CLEARFIELD, PA. WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 29, 1876 BUTTER LATE THAN NEVER.

Life is like a race where some succeed,
While others are beginning:
The link in some in others speed,
That gives an early winning;
Rut if you chanes to full behind.
Se'r sharken your endoave;
Jost keep this whilesome frulk in mind,
"The better late than never." And if you keep alread, 'lie welt,
But mover trap your neighbor;
The noble when you can excet
By honest, putions labor;
But if you are existrapped at last,
Perso on as bold as ever;
Remember, though you are empassed,
"The better late than never."

Ne'er labor for an liftle logat, Or victory a'er another: Dut while you drive your utmost, Doul fairly with a brother:

Whate'er your station, do your best, And hold your purpose ever, And if you fall to do the rest, "The better late than never."

Choose well the path in which you run, Succeed by mobile during: Then though the last, whom need the sec Your rown is worth the nearing; Then never feet if left behind, Nor clashed your endeaver, But ever keep this truth in mind, "Tie better late than never!"
