No man is more familiar with the affairs of the Commonwealth. If elected, no abuse or corruption will be permitted to nestly under his administration. There will be no public scandal job, and no greedy speculations with the money of the Commonwealth. But the government of the State will be brought back to the parity which distinguished the best administration of the past. The Reading convention has answered in this nomination the carneat cry of the people for reform.

For Judge of the Supreme Court the flon. James Thompson has received a nomination by acclamation. This is a just tribute to the eminent ability, purity and worth of that distinguished jurist. Judge Thompson has abeen tried for fifteen years on the supreme bench, and has met the high expectations of the popple. His services are written in the laws of the Commonwealth. Against him the Radicals have nominated the Hon. Ulysses Mcrear. Judge Mercun has had little experience on the bench. All three of these names are well known to the Democracy of the State. Mr. Vaux, who represents the Democracy of the east, held the office of Mayor of Philadelphia some years ago, and enjoys great popularity in that city. Though sometimes altra and impracticable in his views he has always had a high place in the councils of the party, who have done justice to his innesty of purpose when differing fermed him the most. The Ham Hendrick B.
