A CREMATION ELEGY.

De mortule not even bones.

"Where is thy grave, my love, I want to weep.

-Foster.

The chimney stack, through which my love ha flown,
Be sacred now with all perpetual fires;
Her ashes, shrouded in this hollow urn,
Are all that's left of dead love's fond desires.

How oft when wandering near this hallowed spot And thinking of the days that are no more, My yearning eyes shall seek yon chimney pot, Through which aweet Ellen's volatiles did pour

Sweet carbon, loved ammonia, water fine, HO, CO, NH, of danticat mold, Are all she was; ah! wherefore then repine, Since not for aye the chemic forces hold? Ye powers that hold above the silent dead Your everlasting speechiess watch and ward That that the frost that binds so dear a head, That melt the golden bowl, the silver cord;

To you, ye viewless spirit of the air, Cohesion, chemical affinity, Straight have I yielded up my Ellen fair, To act upon her sweet divinity.

And you, my brothers, when my days are ended. I pray you this last favor for me to do;
Ah! lay my body there, whence she ascended,
To fly up through the flue up which she flew.

Agricultural Notes.

A writer in the Field contends that A writer in the Field contends that a change of seed in the potato is absolutely necessary; that Messrs. Sutton & Son, of Reading, had made no less than 350 trials of the effect a change of seed would have upon the yield and quantity of the crops, and in every instance it was beneficial. This seed was obtained at various distant points and grown in pretty much all kinds of soil, yet showed the same results—Sutton & Son do not recommend the cutting of pointees for planting but cutting of potatoes for planting, but say it is always safe to take the a cutting of the end.

And nothing probably will be surer than a mound of fine sand or clay, the freer from vegetable matter the better. I have never had any difficulty with trees so guarded; while those not cared for in this manner were a constant source of trouble I was never so convinced of the value

Too Much for Him. Horaco Greeley used to affirm that newspaper men were the most patient

people, as a class, on the earth, and he was not far from right, though there are times when patience ceases to be a virtue with the most enduring. Nearly everybody in the western part of Michigan knows Burr, who used to start a newspaper about once a month the year round, generally bringing them out in Grand Rapids, but sometimes making a flying trip to other points.

Burr could stand to be told that he lied about circulation, was on the fence as a politician, and that he didn't know anything about publishing a paper; and when the men threatened to sue or thrash him he only smiled a sad smile and wished that mankind wouldn't get excited. During a religious rayival at Grand During a religious revival at Grand Rapids, Barr We have Everything that is Needed H. F. BIGLER & CO.'S a minister came in and after talking r while, he proposed prayer.

He was in the act of kneeling, when his foot struck one of the outside forms, which was leaning against a leg of the stone, ready to be lifted up, and over it went, making a bushel of "pi." Burr looked at the ruin wrought, thought of the two weeks overwork, and commenced taking off his coat saying "I'm trying to be a christian and set good example, but rat my buttons if I can't lick you in just two minutes!" The clergyman backed down stairs in no time, dodging the lye brush on the way, and Burr backslid at once.

Often, in consequence, a sentence or an expression is rendered sufficiently ludicrous, as the design of the design sequel will show. A gentleman says he had the pleasure of listening to a clover man, the Rev. Mr. —, (let his locality be a secret,) and recently he began his discourse thus: "My friends you will find the subject of discourse in the first Epistle general of the Apostle Peter, chapter 5th and verse 8th, in the words: 'The Devil he goeth about like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour. Now, my friends, with your leave, we will divide the subject of our text to-day into four heads. Firstly, we shall endeavor to ascer-tain Who the Devil he was. Secondly, we shall inquire into his geographical position—namely 'Where the Devil he was,' and where the Devil he was going. Thirdly, and this is of a per-sonal character, who the Devil he was seeking. And fourthly, and lastly, we shall endeavor to solve a question which has nover yet been solved— What the Devil he was roaring
