

The Republican.

GEORGE B. GOODLANDER, Editor.

CLEARFIELD, PA.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 27, 1870.

Democratic District Ticket.

ASSEMBLY:

JOHN G. HALL,
of Elk County.

[Subject to the action of the District Convention.]

Democratic County Ticket.

SHERIFF:

JUSTIN J. PIE,
of Girard.

COMMISSIONER:

DAVID BUCK,
of Clearfield.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY:

A. W. WALTERS,
of Clearfield.

JURY COMMISSIONER:

JACOB A. FAUST,
of Clearfield.

AUDITOR:

D. A. RONALD WISE,
of Elk.

CORONER:

SAMUEL A. CALDWELL,
of Elk.

A Happy Day Coming.

The Radical elements are being greatly disturbed throughout the country.

Grant's administration, being conducted on the "gift enterprise" plan, is breeding dissension, because of the imbecility and rascality of his appointees.

If he appoints an honest man to office, it is an accident, not the rule.

The great majority of his party know and see this, and give Democrats but little trouble to convict the "soi-disant" leaders of all manner of crime.

In many localities where Radicalism has reigned supreme ever since its advent, the honest portion of the party have met and nominated competent and honest men for office, outside of the old rings. This movement has produced a prodigious howl from the throats of the "dogs in the manger," which however, augurs well for the country.

To still further illustrate our position, we reproduce an article taken from a late number of that excellent and influential newspaper, the Pittsburgh Commercial, which is working nobly to rescue the State and Nation from a band of robbers and buffoons.

While lamenting over "our cause," the editor in question, while uttering many other noble sentiments, says:

The State of New York is hopelessly lost, and the Republicans are the only ones left who can save us.

Majority five years ago, we are to-day a a minority. The party has been betrayed by its pretended friends. A score of bold politicians have deserted the party for the sake of position.

For all purposes of public usefulness the party in New York is dead, and the numerous black Republican press is murdered by lobbyists and traitors.

Are we to have such a state of affairs in Pennsylvania?

Loyal and intelligent Republicans ask themselves how are we to be helped New York and the Republic? The Republicans are majority five years ago, we are to-day a minority. The party has been betrayed by its pretended friends. A score of bold politicians have deserted the party for the sake of

position.

Now, you have an opportunity of rescuing your party from the damnation of a "dog in the manger."

Timid will talk of division and defeat. King masters will never reform anything and never will. Even the able, pure, incorrigible must in office, who will not do it, will do it, and then they will be respected public stations.

You will do a real practical service in the interests of purity and refinement, if you do it. Will you not wait until the Republicans have been murdered for ever. —N. Y. Herald.

NEGLIGE ALL THE TIME.—In the interest of the cotton manufacturers of New England the Radicals in Congress, while voting to take the duy of oil a Pennsylvania production, and while reducing the duty on iron, another Pennsylvania production, raised the duty on cotton fabrics.

The bill which passed the House on Monday of last week provides that for every yard of unbleached cotton imported 5 cents per yard shall be paid, and 10 per cent ad valorem; and on all colored, stained or printed cottons 5 cents per yard and 20 per cent ad valorem.

These duties which are to be levied on foreign manufacturers for the privileges of the market are to be levied on foreign cottons to the same extent as on domestic.

This does not excuse Napoleon for plundering Europe in a war upon a weaker power; this is what he pays the government. Now, let us see what he pays the steel makers, and I quote again from Mr. Brunot: "We made twenty-five thousand tons of steel last year; on this the consumer paid $1,580,000 into the pockets of the steel makers. Adding together the sum paid into the United States Treasury, and into the steel manufacturers' pocket and you have a little over three millions of dollars paid by the steel consumers for the privilege of using the product of the foreign manufacturers."

DEMOCRACY.—The Bloomsburg

Journal learns that A. P. Fowler, Treasurer of the Cock Robin Iron Works of Danville, and formerly Cashier of the First National Bank of that place, is a defaulter to a large amount, and has absconded.

The liabilities of the Company are placed at $10,000 to $137,000.

Assets not known, but we understand that it is claimed they will pay seventy-five five per cent of their indebtedness.

No information has been received as to the whereabouts of Fowler.

DEATH.—Monsieur Pardon, French Minister Plenipotentiary, shot himself at Washington, on the 20th. He had just been appointed and arrived in Washington a week previous to committing the fatal deed.

English, German, and French Court squares praise him highly as an accomplished statesman and gentleman.

No cause is assigned for the rash act.

DEATH.—Gen. Wm. A. Leech, Register of Wills of Philadelphia, died in that city on the 20th, after a lingering illness. The city has lost an excellent officer, and the Democratic party a bold defender.

DEAD.—Gen. Wm. A. Leech, Register of Wills of Philadelphia, died in

that city on the 20th, after a lingering

illness. The city has lost an excellent

officer, and the Democratic party a

bold defender.

DEATH.—Gen. Wm. A. Leech, Register of Wills of Philadelphia, died in

that city on the 20th, after a lingering

illness. The city has lost an excellent

officer, and the Democratic party a

bold defender.

DEATH.—Gen. Wm. A. Leech, Register of Wills of Philadelphia, died in

that city on the 20th, after a lingering

illness. The city has lost an excellent

officer, and the Democratic party a

bold defender.

DEATH.—Gen. Wm. A. Leech, Register of Wills of Philadelphia, died in

that city on the 20th, after a lingering

illness. The city has lost an excellent

officer, and the Democratic party a

bold defender.

DEATH.—Gen. Wm. A. Leech, Register of Wills of Philadelphia, died in

that city on the 20th, after a lingering

illness. The city has lost an excellent

officer, and the Democratic party a

bold defender.

DEATH.—Gen. Wm. A. Leech, Register of Wills of Philadelphia, died in

that city on the 20th, after a lingering

illness. The city has lost an excellent

officer, and the Democratic party a

bold defender.

DEATH.—Gen. Wm. A. Leech, Register of Wills of Philadelphia, died in

that city on the 20th, after a lingering

illness. The city has lost an excellent

officer, and the Democratic party a bold defender.

DEATH.—Gen. Wm. A. Leech, Regis-