THE REPUBLICAN.

CLEARFIELD, PA. WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 10, 1873, The Resolutions.

Below will be found the resolutions as reported and unanimously adopted at the Democratic State Convention, which was held at Wilkes Barre, on the 27th of August, for the purpose of ion assembled, believing that the platform of the late Democratic Convention in Ohio is sound in principle, do hereby substantially resolve, First-That the Democratic party seeks to revive no dead issues, but stands by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; supports the Federal government in all its constitutional authority, and opposes nullification and secession; defends the reserved rights of the States and the people, and opposes centralization that would impair or States and the people, and opposes centralization that would impair or destroy them. In order to preserve and maintain these rights, it insists upon a strict construction of the Federal Constitution, resists all attempts in the department of the government to usure or destroy constitutional rights or independence of other departments; opposes all interference by law with the private affairs or business of men not required by the public peace or safety, and advocates the greatest individual liberty consistent with public order. Believes in the capacity of the people for self government, and opposes all property qualifications as conditions to the rights of suffrage or eligibility to hold office; favors a liberal law; insists upon equal and exact justice to all men; opposes all monopolies and decourage in the capacity of proposes all monopolies and decourage in the capacity of the people of the deciration of principles inscribed on the rights of suffrage or eligibility to hold office; favors a liberal law; insists upon equal and exact justice to all men; opposes all monopolies and deciration of principles are proposed and maintain these rights or the people, and having no title whatever to rule over them, was a liberal intensity to report them, was a liberal at attempts to use of them, was a liberal at a stempts of the rederal Constitution.

Resolved, That every department of the government the hands of the bands of the bands out of his pockets or his pipe award for three months, and if they out of his mouth, he strolled on across the open square, followed by his wife, who seemed absorbed only in husbing the baby as it waited in fright at the profits will approach nearer to the value of the whole amount of the General Constitution.

The Syndicate.

Our government is great on Syndicates, Credit Mobilier, and other French terms, which are incomprebensible to many of our backwoods Congressmen, (Scoffeld for instance,) who are thereby led astray and actually criminate themselves inadvertently. The Pittsburgh Post, in alluding to the last Syndicate game played off on the tax payers, says:

"One of the most mysterious cractions of modern times, is that offspring of the Treasury department known as the Sydicate. Our great lexicographics word to mean "a body of Syndies;" and when you turn to

The British government is bound of these outrages on the franchises of the people, and if, in spite of their efforts to secure an honest election, the popular will is again fraudulently overborne, to adopt such measures as will result in the certain vindication of the rights of the legal voters of the commonwealth.
