

THE REPUBLICAN.

CLEARFIELD, PA. WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEB. 3, 1873.

The Springfield Republican has a Washington correspondent who writes: A private letter from a very intelligent source at Washington, says: "If I only dared to tell you what I know of the lying and twisting of members whose names were on the McComb Credit Mobilier list, you would be startled. As for Dawes, he told Ames to tell the whole story about him, but others whom you know are trying to lie or skulk out of all connection with the affair. Boutwell knew all about it, though I believe it is true that he never took any stock, but he did not promptly decline it. Well, I don't see how we are ever going to obtain all the facts."

The colored men of Washington have petitioned Congress to pass the Civil Rights bill in which they say: "White children are taught by white schools that colored children are inferior and are to be despised. Such are the degrading results of the separate schools system. They might have gone further and cited how President Grant and family and the leading Radicals at Washington teach their children to despise colored folks by refusing to make equals of them. The colored men's first petition should be to leading Radicals asking them to practice what they preach. Let them try this and see how they succeed."

HEARD BY THE POST MASTERS.—The House Post Office Committee has made a unanimous report in favor of reducing letter postage to two cents, and requiring pre-payment on all matter, except on weekly papers circulating in counties where they are printed. Postmasters are charged with stealing so large an amount of the newspaper postage that the department is said to suffer a loss of $1,000,000 annually. Is it possible that the postmasters are so universally engaged in petty peculations, or has Postmaster General Croswell been indulging in wholesale slander of his appointees?

THE HUNGRY LOBBY.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, says: "Now or never" is the motto of the hungry horde of lobbyists who are swarming in the lobbies of the Capitol and at the hotels. Claims for extra pay for building new steamers, land-grabbing railroad schemes, subsidies for rotten steamers on the Pacific, renewals of expired patents, personal war claims, and a hundred more little demands on the Treasury are being presented and pushed by crafty men and unscrupulous women.

DON'T BE JUBILANT YET.—Congress, as usual, starts out with an apparent firm resolve to cut down expenses, and to run the governmental machine upon principles of the most rigid economy. Its beginning in this direction for this session need therefore create no surprise nor evoke a spirit of congratulation, for it is merely a repetition of the old story. The same course has been pursued for years, and the result in the present case will not be an exception to those which have preceded it.

Speaking of the Credit Mobilier bribery investigating committee of the House of Representatives, "Sappho" says in the Sun, that "the only man in this out-and-dried committee who was not directly in the interest of the Union Pacific Railroad Ring, was Beck of Kentucky." That is good and just for Beck, but it is grossly unjust to Banks. The records and the men who know best exonerate the General. He was committed for a Pacific Railroad long before Ames figured.

One of the witnesses summoned by Caldwell for his defense is James F. Legate, of Leavenworth, of impetuous notoriety. When he takes the stand it is proposed to ask him whether he is the man alluded to in the Butler report, who offered to sell the vote of Pomeroy to Andrew Johnson for fifty thousand dollars. The answer to this question will be anxiously anticipated.

D. R. Anthony, editor of the Leavenworth Times, has been before the Caldwell Investigating Committee. He testified to having a conversation with Caldwell last summer, in which the latter said his election as Senator cost him about $30,000. Had this Caldwell been a poor devil and on trial for murder, the testimony already elicited would have hanged him a dozen times.

A misguided woman of Amherst, Mass., has devised a contrivance for the encouragement of celibacy in the shape of a self-fastening button. It needs no button hole, never needs sewing on, and will go far toward making a wife unnecessary. All spinsters who have hitherto had hopes will regard this woman as a male factor of her sex.

A Springfield (Mass) paper says: The windy beard of E. J. himself, and all his succedaneous bags of atmosphere, beswep our segment of earth from long ere dawn of yesterday through a bitter twenty-four hours of extreme winter and physical and spiritual shiverings.

The Chicago Tribune having boasted that one of its carriers has fallen heir to $15,000,000, the Louisville Courier-Journal says that if one of their carriers should say the slightest attention to so contemptible a bequest, they would discharge him on the spot.

Muskats are so scarce in Minnesota that the lovers of choice perfumes are compelled to fall back on peppermint, intergreen and sassafras extracts. One cheap, at a select party in St. Paul, was much admired because his hair was flavored with vanilla.

A Georgia judge married a runaway couple from Alabama the other day, and at the conclusion of the ceremony the groom whispered: "Judge be as light as you can away; I haven't much money and am far from home."

WISHART'S PINE TREE

TAR CORDIAL,

NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY FOR THE

Throat and Lungs.

It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, for Throat and Lung Diseases, has gained an enviable reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from these to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons throughout the States actually benefited and cured at his office. While he publishes his name, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputation—First, Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which causes irritation.

Second, It removes the cause of irritation (which prevents cough) of the mucous membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions, and purifies the blood.

Third, It is free from opium, belladonna, ipecac and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which always cough only, and disorganizes the stomach. It has a soothing effect on the stomach, acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it must hold above all others in the market.
