

Governor Letcher the other day gave an anecdote on the convention of 1860 that must go into print. When Mr. Janney, the president of the convention, was absent, Mr. Valentine Southall, of Allegheny, was always put in the chair. "Old Val" was indigestively thin and irritable. Janney had been indisposed for a week, and the Charlottesville dyspeptic presided. During this time there was no "opening the session with prayer." Several delegates complained of the omission. Southall said sharply that it was not his duty to hunt up preachers; that was the business of the sergeant-at-arms. This officer was Nat. Thompson, of Hanover, a character. Nat. defended himself by alleging that Mr. Janney always attended to getting the persons, but if Mr. Southall thought that the sergeant ought to have a preacher on hand he would try to get one.

Terms of Subscription. If paid in advance, or within 3 months... $2 00 If paid after 3 and before 6 months... 2 50 If paid after the expiration of 6 months... 3 00

GOODLANDER & HAGERTY, Publishers.

PRINCIPLES; NOT MEN.

TERMS—$2 per annum in Advance.

VOL. 48—WHOLE NO 2362.

CLEARFIELD, PA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18, 1874.

NEW SERIES—VOL. 15, NO. 12.

Rates of Advertising. Transient advertisements, per square of 10 lines or less, 3 lines or less... $1 00 For each subsequent insertion... 50

Cards. JOHN A. GREGORY, COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT, Office in the Court House, Clearfield, Pa.

THE REPUBLICAN. I am wandering, backward wandering, in the world, and every where I go, I find that my heart is vainly beating, for it throbs in every throb of my life.

The Evils of our Patent System. Probably the greatest evils which assail our system, after the gross immorality and frauds practiced upon us by Congressmen and other high officials, are the wrongs arising from our Patent Office System.

HOME INTERESTS. The power of habit is something of which we are every day conscious. Though so much has been said and written concerning it, we need still "live upon life, precept upon precept, here a little and there a little."

A Novel Light. The London Mining Journal of a late date speaks highly of an apparatus recently devised and tested in London for the manufacture of illuminating gas.

Polish Convicts in Siberia. A St. Petersburg letter to the London Standard, contains the following: "The convicts in Siberia are divided into two categories, those condemned to hard labor, and those who are sent as settlers, and with very few exceptions, the exiled Poles now belong to the latter division."

Cards. FRANK FIELDING, A TORNBY-AT-LAW, Clearfield, Pa. Will attend to all business entrusted to him promptly and faithfully.

Cards. JOHN A. GREGORY, COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT, Office in the Court House, Clearfield, Pa.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 1. Be it enacted, etc., That every parent, guardian or other person, having control of any child, between the ages of eight and fourteen years, residing in any school district, in which a school is taught for three months or more, annually, within one mile by the nearest traveled road of the residence of such child, shall instruct or cause such child to be instructed in reading, writing, geography and arithmetic; and every person having such control of any child, shall cause such child to attend some school at least twelve weeks in each year, in the branches above named, unless the physical or mental condition of the child is such as to render such attendance unfit or impracticable; or unless the child shall be reasonably proficient in said branches.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 2. It shall be the duty of the school directors or controllers having control of any school, to prosecute for all violations of section one of this act in their district, and any person who shall violate said section one shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty cents and not more than five dollars, payable into the school treasury of the district in which he resides, for every week not exceeding twelve weeks in any one year during which he shall have failed to comply with the provision of said section, said fine when recovered to be paid into the school treasury of the district where the penalty or fine was first incurred.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 3. The school directors or controllers having control of any school where a written notice has been served by any tax payer upon any two or more of them, stating by whom, and how any such penalty has been incurred, who shall neglect for ten days after the service of such notice upon them to institute a suit for the recovery thereof, unless such owner person sooner paid without objection, or unless upon investigation during that time they shall be satisfied that no penalty has actually been incurred, shall forfeit and pay the sum of not less than five dollars nor more than fifteen dollars for each neglect, to be recovered as may hereafter be provided in any court of competent jurisdiction, such penalty when recovered to be paid to the school treasury for the use of the district in which the penalty was incurred.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 4. It shall be the duty of the directors or controllers having charge of any school, upon application, to furnish any child between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age, residing in their district, with a copy of the books, when it shall appear that the parent or guardian, having control of said child is in indigent circumstances and desirous of sending such child to school, and such books shall be paid from the treasury of the school district by orders drawn thereupon by the proper officers.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 5. The directors or controllers having charge or control of any public school in this county, shall report to the Board of Education, showing the number and result of prosecutions under this act, the number of children, if any, between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age who have not attended any school, or who have not been instructed in accordance with section one of this act.

Cards. WILLIAM A. WALLACE, DAVID L. KERR, HARRY F. WALLACE, JOHN W. WHITLEY, WALLACE & KREBS, (Successors to Wallace & Fielding), ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW, Clearfield, Pa.

Cards. JOHN A. GREGORY, COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT, Office in the Court House, Clearfield, Pa.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 6. All suits under this act shall be an action of debt in the name of the people of the State of Pennsylvania, and for the use of the district where the offence shall have been committed.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 7. Butler Clubs are all the go in Massachusetts just now. The hero of Dutch Gap is already in the field. Benjamin is aiming to be Governor of Massachusetts, the President—or a partnership with William M. Tweed, the "retired statesman."

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 8. A federal union of the various Presbyterian denominations is said to be under advisement.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 9. A quarrelsome couple were discussing the subject of epithets and tombstones, and the husband said: "My dear, what kind of a stone do you suppose they will give me when I die?" "Brimstone, my love," was the affectionate reply.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 10. A proposition has been made to erect a tower in Leicester Square, London, fifteen hundred feet high, the summit to be attained by means of a hydraulic lift.

Cards. DR. JEFFERSON LUTZ, WOODLAND, PA. Will promptly attend all calls in the line of his profession.

Cards. JOHN A. GREGORY, COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT, Office in the Court House, Clearfield, Pa.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 11. The school directors or controllers having control of any school where a written notice has been served by any tax payer upon any two or more of them, stating by whom, and how any such penalty has been incurred, who shall neglect for ten days after the service of such notice upon them to institute a suit for the recovery thereof, unless such owner person sooner paid without objection, or unless upon investigation during that time they shall be satisfied that no penalty has actually been incurred, shall forfeit and pay the sum of not less than five dollars nor more than fifteen dollars for each neglect, to be recovered as may hereafter be provided in any court of competent jurisdiction, such penalty when recovered to be paid to the school treasury for the use of the district in which the penalty was incurred.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 12. The school directors or controllers having charge of any school, upon application, to furnish any child between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age, residing in their district, with a copy of the books, when it shall appear that the parent or guardian, having control of said child is in indigent circumstances and desirous of sending such child to school, and such books shall be paid from the treasury of the school district by orders drawn thereupon by the proper officers.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 13. The school directors or controllers having charge or control of any public school in this county, shall report to the Board of Education, showing the number and result of prosecutions under this act, the number of children, if any, between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age who have not attended any school, or who have not been instructed in accordance with section one of this act.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 14. All suits under this act shall be an action of debt in the name of the people of the State of Pennsylvania, and for the use of the district where the offence shall have been committed.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 15. Butler Clubs are all the go in Massachusetts just now. The hero of Dutch Gap is already in the field. Benjamin is aiming to be Governor of Massachusetts, the President—or a partnership with William M. Tweed, the "retired statesman."

Cards. G. R. BARRETT, ATTORNEY AND COUNSELOR AT LAW, CLEARFIELD, PA. Having resigned his Judgeship, has resumed the practice of the law in his old office at Clearfield, Pa. Will attend to all business entrusted to him promptly and faithfully.

Cards. JOHN A. GREGORY, COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT, Office in the Court House, Clearfield, Pa.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 16. The school directors or controllers having charge of any school, upon application, to furnish any child between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age, residing in their district, with a copy of the books, when it shall appear that the parent or guardian, having control of said child is in indigent circumstances and desirous of sending such child to school, and such books shall be paid from the treasury of the school district by orders drawn thereupon by the proper officers.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 17. The school directors or controllers having charge or control of any public school in this county, shall report to the Board of Education, showing the number and result of prosecutions under this act, the number of children, if any, between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age who have not attended any school, or who have not been instructed in accordance with section one of this act.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 18. All suits under this act shall be an action of debt in the name of the people of the State of Pennsylvania, and for the use of the district where the offence shall have been committed.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 19. Butler Clubs are all the go in Massachusetts just now. The hero of Dutch Gap is already in the field. Benjamin is aiming to be Governor of Massachusetts, the President—or a partnership with William M. Tweed, the "retired statesman."

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 20. A quarrelsome couple were discussing the subject of epithets and tombstones, and the husband said: "My dear, what kind of a stone do you suppose they will give me when I die?" "Brimstone, my love," was the affectionate reply.

Cards. WM. M. McCULLOUGH, ATTORNEY AT LAW, CLEARFIELD, PA. Office on State Street in Western Hotel building. Legal business promptly attended to. Real estate bought and sold.

Cards. JOHN A. GREGORY, COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT, Office in the Court House, Clearfield, Pa.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 21. The school directors or controllers having charge of any school, upon application, to furnish any child between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age, residing in their district, with a copy of the books, when it shall appear that the parent or guardian, having control of said child is in indigent circumstances and desirous of sending such child to school, and such books shall be paid from the treasury of the school district by orders drawn thereupon by the proper officers.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 22. The school directors or controllers having charge or control of any public school in this county, shall report to the Board of Education, showing the number and result of prosecutions under this act, the number of children, if any, between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age who have not attended any school, or who have not been instructed in accordance with section one of this act.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 23. All suits under this act shall be an action of debt in the name of the people of the State of Pennsylvania, and for the use of the district where the offence shall have been committed.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 24. Butler Clubs are all the go in Massachusetts just now. The hero of Dutch Gap is already in the field. Benjamin is aiming to be Governor of Massachusetts, the President—or a partnership with William M. Tweed, the "retired statesman."

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 25. A quarrelsome couple were discussing the subject of epithets and tombstones, and the husband said: "My dear, what kind of a stone do you suppose they will give me when I die?" "Brimstone, my love," was the affectionate reply.

Cards. J. W. BANTZ, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, CLEARFIELD, PA. Office on State Street in Western Hotel building. All legal business entrusted to his care promptly attended to.

Cards. JOHN A. GREGORY, COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT, Office in the Court House, Clearfield, Pa.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 26. The school directors or controllers having charge of any school, upon application, to furnish any child between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age, residing in their district, with a copy of the books, when it shall appear that the parent or guardian, having control of said child is in indigent circumstances and desirous of sending such child to school, and such books shall be paid from the treasury of the school district by orders drawn thereupon by the proper officers.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 27. The school directors or controllers having charge or control of any public school in this county, shall report to the Board of Education, showing the number and result of prosecutions under this act, the number of children, if any, between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age who have not attended any school, or who have not been instructed in accordance with section one of this act.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 28. All suits under this act shall be an action of debt in the name of the people of the State of Pennsylvania, and for the use of the district where the offence shall have been committed.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 29. Butler Clubs are all the go in Massachusetts just now. The hero of Dutch Gap is already in the field. Benjamin is aiming to be Governor of Massachusetts, the President—or a partnership with William M. Tweed, the "retired statesman."

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 30. A quarrelsome couple were discussing the subject of epithets and tombstones, and the husband said: "My dear, what kind of a stone do you suppose they will give me when I die?" "Brimstone, my love," was the affectionate reply.

Cards. DR. T. J. BOYER, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OFFICE ON MARKET STREET, CLEARFIELD, PA. Office hours: 8 to 12 a. m., and 1 to 5 p. m.

Cards. JOHN A. GREGORY, COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT, Office in the Court House, Clearfield, Pa.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 31. The school directors or controllers having charge of any school, upon application, to furnish any child between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age, residing in their district, with a copy of the books, when it shall appear that the parent or guardian, having control of said child is in indigent circumstances and desirous of sending such child to school, and such books shall be paid from the treasury of the school district by orders drawn thereupon by the proper officers.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 32. The school directors or controllers having charge or control of any public school in this county, shall report to the Board of Education, showing the number and result of prosecutions under this act, the number of children, if any, between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age who have not attended any school, or who have not been instructed in accordance with section one of this act.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 33. All suits under this act shall be an action of debt in the name of the people of the State of Pennsylvania, and for the use of the district where the offence shall have been committed.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 34. Butler Clubs are all the go in Massachusetts just now. The hero of Dutch Gap is already in the field. Benjamin is aiming to be Governor of Massachusetts, the President—or a partnership with William M. Tweed, the "retired statesman."

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 35. A quarrelsome couple were discussing the subject of epithets and tombstones, and the husband said: "My dear, what kind of a stone do you suppose they will give me when I die?" "Brimstone, my love," was the affectionate reply.

Cards. J. S. BARNHART, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, BELLEFONTE, PA. Collections made and money promptly paid over. Attends to all business entrusted to him promptly and faithfully.

Cards. JOHN A. GREGORY, COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT, Office in the Court House, Clearfield, Pa.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 36. The school directors or controllers having charge of any school, upon application, to furnish any child between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age, residing in their district, with a copy of the books, when it shall appear that the parent or guardian, having control of said child is in indigent circumstances and desirous of sending such child to school, and such books shall be paid from the treasury of the school district by orders drawn thereupon by the proper officers.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 37. The school directors or controllers having charge or control of any public school in this county, shall report to the Board of Education, showing the number and result of prosecutions under this act, the number of children, if any, between the ages of eight and fourteen years of age who have not attended any school, or who have not been instructed in accordance with section one of this act.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 38. All suits under this act shall be an action of debt in the name of the people of the State of Pennsylvania, and for the use of the district where the offence shall have been committed.

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 39. Butler Clubs are all the go in Massachusetts just now. The hero of Dutch Gap is already in the field. Benjamin is aiming to be Governor of Massachusetts, the President—or a partnership with William M. Tweed, the "retired statesman."

Further Supplement to the General School Law. Section 40. A quarrelsome couple were discussing the subject of epithets and tombstones, and the husband said: "My dear, what kind of a stone do you suppose they will give me when I die?" "Brimstone, my love," was the affectionate reply.

"Milky" Collins. Poor Philip, says the Washington Capital, was taken considerably by surprise by a new member he invited to his house to an entertainment he gave to Wilkie Collins. The Hon. Lycurgus Leathers, from the Mill Creek bottoms of Pennsylvania had been to a dinner party at Welcker's, and was considerably "sprung" when he reached Mr. Phillips' palatial residence. A few minutes' conversation with the new member had induced him to complete his utterance. When he was presented to the celebrated English novelist he seized his hand, and holding it firmly but affectionately he gazed with intense earnestness in the face of the novelist. At last, finding words, he said: "How are you, Milky?" "I am quite well, sir; how do you do?" "Oh, never mind me, Milky; I'm all right; member elect from Mill Creek Bottoms, and glad to see you." Here Wilkie made an attempt to escape, but the M. C. held on. "I say, old Milky, I know you. I've got all your looks and read one every day. I've got 'Hard Cash,' the 'Last of the Barons,' the 'Lay of the Last Minstrel,' and all of 'em."

The Original Granger of the United States. The Chicago Times recently published a sketch of William Saunders, the man who inaugurated the Order of Patrons of Husbandry in America. The correspondent who visited Mr. Saunders at Washington gives an interesting account of his labors in connection with the organization. Mr. Saunders is a genial, unpretentious, sensible Scotchman. He is upward of sixty years of age, a man of large frame, something above medium height, with gray hair, a beard almost white, and a grayish complexion. He is rather dark, has the lightest blue eyes I ever saw—eyes which would delight the transcendental Alcott, who believes that the blue-eyed will inherit the earth. He has a high and somewhat retreating forehead, a nose which evinces strength of character and a rather sober expression of countenance, as of a man of thought rather than of a man who is controlled by his feelings. His bearing is such that he elicits good will from others, those who are associated with him holding him in profound and even tender regard.

Mr. Saunders came to this country in 1847. Prior to that time had been engaged in horticultural and agricultural pursuits in and about London, where he organized several societies of persons engaged in occupations similar to his own. For several years past he has been in the present, the Superintendent of the gardens, and the beauty of the gardens, considering the brief period they have been in existence, certainly does credit to his skill and taste.

The order of the Patrons of Husbandry was first conceived in his mind some seven years ago. The grand objects he had in view were general improvement in husbandry, the promotion of the welfare and happiness of those engaged in agricultural and kindred pursuits, and the increase consequent upon these of the general wealth and prosperity of the country. He had observed that the popular modes of creating an interest in husbandry, and of securing a diffusion of knowledge with a view to its application for the increase of the products of the soil, were imperfect and wholly inadequate. He saw that, for the welfare of the great producing masses of the country, and for efficiency of their labors, two things were essential—education, especially instruction in relation to the best methods of production, and unity of action, and these two essentials he kept and still keeps steadily in view.

An embryo poet, who is certainly a close observer of human nature, remarks: "Time marches on with the slow, measured tread of a man working by the day."