Balloon Ascension in Laneaster. The following is the statement of Mrs. Louisa Wise, wife of Prof John Wise, the celebrated Eronaut, of what she saw and how she felt during the

I am not an advocate of Woman's Rights in the modern acceptation of the term, but have nevertheless a notion that a lady might take a ride through the ethereal regions of space without sinning against the proprie ties of her sex, or in the least infring ing upon the good order of a "time for all things;" and believing that the proper time had come to gratify my coman's carlosity upon this subjecof an arial voyage, when my husband announced that he would sell the vacant seat in his balloon chariot, "Jupiter," I accordingly resolved to be the highest bidder, though it should be a thousand dollars; when he very gravely suggested to me about the having, as he said, two cash offers of fifty dollars each, I told him mine was a hundred dollars-paid in advance, by numerous charges against him for darning stockings and sewing on his buttons for ten years past. From this he made no appeal, but said, "all right, you shall go." And now I will tell my lady friends, as well as I can, how I did go.

At 10 minutes past 4 o'clock last Saturday afternoon, Japiter being suf-ficiently inflated, 1 stepped into the wicker-car thereto attached, and with a throb of delight loomed up and over the centre of the city. The multitude below, with upturned faces—the rat-tling sound of martial music—the shouts of applause—and the earth with all its life gradually sinking down-down-still deeper down, excited me very much, and I involunta rily began to wave my kerchief in response to the happy salutations of my good friends below. My husband handed me the talismanie flag to wave, while he would throw overboard ballast composed of bundles of business circulars, and up, up we went at a giorious rate. My replies to his ques-tions for awhile were only "Splendid" splendid!" My heart was pulpitating with joy over the beauties spread out beneath and around, so that I could do nothing but gaze upon the grand scene before me. When we got beyoud the built up part of the city, I ventured my head through the barrier rentured my head through the barrier of ropes to look straight down, and beneath I spied what seemed a nice turbed the screne silence of I sot with little Christmus carden with little the object of my heart's affections on the street of the object of my heart's affections on the street of the object of my heart's affections on the street of the object of my heart's affections on the street of the object of my heart's affections on the street of the object of my heart's affections on the street of the object of my heart's affections of the street of the object of my heart's affections of the street of the object of my heart's affections of the street of the object of my heart's affections of the street of the object of my heart's affections of the street of the object of my heart's affections of the street of the object of the obje little Christmas garden, with little the object of my heart's affectshans on buildings in the middle, which my the fense of her daddy's pastur. SOMEBODY. Somebody lives in our costs,
And a surface chap is be;
He is posted on every one's affaire.
Knows all about you and me.

No matter what secret you wish to keep, Or what it may be about. You may guard if just as well as you can— Somebody'll ferret it out.

He knows about all your family jers.
And just how your business stands.—
Knows how much money you have in stock,
And how much you have on hand.

No fraud is detected, or building buryed, Though the sinners were never to dy. But Sembedy knows all about it at one-dust how it was done, and why. If you ever (excuse me for binting the thing) the out, as men say, "on a bark," And flatter yourself that the wife of your breast is skillfully kept in the dark.

You had better give up such a foolish idea, And recken the cost from the first! For Samelo-ty'll whisper the sale in her ear, And then, sir, look out for the worst!

No courtship was ever attempted in town. Though the parties were painfully sky, But Somebody knew it at soon as themsel And watched them with vigilant sys.

YOUR MISSION.

BY RELEW IL STATES.

If you are too weak to journey Up the mountain, steep and high, You can stand within the valley White the countries. While the multilades go by.
You can chant in happy measure.
As they slowly pass along:
Though they may beget the singer.
They will not forget the song.

If you have not gold and silver Ever ready to command: If you can not toward the needy Reads no zero open hand; You can visit the afflicted.
Our the arring you can meep; You can be a true disple, Sitting at the Saviour's feet.

If you can not in the horvest.

Garner up the richest abserves.

Many a grain both ripe and golden
Will the careless reapers leave.

Go and glean among the briers,

Growing rook against the wall.

For it may be that their shadow

Hides the heaviest wheat of all.

Celebrated Bitter Cordial.

This medical preparation is now affered to the public as a reliable substitute for the many workhose compounds which now flood the market. It is purely regetable, composed of various harbs, gathered from the great store-house of nature, and selected with the utmoet care. It is not recommended as a Corne-Ars, but by its direct and salustary influence upon the Beart, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs, Stomach and Howels, it amis both as a preventive and care for many of the diseases in which those origans are subject. It is a reliable Family Medicine, and can be taken by either infant or adult with the same beneficial results. It is a certain, prompt and apredy remedy for Diarrhora, Dysoniaty, Ecowel complaints, Dysopesis, Loweness of Spirits, Falmings, Sickhaudache, do. Fer Chills and fevers or all kinds, it is far better and safer then any quinine, without any of its persistent and digeater, and will consistent the effects of its or a will consistent the effects of its or the effects of its or the effects of its or the effects.
