"I Have a Little Myself."

The New York World's Washington correspondent stands father for the following statement as to the po-sition of Gen. Grant, on the reform movements: "A little less than year ago several far-sighted Republican Members of Congress, who saw that these questions must be met half way by the Republican party, constituted themselves into a delegation and called on the President to talk over the coming situation. For a me ment be seemed quite impressed with the suggestion, then said: 'Yes, gentlemen, I think myself there ought to be a revision of the tariff; but we ought to proceed very cautiously, indeed. We ought to be very careful in touching those articles in which there is a great deal of capital invested. There is iron, for instance,-pigiron. Millions of dollars are invested in it, (I have a little myself invested in iron,) and Congress ought not to disturb the interest in it without weighing the consequences. The delegation were so impressed with the parenthetical argument of the President that they did not deem it worth while to continue the conversation .-The words of the President are given as nearly as the Republican member, who was present, can remember them." General Grant may be in the same condition with reference to San Domingo. He may have a little invested in that movement, and hence the use of the navy, the usurpation of the "kingly prerogative."—Age.

Can This be True.

A correspondent who seems to be perfectly informed respecting that which he affirms sends us the following surprising statement:

"Major Isaac Lynde, father in law of Gen. Fred. Dent, President Grant's brother-in-law, now serving as principle usher at the White House, surrendered the Seventh Infantry to the rebels in Texas in the year 1861 and was immediately dismissed from the service by President Lincoln.
"On the 28th of July, 1866, Gen.

Grant procured from Andrew Johnson, with whom he was then on the best of terms, an order reinstating Lynde in the army and another order putting him on the retired list. There he is now, drawing pay as a retired military officer of the United States from the Government which he did his best to destroy. The records of the War Department will show how infamous Lynde's conduct was in this

Will not some independent member of Congress have this case investigated? And will not the country think that Grant carries his attachment to this relations rather too far when he imposes upon the taxpayers the new manual beautiful associations. Hat, French Flow used, and syphilitic affections for which it is oned. And will not the country think that Grant carries his attachment to the representation of Bonnets, Hats, French Flow used in connection with Heimbold's Ross Wash.

In many affections peculiar to ladies, the Extract Flowh is uncounted by any other rangely cessity of providing for a military man who has betrayed his trust, sim ply because he is the father in law of his brother in law?—N. Y. Sun.

Loyal Bascality.

There is in the Senate at Washington a man named Lewis, from Vir ginia. He is one of those fellows who elieve in forcing Radicalism upon the South nolens polens. The bayonet i his remedy for everything, and it is a pity that it was not applied to him during the war. The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette, thus speaks of him .

" Of all the speeches recently made in either of the Houses of Congress, or in their secret conclaves, that of the scalawag Lewis, of Virginia, delivered in the Senatorial caucus yesterday afternoon, was the most nificant, the most truthful, and the most sententious. He briefly warned his fellow conspirators that 'if some thing was not at once done,' and that 'something' decisive, there 'would be no Republican party in the South at all-black or white.' This touches the very marrow of the grave question at issue. The people of that School Books and Stationery-including the Os-down trodden section, without regard good and National Series of Readers.
