were awakened one morning recently by a great commotion in the hay mow beneath them, and on looking down saw a scene which, probably, is without a parallel. Swarming in through an open window was a perfect cloud of wasps, who were attacking a young army of rats, whose squealing had aroused the two farm hands. The rats stood upon their hind legs, in a perfect paroxysm of rage and fear, and gnashed their teeth at the wasps, who stung them remorselessly. The bodies of the rats were terribly swollen by the poison of the insects; and in their rage and fury they turned and bit each other. The hay loft was strewn with the dead bodies of the rats, until at last the survivors fled from the scene and left the wasps masters of the situation.

An Irishman being in church where the collection apparatus resembled an election box, on its being passed to him, whispered in the carrier's ear that he was not naturalized, and could not vote, but he was ready to make a speech.

A lady with a Grecian bend looks to a country youth like a crooked neck squash struck by lightning.

Select Poetry.

GOSSIPS.

'Tis strange how people love to talk,
How soon they find the handle
To any little piece of news,
Or precious bit of scandal.

It matters not what is the theme,
How varied or how private,
With how much circumspection learned,
The secrets are sure to leave it.

Thus every subject, good or bad,
Indifferent, gay or solemn,
To pass review, is trotted out,
And marshalled into column.

Sometimes, however, scandal fails;
Inquisitive old grannies,
Or younger sisters of the crew,
Sit baffled in their crannies.

Then what avails the common talk,
Assenting or dissenting?
Or whether Mrs. Grundy comes
A scratching round or purring?

A stranger never comes to town,
And chooses to be secluded,
But what some spinster's nose would be
Into his dish protruded.

The man cannot be much, I know,
Says Mrs. Lotty Steeple,
For if he were he'd show himself,
And act like other people.

I saw him bow to Jenny Fudge,
Says Jane Amelia Stiffy;
She was a fool to look at such,
I'd cut him in a jiffy!

I've heard he never pays his debts,
Says Mrs. Stepand Fetchit;
I wish he'd serve my husband so!
By jings! but wouldn't he catch it!

I wonder what for church he joined,
Says old Priscilla Vapere;
Not cure! says Mrs. Pharisee,
We don't allow such capers.

The church! Indeed! says Mrs. Spite,
I'd go and tell the parson!
I'll church him, you might bet your life!
I'd have him hung for arson!

And worse than that, indeed I know!
Cries old Miss Flummadiddle,
He catched Sol Fitch around the waist,
And crutched her like a fiddle!

So day by day the talk goes on;
The persons scent increases;
Until the man is rooted out,
And duly pulled to pieces.

Meantime the subject of the talk,
Unconscious of the bother,
Consumes each day his daily bread,
The same as any other.

And Mrs. Sewell, Amanda Smudge,
And others, forty-eleven,
He really knows no more about
Than if they were in heaven.

These folks were all born rich, you know,
Well-taught and ancient-blooded;
The Deluge failed to drown the stock,
When all the rest was flooded.

And so it goes—one half the world
Feels hypo, spleen, or dizziness,
Unless it has its finger in
The other portion's business.

Oh, bless the stars! it suits me well
At present to be single,
But if I had a gadding wife,
I'd gad her!—with a shingle!

THE CHRISTIAN'S DEATH.

[The following beautiful stanzas in the vein of Montgomery, are taken from the Churchman's Family Magazine:]

Hush! 'tis a holy place,
The spirit's passing hour;
A mortal one has run his race,
A Christian claims his dower.
Be still, nor let an earthly thought
Mar the deep calmness of his lot.

Hath he not done with earth,
Its glory and its pride,
Its passing scenes of woe and mirth,
Its pleasures scorn'd, though tried?
Hath he not conquered death and sin,
And joy'd eternal life to win?

And toil and strife are o'er,
And earthly cares are past,
And he hath gained yon blessed shore,
Hath won the palm at last.
O, who would cling to mortal woe,
When heaven such glory can bestow?

In yon bright land above,
How rich the deep repose!
No cloud, by blasting sorrow wove,
Its ingrating canvas throws;
No care obscureth the radiant light
Where day ne'er shrinks from hastening night.

Then follow we his track,
Through Him who death o'ercame;
Since death restores not loved ones back,
Be ours death's bliss to claim,
Be ours to gain the glorious prize,
Life, life eternal in the skies.

SOUND DOCTRINE.—In a sermon delivered by Rev. Dr. Bellows, of New York, is the following paragraph:

"For my own part, I say, in all solemnity, I have lived to become sincerely suspicious of the piety of those who do not love pleasure in any form. I cannot trust the man that never laughs, that is always sedate; that has no apparent outlet for those natural springs of sportiveness and gayety that are perennial in the human soul. I know that nature takes her revenge on such violence. I expect to find secret vices, malignant sins, or horrid crimes spring up in this hotbed of confined air and imprisoned space; and, therefore, it gives me sincere moral gratification anywhere, and in any community, to see innocent pleasure and popular amusement resisting the religious bigotry that frowns so unwisely upon them. Anything is better than dark, dead, unhappy social life—a prey to ennui and morbid excitement."

A gentleman being much annoyed by a fellow passenger who smoked a villainous cigar, addressed him thus:

"If you must smoke, my good fellow, let me at least offer you a decent cigar."

"Thank you, sir," replied the latter, "I'll smoke that after dinner," quietly put it in his pocket, meanwhile continuing to vitiate the atmosphere as before.

In Nevada, a contemplative Digger Indian sat watching a party of base ball players, who seemed to him to be working very hard. Turning to one of them, he asked: "How much you get a day?"

A life insurance agent applied to a Texan "to take out a policy;" but the Texan replied: "A fellow's life is so confoundedly uncertain in this country, it ain't worth insuring."

A bachelor, according to the latest definition, is a man who has lost the opportunity of making a woman miserable.

"Up to snuff" is now rendered "elevated to an equal capacity with the titillating particles of the tobacco plant."

"It is the lot of humanity to err at times," as the drunken man said when he mistook his pig-sty for his own bedroom.

Lawyers are lucky. They can do lots of courting and not be engaged.

Wisdom and virtue are two infallible specifics against all the crosses and incidents of human life.

Hoofland's Medicines.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS

AND

Hoofland's German Tonic;

The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the Liver, Stomach, or Digestive Organs.

Hoofland's German Bitters

Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts) of roots, herbs, and barks, a preparation highly concentrated and entirely "free from alcoholic admixture of any kind"

Hoofland's German Tonic

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public. Those preferring a medicine free from alcoholic admixture, will use

Hoofland's German Bitters.

Those who have no objection to the combination of the Bitters as stated, will use

Hoofland's German Tonic.

They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.

The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as closely as it does with the Stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fullness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heart Burn, Disgust for Food, Fullness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult breathing, fluttering of the Heart, Choking or Suffocating sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of vision, dots or webs before the eyes, dull pain in the head, deficiency of perspiration, yellowness of the skin and eyes, Pain in the side, back, chest, limbs, etc., sudden flushes of heat, burning flesh, constant imaginings of evil and great depression of spirits.

The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, which he is assured only that by purchasing only that from his investigations and inquiries possesses true merit, is skillfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well known remedies—

Hoofland's German Bitters,

AND

Hoofland's German Tonic,

Prepared by Dr. C. M. JACKSON,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.

These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases arising from a Disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.

Debility,

Resulting from any cause whatever; Prostration of the system induced by severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, &c., &c.

There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellowness is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.

Persons Advanced in Life, and feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find the use of these Bitters or the Tonic, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.

Notice.

It is a well established fact that fully one-half of the female portion of our population are seldom to the enjoyment of good health, or to use their own expression, they "never feel well." They are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite. To this class of persons the Bitters, or the Tonic, is especially recommended.

Weak and Delicate Children

are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of marasmus without fail.

Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. Those, it will be observed, are men of note, and of such standing that they must be believed.

Testimonials.

Hon. George W. Woodward, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, writes:

Philadelphia, Pa., March 16, 1868.

"I find HOOFLAND'S German Bitters is a good tonic, useful in affections of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours, truly, GEO. W. WOODWARD."

Hon. James Thompson, Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, writes:

"Philadelphia, April 28, 1868.

"I consider Hoofland's German Bitters a valuable medicine in case of indigestion or dyspepsia. I can certify this from experience.

"Yours, with respect. JAMES THOMPSON."

From Rev. Joseph D. Kennard, D. D., Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia:

Dr. JACKSON—Dear Sir: I have frequently been requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a great proof in various instances, and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail, but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above cause. Yours, very respectfully,

J. D. KENNARD,
Eighth, below Coates Street.

From Rev. E. D. Fendall, Editor of Christian "Chronicle," Philadelphia:

I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver. Yours, truly, E. D. FENDALL.

There is no medicine so much in favor with those who are acquainted with their action as Hoback's Blood Pills: they are safe, powerful and mild in their operation, and are purely vegetable; may be taken by children as well as adults; try them.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS.

As a remedy to soothe all nervous excitement, and in its truest sense, a servitor, there is, perhaps, no medicine extant which is received with so much favor as Hoback's Stomach Bitters; a wine glass full on going to bed is all that is required to produce sound and healthful sleep.

ERYSIPELAS.

Or, St. Anthony's Fire, can be most effectually eradicated by the use of Hoback's Blood Purifier in conjunction with Hoback's Blood Pills.

OPTHALMIA.

Or, Inflamation of the Eyes, not unfrequently arises from a disordered state of the stomach; a few doses of Hoback's Blood Pills will, in most cases, effect a cure by removing the cause.

KEEP YOUR BLOOD PURE

There are no remedies now before the public, so well calculated to purify the blood and renovate (so to speak) the whole system as Hoback's Blood Purifier, Blood Pills and Stomach Bitters.

LEUCORRHOEA.

Or, Whites, which follow local debility and constitutional weakness, can be effectually cured by the use of Hoback's Stomach Bitters. Do not let the druggist sell you any other remedy, as these Bitters are prepared with especial reference to this complaint, and are warranted to cure.

BAD TASTE

In the mouth in the morning is one of the symptoms of a bilious condition or disordered state of the liver, and should not, for a single day, be neglected, as it is but the premonitory symptom of a train of evils and the very seeds of disease. Procure at once Hoback's Blood Pills, administer them according to the directions accompanying each box, and the difficulty and danger of disease will at once be removed.

NOT A BEVERAGE.

Unlike most of the bitters of the present day, Dr. Hoback's are not intended as a pleasant stimulating whisky beverage, but are perfectly medicinal, containing only sufficient pure bourbon whisky to hold in solution the medicinal extractive matter from which they are composed.

A MISERABLE LIFE

Is that of the dyspeptic. Why suffer when Hoback's Blood Purifier and Blood Pills will surely cure you? They can be obtained from any druggist.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTIVE

Is worth a pound of cure. Fever and Ague can be prevented in all climates and in all constitutions by the constant use of Hoback's Stomach Bitters, and oftimes the very worst cases have been cured by their timely use. Persons living in malarious districts should never be without them.

FOUND

That after repeated trials of other remedies, Hoback's Stomach Bitters, Blood Purifier and Blood Pills are the best medicines extant to cure the diseases for which they are recommended.

INDIGESTION

Is but another name for "dyspepsia, and the parent of many ills. Hoback's Stomach Bitters taken in wine-glass full doses, directly after each meal, will surely effect a permanent cure. Do not take our word for it, but try them.
