THE UNPROFITABLE SERVANT.

In a mapkin smooth and white,

Hidden from all mortal night, My one talent lies to-night.

Mine to heard, or mine to use Mine to keep, or mine to lose, May I not do what I choose?

Ah! the gift was only lent, With the Giver's known intent That it should be wirely spent.

And I know He will domand' Every furthing at my hand, When I in his presence stand.

What will be my grief and shauto When I hear my humble name, And cannot repay his claim:

One poor talest,—nothing more? All the years that have gone o'er Have not added to the store.

Some will double what they hald, Otherwood to it ten fold And pay book the chining gold.

Would that I had toiled like them! All my sloth I now condamn: Guilty fears my seel o'erwhelm.

Lonn, O teach me what to do, Make me faithful, make me true,

And the secred trust renew!

Help me, ere too late it be, Something yet to do for Thee, Then who hast done all for me!
