

GEORGE B. GOODLANDER, Editor. CLEARFIELD, PA. WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEB. 17, 1869.

Counting the Electoral Vote.

Decision of Vice-President Wade - Contest over the Vote of Georgia. The Washington correspondent of the New York World gives a graphic description of the proceedings...

He Must Soon Speak.

Two weeks more will number the Presidential days of Andrew Johnson. A loyal exchange announces to the world as a fact, that Gen. Grant's Cabinet will be composed of staunch Republicans...

South Carolina Loyalty.

Mr. J. M. Cooper, of Chambersburg, has been spending some time in the Southern States, and in writing to the Valley Spirit, he informs the public out of what kind of material the men are made...

The Difference.

Ten days ago Mr. Holbrook, delegate in Congress from Idaho, took the liberty of saying, in rather plain terms, that Best Butler did not always tell the truth when he was railing against his neighbors...

The Democrats of Connecticut have renominated the present Executive.

Hon. James E. English, as his candidate for Governor. Gov. English has been twice elected, and his friends feel confident they can elect him for a third time...

The Republican State Central Committee met at Harrisburg on Thursday.

The expenditures of reconstructed Louisiana during 1868 exceeded the receipts by $308,000.

(Great sensation, and a short silence.) White Butler said, Ingersoll and Van Horn kept up their loud protests. Mr. Ordway, the Sergeant at Arms, proceeded to them and Mr. Ingersoll sat down, while Mr. Van Horn was understood to threaten to cut Mr. Ordway in two if he laid a hand on him...

At this point there was a condition of suppressed sneers and a general spirit of audacious contempt obtaining. The voice of Wade was not even listened to. Every one was thinking of the scenes just past and waiting for the next turn of the screw.
