SURPRISE PARTIES .- Rending's most ustrious growler has enasod inveighing against the opera, and turned his attention to surprise parties. In the late Eagle the inhospitable bear thus vents his spleen : "A 'surprise party,' half of whom you do not know, and do not wish to know, whom you do not know, and do not wish to abow, each of the coming to your house regardless of whether you are sisk or well, and making a dining room or a dancing hall of your best parlor, leaving grease

As a general thing. people prefer to prepare for their friends and to lect their own time for parties. Therefore, Mr. Editor, I wish you would suggest that these things called 'surprise parties' are a nuisance to every good citizen." There is far more truth than poetry in this growl.

SHOOTING AFFRAY .- A shooting afmouth of Redbank creek, on Wednesday evening of last week, between the proprietor, Wallace Watterson, and Tilton Reynolds, of Reynoldsville, which came near ending the rafting of the latter for all future time. The story as heard by our reporter is as follows: Reynolds having imhibed a considerable amount of lightning whiskey, and concluded that he was "unster of the situation," invaded the kitchen of the hotel, and commoneed come sutrageous acts in that place; the proprietor being called in, attempted to put him out, when Reynolds turned upon him and proposed demotishing the landlord. In the mulee that ensued, the over ready pixtof of these latter days was used, and four shots were fired, one taking effect in the ome outrageous acts in that place; the proprieto and four shots were fired, one taking effect in the arm another in the head (not seriously) and the others were wild of the mark. GREAT EXCITEMENT

BUT

The bloody contest between France and Prussia is at an end for the present, so far as the slaughtering of men and the destruction of property is concerned. The Royal Jugglers no doubt pride themselves and rejoice over the result, but how linsignificant is their work when compared with the humane and shristian efforts of
