GEORGE B. GOODLANDER

OFFICE REMOVED

THE INDEPENDENTS

By request we last week published the proceedings of the so-called independent Democratic Convention...

What are the reasons in 1874 for the Democratic party? What justification have our leaders for their action at this time? We have no ticket in the field, nor can we have before the middle of September...

By the time we last week published the proceedings of the so-called independent Democratic Convention, which met at Curwensville, on the 7th, under the call of Mr. Henry Kerns, Chairman...

It seems to be under the auspices of the same gentlemen who led last fall. It met at the same place, and takes counsel from the same sources...

The ostensible reason for disorganization in 1873 was fraud in our nominations and our vicious system of making them...

There have been a number of public meetings held recently in Boston at which the subject of the proposed business men took part in the proceedings. Committees were appointed to consider measures and secure an organization for the purpose of improving the city...

New York commands Boston for her part in the matter but strongly urges her to do so. It is a struggle to a long-end one, if her merchants will invest capital in commercial enterprise, to bring it to New York. As the cotton, corn, sugar and rice growing regions of this country are south of New York, the Boston capitalists can get 100 miles nearer those soil producing sections by carrying their capital and enterprise to Philadelphia.
