

THE REPUBLICAN.

CLEARFIELD, PA.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, DEC. 14, 1870.

HOW COULD IT

He carried my child to school,
And we through the drifts carried, too;
Could I think why he lagged me so slow,
If I could, how could I tell you?
At eve, he tied under my chin
The bright of any he knew;
I looked and looked down—could I help it?
If I could, how could I tell you?
He told me my eyes were so black,
The bright of any he knew;
I looked and looked down—could I help it?
If I could, how could I tell you?
He told me my eyes were so black,
The bright of any he knew;
I looked and looked down—could I help it?
If I could, how could I tell you?

[From the N. Y. Day Book.]
The White Republic of 1870, or
The New Nation of 1860.

This is the issue to be "tried on" by the American people in 1872, and it is the most tremendous issue, not only of this generation, but of our whole history, not even excepting that of 1776, which was to determine whether we should be conquered rebels or emerge a new power among the nations of Christendom. True, its decision is not necessarily final—we must and will restore the White Republic, of course, for it is not to be supposed that it will absolutely perish from the earth; but we are, to determine, in 1870, whether we shall do it peacefully, through the ballot-box, or whether that final restoration is to be reached through civil war, blood and horror unparalleled in this or any other generation of men. And to understand this tremendous issue now impending over the country, a few brief facts are alone needed to render it so clear, that a man may run and read it, and though a fool must understand it.

For some fifty years the whole moral and material weight of the British government has been wielded, as declared by the late Lord Aberdeen, to "abolish slavery" in America, that is, to delude and force the American people to "abolish" the normal condition of the negro in their midst, and thus, in a vain and monstrous effort to incorporate this foreign element into their Democratic system, undermine and break down that system forever. The European system is based on artificial distinctions of class—kings, lords and commons—that is, they are all white people, all the same race, with the same nature and the same wants, but the few have the education, wealth, power, in short, the government in their hands, and thus, generation after generation, doom the great, ignorant, toiling millions of their kind to abject submission.

The American system, organized by the men of 1776, is based on the natural distinctions of race, and therefore in utter and irrepressible conflict with the European, and if it can be debauched, undermined, and ruined by amalgamation with the lower races of the Continent, of course and of necessity the old European order of class distinctions must needs blot out Democracy from the New World as well as the Old. Indeed, the chances for liberty, the hope of the toiling millions of our kind, would be vastly less in the New World, for the working classes, degraded to a level with negroes, Indians, Chinese, &c., the whole mighty Continent, as now witnessed in Mexico and South America, would alternate from brutal despotism to wild and horrid anarchy for centuries to come, or until some peer and nobler nation of the Old World again conquered the Continent, and social order began again as it was organized by Washington and the glorious men of 1776, and as it remained until 1860, when the lunatic and traitorous tools of England elected Abe Lincoln, and began their devil's dance for the ruin of their country. These traitorous lunatics, first maddening the Northern masses under the mask of a war for the Union, now throw off that mask and admit that they have overthrown it, and claim to have set up a New Nation on the ruins of the Republic of Washington. Instead of the Federal Union of self-governing States and a homogeneous citizenship, they declare that they have established a Mongrel citizenship and given Congress the power to enforce their "amendments," and for five years past it has done so by standing armies south of the Potomac, and taxed the people some five hundred millions to degrade them to a sinful and bestial level with negroes!

So stands the case—the White Republic of 1860 and the "New Nation" of 1870—the former based on the natural distinctions of race fashioned by the hand of God, and the latter based on a Mongrel citizenship propped up by standing armies, for Mongrelism, or so-called freedom of negroes, is only temporarily possible by brute force. What an astounding thing for future generations to contemplate—the once great, proud American people degraded down to a level with the Portuguese, Spaniards, and other vile and worn out populations, that amalgam and mongrelize with negroes, Indians, &c.! How is it possible for an hour, this awful, bestial, in a word, this impious and monstrous effort at social suicide, so hideous, revolting and damnable, that coming generations—if the country is saved—will doubt if their progenitors could ever reach a degradation so horrible, so fathomless! Well, the cause is briefly and simply the "Democratic Party," that stands in the way and hides the enormous madness and treason of the party in power from the masses. The leaders, or followers rather—the mere mercenary, of free-seeking crowd, want places, want to be members of Congress, Senators, to sit cheek by jowl with mule men and niggers, to be governors of States, mayors, &c., and think the road to this is to say nothing, to talk clap-trap about the "principles of the Democratic Party," and thus to gather all, as they fancy, in their net! The fools, oh! the fools!—the ignorant, stupid, miserable fools! for, after all, their ignorance of the "situation" is the greatest calamity of all. They fancy that it makes but little difference whether negroes are "slaves" or "free" and with the same ignorance as the Abolitionists, the same mental habits, they are without conscience, and are equally ready to own a slave to-day or ask for a negro vote to-morrow. Here is the evil, the danger, the fatal fact of the hour, and this "Democratic Party" must be forced to stand by the White Republic of 1860, or it must be demolished at once, and a true, brave, earnest, manly Democracy, that grapples with the Mongrel monster, brought into the field for 1872. Every man that assents to negro "freedom" assents, of course, to Mongrelism and to transforming his own posterity into niggers. He may say he does not wish his daughter to mate with a black nigger, but if he assents to political Mongrelism, and, however stupidly, ignorantly or blindly, aids in forcing his own posterity to mingle their blood with the negro, let every man understand this frightful truth, and if his posterity is saved from the hideous doom of Mexico and South America, it is because, despite his ignorance, cowardice and want of patriotism, amalgamation is impossible, and after fifty years of social anarchy, the people will return to the White Republic of 1860, not merely because it is best, but because Mongrelism is death and utter destruction. In conclusion, then, let us all rally now to the "Union as it was" in 1860, and make that the test, and the only test, of Democracy, and in 1872 we can sweep Mongrelism from the land forever, and save ourselves and our children from the fearful necessity of years of bloody anarchy and horrors unspeakable—to come back at last to the Republic of 1860.

ANIMALS LOVE MAN—It is perfectly natural that man should have an friendly feeling toward wild beasts, and that the instinct of self-preservation should lead them to destroy them. But it is shocking that useful and domestic animals should tremble and fly at his approach, or that they should suffer and perish through his cruelty. We believe with the Bishop of Chalons, that "it is a crime and a sign of a wicked heart, to take pleasure in tormenting animals and making them suffer. It is indeed unchristian."

Almost all domestic animals are naturally affectionate; they love man, become attached to him, and show their feelings in ways that are often intelligent and instructive. If instead of training animals by cruelty and abuse, man would treat them kindly and affectionately, he would be like the monarchs of the golden age, the king of nature adored by his subjects.

A Richmond correspondent of the World says, the Radical party in that city numbers two hundred white men, and five thousand five hundred negroes. What a sweet party this combination must make.

"Little" Delaware did much better than was first reported. Ponder Democrat for Governor, has nearly double 2,500 majority; or nearly that given for Salisbury, for Governor, in 1866.

The first question asked of each prominent visitor to Washington now is: "Have you declined the mission to England?"
