If we have been betrayed into hard words in this article, the reader must recollect that it is a hard subject. We are not writing for Democrats only, but for all lovers of liberty. The object is to arouse that deference and reverence for liberty and law which characterized our forefathers. That our libertles are one after another absorbed by the acts of the men in power, cannot be disputed. Our fathere bequeathed to us the sacred mantle of liberty. It is our duty to preserve it for the benefit of our pos tority. This can only be done by that 'eternal vigilance," which Jefferson said, "is the prince of liberty." Let then the honest minds get upon their own intelligence; let them manifest the qualities of their hearts, and the be equal to the dignity of their own understandings, and they will even yet be the instruments in the hands of God, of saving their country, and pre-
