MEANS OF IMPROVEMENT. I have no new suggestions to make with regard to changes or improve-ments in the school law, but experience confirms my convictions of the necessity of such changes as I have heretofore recommended. The num-ber of directors should certainly be reduced to three, as the business of the district would be as well attended to as it now is, and these should be paid a reasonable compensation for the time actually spent in the discensioners, and the public generally, that we are charge of their duties.

Length of Time.—This is now five

It will be a decided advantage to a Superintendent in this county. If all the schools have been visited once, of all kinds of Merchandize ever brought to Clearduring a four months' term, spending field county, which we intend to sell at such fig half a day in each, sixty-six can be visited the second time, by or additional month.

their schools. No one movement would satisfy all. Our stock of I think accomplish more for the benefit of the schools, decrease tardiness and absence, and have a greater tendency to awaken pupils and paaffairs. Impartially and wisely enforced by teachers, in due time parents and friends of education through out the country would endorse them

Non-Attentiance.—About five hun-dred children, of proper school age, did not attend school during the year; or so seldom that it was of no practical advantage, but a great disadvantage to those that did attend. That there we have a large stock of ready-made Clothing should be so many children growing for Men and Boys' wear, which we will dispose of ap in ignorance, some of them in sight of school houses, and nearly all in reach of ample school accomodations, provided for their advantage, Queensware, Wood and Willow Ware, Netions, is a subject that should receive the im- Fancy Goods, Carpets, Oileloths, Wall Papers, mediate attention of every true friend Window Shades, &c., &c. of education. Their knowledge or opinions are generally obtained from their children, who are invariably honest, but eften mistaken; consequently the efficiency of the school is seriously interfered with by unfounded reports. Let all persons, who have an interest in the welfare of our schools, visit the school room more frequently; and if they see errors in the teacher or defeets in the methods of teaching, they then have, and not until then, the legal right to remind the teacher, notify the directors and superinten-

School Examinations were beld at the close of the term, by a large num-ber of teachers. A few beld monthly examinations with good effect. The houses were crowded by auxious parents and friends of education, and the exercises were generally thorough. They are commendable, for they contribute much to the interest of the school and practical instruction. A few conducted theirs on the parrot principle, which was degrading, and certainly proved injurious to the children. There should be a distinction, however, between the abuse of a thing and the thing itself.

Conclusion.-My last election hav-ing been declared filegal, on account af an oversight in law by the Attor-ney in the organization of the Bridge-port Independent District, and not eing an applicant for appointment, this report will close my official con-nection with the schools of the county. I shall ever cherish and remember the honor that has been three times conferred by the directors of the county, and for the many acts of kindness received at their hands. To the teachers for their confidence and support; to the children for their many little tokens of regard; and to the DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, many friends all over the country, whose hospitality I have so often en joyed, I return my most sincere and heartfelt thanks. I have onjoyed the labors of my position more than those of any other to which I was ever called. I labored earnestly and diligently, with but one great object in -the best interests, morally, socially and intellectually, of the seven thousand children under my charge That I failed in some particulars to meet the requirements of all, I am quite willing to admit, as I lay no claim to the rare gem of perfection. But if I did what might reasonably have been expected to elevate the produce at the Chesp Corner. Inter-ested as I ever hope to be in the schools of the county, I trust I may, for many years to come, meet with the teachers at their periodical gatherings and contribute my mite to-wards elevating the standard of eduerings and contribute my mite to wards elevating the standard of education and erente a still more liberal public sentiment. May the schools of this county rise to the level of the ures. A large stock of most advanced in the State, is my highest ambition and my earnest wish. May God speed the great cause of common school education shall ever be my invocation.

Friends, reflect that my charges for the insertion of artificial and the caving of the natural teeth are now the montreasonable in Pennsylvania. Preserve your teeth and you preserve your health. It would be well for patients from a distance to let me know by mail a few days before coming to the office.

It is very important that children between the ages of six and twelve years should have their teeth examined.

Dispositions and character are judged by all the world by the expressions of the face, hence how very disastrous may it therefore be for persons to indulge an expression of distorted features, even apart from a hygienic view. How to Save Money. THE times are bard; you'd like to know How you may sare your dellars; The way to do it I will show, If you will read what follows.

A man who lived not far from here, Who worked hard at his trade, But had a household to support That squandered all he made.

I met him once. Says he, "My friend, I look threadbare and rough; I've tried to get myself a suit, But can't save up enough." Says I, my friend, how much have you?

I'll tell you where to go
To get a suit that's sound and cheap:
To REIZENSTEIN & Co. He took what little he had saved, And went to Relicenstein & Brothern', And there he got a handsome suit, For half he paid to others.

Now he is home, he looks so well, And their effect is such, That when they take their daily meal, They don't eat half as much. And now he finds on Saturday night, With all their wants supplied, That he has money left to spend, And some to lay aride.

His good success, with cheerful smile, He giadly tells to all, If you'd save money, go and buy Your clothes at—
