THE times are hard; you'd like to know How you may eave your dollars; se way to do it I will show, If you will road what follows.

A man who lived not far from here, Who worked hard at his trade, But had a household to support That squandered all he made.

I met him once. Saye he, "My friend, I look thread bear and rough; I've tried to get myself a suit, But can't save up enough." Says I, my friend, how much have you?
I'll tell you where to go.
To get a sult that's sound and cheap:
To REIZENSTEIN & Co.

He took what little he had saved, And wont to Reisenstein & Brothers', And there he got a handsome suit, For half he paid to others.

Now he is home, he looks so wall, And their effect is such, That when they take their daily meal, They don't eat helf as much.

And now he finds on Bazurday night, With all their wants supplied. That he has money left to spend, And some to lay aside. His good success, with cheerful smile, He gladly tells to all. If you'd sure money, go and huy Your clothes at—
