LETTER FROM NEW WASHINGTON.—

July 21st, 1871.

Ms. Kutton:—While reading the local columns of your paper I find you have through correspondents the news from different pasts of the county, and I think the business and improvements of this place is worthy the notice of your readers. On account of doods being scarce: this season none of the lumber has went to market from this part of the county, which makes business a hitle duil. Notwithstanding all this some of our enterprising citizens are pulling hard against the stream, and are boilding new and repairing old buildings which adds much to the appearance of our town. The new hotel built by Dr. S. Mc. is now complete and is a specimen of magnificent and elaborate work-machine. This boses has been creeted and furnished without regard to cost, and is now ready for the reception of guests. Don't forget to call. Our enterprising friend Mr. J. B. Mc. has also built an addition to his store-room and enlarged his stock of goods, which is now the best in the upper end of the county. Morers. B. A S. who have lately started an extensive saddlery and harness shop are doing a whole-soul business. We wish them success. The New York Circus exhibited here a short time ago, which drew a very large crowd of people, but I think none went away any wiser than when they came. We think this was the greatest humbing ever we saw traveling on wheels. The mammoth company consisted of about fafteen broken wagons, and forty horses and two blind panies, and the holes in the cauves reminded me of the stars in the heavers. The Academy in this place is in a flourishing condition. The first part of the term closed on Friday last, and or the main direction of the Frofessor, G. W. The first part of the term closed on Friday last, and a grand exhibition was given by the students, ander the main direction of the Professor, G. W. I. The exhibition was one of the best we ever listened to, and we think is a credit to the parties engaged. Among the performances was a song song by the small girls, entitled "Pretty Jeminah, don't say no;" after which came the paper, entitled "The Spy," which was read by the Editress. Miss S. M., and was very spicy, and well suited to the tastes of every one. Our school is now in its intancy, but we think by the advancement that is being made that at the end of the term it will be old enough to turn out many capable of taking is being made that at the end of the term it will be old enough to turn out many capable of taking charge of some of the schools of our own county. A couple of our aimable young men, Messre, J. A. and W. T., are going to canvass the county of Cambria with a valuable work. May they be successful. If anything of importance occurs you may hear from me again.

Yours, Gossip.

He received notice that a box containing "watches and other smalries" to considerable value, (we have not heard the exact amount,) had been shipped to him, and that he could obtain these goods by calling at the express office, at Pottstown, and paying, $55 "collect on delivery." Mr. Very Green raised the funds, came here and paid over the money, and obtained his treasure box. As he was about leaving he was advised by the Express Agent, who, having seen such boxes before, "suspected something" in this case, to open his box and examine the goods before leaving the office. At first he demarred a little, "believing not," &c., but finally concluded that perhaps it would be best to do so. The box was opened and Mr. Green was astonished, (though the express people were not,) to find that it contained nothing but some small blocks of pine wood, saw dust, &c. The chap looked blank county, said that he "would be darned if he was not fooled that time," and made sundry other ejaculations that we shall not repeat. He was directed to go and make affidarit for the content of his box, that they were not such as he expected to esseive. &c. and it does content fine, by writer of
