The convention then adjourned until 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning second day's proceedings.

At a quarter after 10 o'clock, Mr. Doolittle, the Chairman, announced that the hour to which the Convention adjourned had arrived, and called the Convention to order.

He called upon the Rev. Dr. Leysburn of Baltimore, who addressed the Throne of Grace.

PRAYER. Almighty and most merciful God, Thou art the God of nations as well as of individuals.

Thou art the God of the world as well as of the nations of heaven as among the inhabitants of the earth, and we desire to feel this day, when we come into Thy presence, that promotion cometh neither from the North, nor from the South, nor from the East, nor from the West; but that God above raiseth up one and casteth down another.

We would recognize in Thee the God of prosperity, the God of advancement, the God of wisdom, the God of success in all our undertakings and enterprises, and we desire to rejoice that Thou hast given us so much encouragement to expect Thy favoring providence in the future as we have received it in the past. It has pleased Thee to give us our heritage in a broad and a goodly land. It has pleased Thee to give us our existence in an epoch of the world's history that is full of promise and full of opportunity for a vast and glorious future. And Almighty God, as we are assembled here to-day, representatives from all parts of this great nation, we desire to ask of Thee that wisdom which is requisite and necessary to the present exigency. We pray that Thy servant who presides over this Convention may have guidance from on high in order that he may rightly administer his position.

W. A. B. BURR, Chairman of the Convention, presided over the Convention, and in all the speaking, and in all the devices and designs that are entered upon here, there may be given such unanimity and such wisdom of counsel as that they shall issue in a decision that shall be for the best interests of this great republic.

Almighty God, we pray that harmony may not only prevail in these counsels, but that harmony may be there by diffused over all this land, and that from this day forth we may enter upon a new and happier and better epoch even than those that have passed into the previous history of the land; that there may be no North, no South, no East, no West; but all gathered together in one common brotherhood, in one noble manhood, we may be permitted to enjoy ourselves and to perpetuate for our posterity those glorious institutions which Thou hast conferred upon us as our only heritage, all of which we owe only through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Mr. A. E. Burr, of Connecticut, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, announced that the Committee were ready to report, and asked the Clerk to read in the first place the introductory paragraph of the report.

Mr. Burr explained that the resolutions were the Cincinnati platform exactly, nothing added, nothing excluded. This platform was adopted in Cincinnati by all the States except Delaware, Mississippi, Georgia, and Oregon. He moved the adoption of the report, and moved the previous question.

Mr. Bayard, of Delaware, inquired whether the previous question, which was another name for the gag law, had become the law of the Democratic Convention without notice to the delegates.

The Chair said that this Convention had adopted the rule of the House of Representatives, and that the gag law was in order, and not open to debate. Various gentlemen appealed for the withdrawal of the motion, in order to allow a short debate.

Mr. Burr said he felt compelled to decline.

The secretary, Mr. Perrin, began to read the preamble, but his voice was drowned in deafening applause. At the request of a delegate the entire platform was then read by Mr. Perrin, the enthusiasm of each principle bringing forth great applause, particularly the parts relating to the removal of disabilities, the one term for President and the remission of the adjustment of the tariff to the different congressional districts. On the conclusion delegates rose and cheered, but the president rapped to order, and Mr. Burr said the resolutions were voted for by every State except Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama and Delaware. He moved its adoption, and asked for the previous question.

As various states voted in the affirmative, the announcement was received with applause, particularly when Maryland cast her six votes on that side, and New York her seventy, Virginia her twenty-two and South Carolina her sixteen, when the final vote was announced, the applause broke forth uncontrolled, and continued for some minutes.

The roll of States was then called upon the adoption of the resolutions with the following result.

Table with 3 columns: State, Votes, Total. Includes Alabama, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

The blank votes were: Florida, 2; New Jersey, 9; West Virginia, 2; Total, 13.

On motion of Mr. Chalmers, of Mississippi, the nomination was made unanimous.

Mr. Boeck, of Wisconsin, offered a resolution appointing a committee of one from each State, to be named by the respective delegations, to apprise the candidates of their nomination.

Mr. Bayard, of Ohio, moved to amend by adding the president of the convention, and that he be the chairman. Agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Heaton, of Ohio, a resolution was adopted that on adjournment the convention would, with music, escort the New York and Missouri delegations to their quarters. A resolution was adopted leaving the place of the next national convention to be decided by the national committee.

reading from the stage to the end of the house. He expatiated the appearance of parties in the Fifth avenue (New York) conference as representatives of the German element, and asks the convention to accept Horace Greeley.

His reading was received with great applause.

VOTING FOR CANDIDATES. Mr. Ray, of Indiana, then moved to proceed to the nomination of candidates for President and Vice President, the vote to be taken by states. Adopted.

Hon. S. C. Cox offered a resolution that the chairman of each delegation shall announce the vote of his state, and his announcement shall be taken without question. Adopted.

CALL OF THE STATES. The roll of the States was then called, and Alabama led off with twenty votes for Horace Greeley, New York, when the whole convention rose en masse and cheered.

Cheer after cheer rent the air; hands were thrown up; Arkansas, California and Connecticut followed with unanimous votes, all of which were received with cheers.

When Delaware was reached her six votes were cast for Hon. James A. Bayard, of that State, father of Senator Bayard.

Georgia cast four votes blank and eighteen for Horace Greeley. State after State then followed in unanimous votes for Horace Greeley, the announcement of each being received with cheers.

When the State of New York was reached her seventy delegates rose simultaneously in their places, which was responded to by the rising of the convention en masse and saluting the representatives of that great State with rousing cheers, which the delegation acknowledged by bowing.

Ten cheers were again given for New York and for Gov. Hoffman, who then added to the Greeley column the magnificent vote of his delegation, and said New York would give more majority for Greeley than Missouri would cast votes. [Great cheering.]

He then expressed his regret at the vote of Delaware and New Jersey.—New York was a Democratic State; it had 40,000 Democratic votes, yet for the sake of that which was above all party it was ready to make a sacrifice of all past prejudices, and it asked others to do the same.

GREENEY NOMINATED. Horace Greeley was nominated for President on the first ballot, all the States voting for him except Delaware and New Jersey, the latter of which was divided, and voted nine for Greeley and nine for Bayard, of Delaware. The vote stood—

UNANIMOUS. After the chair had announced the result, Mr. Wallace, Chairman of the Pennsylvania delegation, arose and said:

Mr. Chairman: Pennsylvania, second only in point of population, the equal of any in the virtue, intelligence and patriotism of her people—Pennsylvania, the pivotal State in this contest—asks to be heard. In obedience to a divided sentiment among the Democracy of the great Commonwealth we represent, a part of this delegation has cast its vote against the gentleman who, in accordance with the rules and usages of the organization, is now its nominee. The men we have thus sought to represent, from their characteristics of race, of teaching and of thought are slow to move. They are cautious in movement and steady of purpose and they regard with suspicion and distrust every departure from the doctrines of their fathers. They have seen no reason to reverse their traditions or to choose as their leader one who has retrograded behind the embodiment of antagonism to every thought and purpose of their minds, but, sir, they are proud of their organization for they are the men who created it; they desire to perpetuate its existence in order that its glorious record and its benefits may be the heritage of their children and they will yield obedience to its discipline.

They will accept the result that the result of the last report, the high court of their party has decreed, and in October, under the lead of a statesman of national reputation, will concentrate their forces in an invincible phalanx that shall smite with destroying power the ranks of a disorganized and divided enemy.

Pennsylvania, following the standard of the Democracy, in the hands of its now accepted candidate, waits to lead the column to victory.

Sir, on behalf of the Pennsylvania delegation, and in obedience to its instructions I move that this nomination be unanimous.

Wild cheers and the band played "Hail to the Chief." When the music ceased a scene was lowered at the rear of the stage presenting a view of the White House.—[Applause.] Order being restored the motion of Mr. Wallace that the nomination be unanimous was put and carried, with one or two dissenters. The roll was then called on the nomination for Vice President, resulting as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Name, Votes. Includes Brown, Stevenson, Black.

The blank votes were: Florida, 2; New Jersey, 9; West Virginia, 2; Total, 13.

On motion of Mr. Chalmers, of Mississippi, the nomination was made unanimous.

Mr. Boeck, of Wisconsin, offered a resolution appointing a committee of one from each State, to be named by the respective delegations, to apprise the candidates of their nomination.

Mr. Bayard, of Ohio, moved to amend by adding the president of the convention, and that he be the chairman. Agreed to.

T. Ford, to Frederick Paino and to Baltimore city for courtesies. Also, thanks to Mr. Doolittle for the able and impartial manner in which he presided over the convention.

Mr. Thayer, of New York, made a few remarks eulogistic of Mr. Greeley. The chairman returned thanks for the kind expression toward him, and invoked the blessing of Providence on the efforts of the convention.

Mr. Hines, of Kentucky, offered a resolution of thanks to E. O. Perrin, reading secretary, which was adopted. A resolution of thanks to the sergeant-at-arms and other officers was adopted. Also, to F. O. Prince as secretary to the national committee.

At one p. m. the convention adjourned sine die.

IMPORTANT TRUTHS: Having succeeded in getting a lighter tariff on material, hence the low and moderate charge for partial and full sets of Teeth. I use the best manufacture of teeth and other material. All operations registered and warranted to give service and satisfaction.

Friends, reflect on my charges for the insertion of artificial and the saving of the natural teeth are now the most reasonable in Pennsylvania. Preserve your teeth and you preserve your health.

It would be well for patients from a distance to let me know by mail a few days before coming to the office. Assurances that children between the ages of six and twelve years should have their teeth examined.

Dispositions and character are judged by all the world by the expressions of the face, hence very dissimilar may it therefore be for persons to indulge an expression of distorted features, even apart from a hygienic view. Now, to enjoy natural teeth, artificial dentures and pleasant respect and enjoy natural simplicity and instinct.
