What are Election Expenses.

The bill "to define the necessary and proper expenses incidental to the nomination and election of Senators, Representatives, State Judicial and county officers," came up, and was passed finally. It provides "that no person who shall bereafter be a candidate for the person of the p who shall bereafter be a candidate for the nomination or election to the Senate or House of Representatives, or to any office of the judiciary, or to any State or county office in the Commonwealth, shall be allowed to pay or contribute, either directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing, or knowingly allow it to be done by others for him, either for the nomination, election or appointment, except tion, election or appointment, except for his tickets, and distributing the BROCKERHOFF HOUSE, same, for publishing his card, for printing circulars, and for circulating the stolon articles were found upon the culprit, and there was no use in attempting to deny the charge. Lawyer G— was applied to by the prisoner as coansel, and, seeing no escape for his client, except on the plea of insanity or idiocy, he instructed the fellow to put on as silly a look as possible, and, when any question was put to him, to utter in a drawling manner, with idiotic expression, the word ner, with idiotic expression, the word 'spoons.' If successful, the fee was to be twenty dollars. The court pro-ceded to business; the charge was read, and the question put to the prisoner:

"Guilty, or not guilty?"
"Spoons!" ejaculated the culprit.
The court put several questions to "let him go about his business." The prisoner left the room and the fawyer followed close in his wake, and when they had got into the hall the counsellor tapped his client on the shoulder, saying:

"Now, my good fellow, that twenty dollars."

The rogue looking the lawyer full in the face, and, putting on a grotesque and silly expression, and winking with one eye, exclaimed: "Spoons!"

THE LAST ARRIVAL and then made tracks.

HE UNDERSTOOD IT.—Thirty-five years ago Thomas H. Bentou, "Old Bullion," as he was called, says the Boston Journal, delivered a speech upon finances in the United States Senate, in the course of which he made some remarks which sound very much like the utterances of to-day. One some remarks which sound very much like the utterances of to-day. One passage was as follows: "One of the highest functions of money is to measure of values. That is a function which paper cannot perform. The measure of values must itself be free from sudden or material variations of value—
It must have a uniform and a universal value. As well might you attempt to make a measure of lengths out of that which has no length; a measure of weight out of that which has no expandity to hold any quantity, as to endeavor to make a measure out of that which has no expandity to hold any quantity, as to endeavor to make a measure out of that which has no intrinsic value. WATER FOR CHILDREN .- It is particularly with those who have been accustomed to water drinking, that it would show its good effects in after life. During the first nine months the infant is to be nourished by its moth-er's milk, which serves as food and drink; it is gradually accustomed to other sustenance during the period of weaning. After this is accomp however, the infant should have fresh however, the infant should have fresh water as well as milk.

By water drinking in childbood and youth, the foundation of a durable stomach is laid, and thus a healthy body throughout life. The nervous and blood systems are over-excited by spices, beer, wine, chocolate, coffee, etc., and thus a constant artificial state of fever is maintained, and the process is so much accelerated by it, that children fed in this manner do not attain, perhaps, half the age ordained by naperhaps, half the age ordained by nature. Besides this, experience has taught that they generally become passionate and willful, having neither the will nor the power to make themselves or others happy.

MORE SOOTHING SYRUP.—After Mrs.

Minalow, Congress is manufacturing about the next best article, though it is to operate differently. The inflationists have gained a victory in the United States Sonate. By a vote of 28 to 25 an amendment proposed by Senator Merrimon was adopted. This amendment provides for an increase of the National bank circulation to the extent of $46,000,000, which will make the maximum of such notes $400,000,000. The votes in favor or inflation came chiefly from the Sonth and West. Our Senators divided, Cameron voting aye and Scott nay—It is not certain that the Senate will stand by the position it has taken, though it is considered likely that the inflationists will be able to carry their projects through both branches of Congress. More "greenbacks" postpones specie payment, and puts the country in shape for another panic, after the commercial gamblers make their piles.
