Dare we condemn the ills that others do?

Dare we condemn?

Their strength is small, their trials not a few,
The tide of wrong is difficult to stem.

And if to us more clearly than to them
Is given knowledge of the good and true,
More do they need our help and pity, too;

Dare we conde un?

God help us all, and lead us day by day,
God help us all!
We cannot waik alone the porfect way,
Evil allures us tempts us, and we fall.
We are but human and our power is small:
Not one of us may boast, and not a day
Rolls o'er our head but each hath need to say,
God bless us all!

The Constitutional Commission.

share in raising the commission. Mr. Wallace and Mr. Playford both voted against the bill when it was before the Senate. The members, then, are removed from all partisan or personal considerations in the performance of their work.

So much for the composition of the commission. Those who believed the attempt to revise the constitution so soon after its adoption by a large majority of the people of Pennsylvania, would be premature and unwise have an ample guaranty that there will be no hasty or inconsiderate action. THE LAST ARRIVAL WHERE to buy my DRY GOODS, GRO-While it would be extremely injudi-cious to touch at this time those new parts of the constitution which have not yet had a fair trial, it cannot be d that there are errors and contradictions which should be promptly removed. The work of the commi tee on revision was in many respects hastily and crudely performed in consequence of the shortness of time that was given it for deliberation. It will be the task of the commission to correct the errors in this portion of the require time. The changes to be pro- for us to state that the legislature, and then ratified by the people at the ballot box. Thus no change can be effected until 1878. In the meantime the people will become familiar with the working of the constitution and better prepared to pass judgment on the changes that shall be presented to them for adoption. FURNITURE. Harrisburg Patriot.

A Slight Mistake. Chubb's clock got out of order one day about Christmas time, and began to strike wrong. That was the cause of the fearful excitement in his house one night. They were all in bed sound asleep at mignight, when the clock suddenly struck five. The new hired girl, happening to wake just as it began, heard it, and bounced out of bed, under the impression that morning had come; and as it is dark at five A. M. just at that season as at midtake, but went down into the kitchen and began to get breakfast. While she was bustling about in a pretty lively manner, Chubb happened to wake, and he heard the noise. He MARBLE AND STONE YARD! opened his room door cautiously, and cropt softly to the head of the stairs to listen. He could distinctly hear some one moving about the kitchen and dining room, and apparently packing up the china. Accordingly he went back to his room and woke Mrs.

MRs. S. S. LIDDELL,

Having engaged in the Marble business, desires to inform her friends and the public that she has Chubb, and gave her orders to spring the rattle out of the front window the moment she heard his gun go off.—
Then Chubb seized his fewling piece, district the first that the first that the first that the first that is prepared to furnish to order to the first that the first and, going down to the dining room door, where he could hear the burgiare at work, he cocked the gun, aimed it, pushed the door open with muzzle and fired. Instantly Mrs. Chubb sprang the rattle and before Chubb could pick up the lacerated hired girl the door was burst open by two policemen, who came into the dining room. Seeing Chubb with a gun, and a bleeding woman on the floor, they imagined that a murder had been committed, and one of them trotted Chubb off to the station house while the other rethe station house while the other remained to investigate things. Just then the clock struck six. An explanation ensued from the girl, who had only a few bird shot in her leg and the policeman left to bring Chubb home. He arrived at about three in the morning, just as the clock was striking eight. When the situation was unfolded to him, his first action was to jam the butt of his gun through the clock, whereupon it immediately struck two hundred and forty-three, and Chubb pitched it over the fence. He has a new clock now, and things are working better—Max Adeler.

IUDGE NOT How do we know what hearts have vilest sin?

Many, like sepalchree, are foul within,

Whose outward gard is spotless as the snow,
And many may be pure we think not so.

How near to God the souls of such have been,
What morey seeret penitonce may win—

How do we know?

How can we tell who sinned more than we?

How can we tell?

We think our brother walked guiltily,
Judging him in self-righteounness. Ah, well?

Perhaps had we been drives through the hell
Of his unteld temptations, we might be Less upright in our daily walk than he—
How can we tell?

If there was any justification for the plea that the proposal to appoint a commission to revise the new constitution was conceived in a spirit of hostility to that document, the feeling ought to be removed by the announcement of the names of the distinguished citizens who have been selected by the Governor for the work of revision.
