WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 22, 1878. AN AGRICULTURAL ODE.

RY J. 6. WHITTER. This day, two hundred years ago.

The wild grapes by the river side,
And tasteless ground and traffing low
The tables of the woods supplied.

Unknown the apple's red and gold.

The blushing that of the peach and pear;
The mirror of the Power told.

No tale of orchards ripe and rare. Wild at the fruits be secreed to till, These value the idle Indian trod;

Nor knew the glad creative skill, The joy of him who tolls with God. Oh! Painter of the fruits and flowers! We thank Thee for Thy wise design, Whereby these housen bands of ours In Nature's garden week with Thine.

And thanks that from our daily need. The joy of simple faith is born. That he who smiles the Sammer weed. May trust Thee for the Autemn own

Give fools their gold and knaves their power.
Let fortune's bubbles rise and fall;
Who sows a field or tills a flower,
Or plants a tree, is more than all, For he who blesses most is blessed, And God and man shall own his worth, Who toils to leave as a bequest An added beauty to the earth.

How to Save Money.

THE times are Lard; you'd like to know How you may save your dellars; The way to do it I will show, If you will read what follows.

A man who lived not far from here, Who worked hard at his trade, But had a boundhold to support That squandered all he made, I not him once. Says he, "My friend, I look thread bear and rough;

I've tried to get soyself a sait, But san't save up enough." Eays I, my friend, how much have you? I'll tell you where in go To get a suit that's sound and cheap : To BEIZENSTEIN & Co.

He took what little he had saved, And went to Beimantein & Brothers', And there he got a handsome suit, For half he paid to others.

Now he is home, he looks so well, And their effect is such, That when they take their daily most, They don't cut half as much. And now be finds on Saturday night,

With all their wants emplied, That he has meanly left to spend, And some to lay axids.

His good success, with cheerful smile, He gladly tells to all, If you'd save money, go and buy Your clothes at-REIZENSTEIN'S CLOTHING HALL. Where the chespect, fixest and best Clothing and good Furnishing Goods can be had to said
