LOVE'S PHILOSOPHY.

BY PERCY BYREND BREPLEY.

The fountains mingle with the river, And the rivers with the occan; The winds of beaven min forever With a sweet emotion: Nothing in the world is single; All things by a law divine In one another's being mingle— Why not I with thine?

See, the mountains kiss high heaven,
And the waves slaap one another;
No sister flewer could be fregiven.
If it diesained its brother:
And the montheams kiss the sea;
What are all these kirsings worth,
If thou kiss not me?

A Thousand Years Ago --- Strange Coincidence of History.

It is certainly one of the greatest curiosities in history that exactly one thousand years ago, in the year of our Lord 870, the people of Franco and Germany fought under their kings upon the same soil, that of Lorenine, for very nearly the same reason, and with the same result. This happened as follows: The empire of Charle and that of his son who succeeded him Ludwig I, called the Pious, was di vided by his three sons, the grandsons of Charlemagne, 840, at the Congress of Verdon, between themselves in such NEW SERIES-VOL. 12, NO. 6. a manner that Lothnice received, be sides the title of emperor, Italy and what was then called Middle Franall laws and ordinance to enable them conia, a strip of land running from the
