WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 16, 1873. WHEN YOU'RE DOWN.

What legions of 'fr's ads" always bless us?
When golden success lights our way!
How they smile as they softly address us,
So cordial, good hunored and gay!
But oh! when the sun of prosperity
Hath set, then how quickly they frown,
And ery out, in lones of severity.
Kick the man, don't you see he is down?

What though when you knew not a zorrow,
Your heart was open as day,
And your "friends, when they wanted to borroy
You'd oblige—and ne'er ask them to "pay?"
What though not a soul ever slighted,
As you meandered about through the town?
Your "friends" became very near sighted,
And don't seem to see you when down?

When you're "up," you are londly exalted,
And traders all sing out your praise;
When you're down, you have greatly defaulted,
And they really "don't fancy your ways."
Your style was "tip top" when you'd money,
So 'logs every socker and clown;
But now, 'ti exceedingly funny,
Things are altered, because you're down!

Oh! give me the heart that forever
Is free from the world's selfish rust,
And the soul, whose high, noble endeavt.
Is to raise fallen men from the dust.
And when, in adversity's occan,
A victim is likely to drown,
All hall to the friend whose devotion
Will lift up a man when he's "down."

would speak the rest of it to him alone. Accordingly, at an hour appointed, young Dickens made his appearance at Mr. Stanley's, note-book in hand. It was with evident hesitation that the servant ushered him into the library, the tables of which were covered with newspapers. Presently the master of the house appeared, eyed the youth suspiciously, and said:

Newspaper Stereotyping.

Perhaps the greatest improvements for facilitating the rapid introduction of newspapers, since the introduction of the power press, is that by which newspaper forms are quickly and cheaply stereotyed. In fact, it would hardly be possible to use either the Bullock or the Waiter press to print from type, as the cylinder which the stereotype form is made to fit is so small that the type could not well be held in place. Even with the Hoo presses, however, if it were not for the process of stereotyping, great difficulty would be experienced, and was folt in former years, in printing an addition of anything more than twenty or thirty thousand copies with sufficient rapidity to meet the demands of a daily newsyaper.
