Post yourself in prices of groceries at Lytle & Mitchell's, before purchasing elsewhere.

The names of Jurors drawn for the November term of Court will be found in this issue.

Close Shaving.—Seven per cent. has been knocked off the wages of the employes of the Cambria Iron Works at Johnstown.

The temperance men of Blair county have nominated Capt. A. M. Lloyd, of Gaysport, for Assembly, and A. A. Stevens, Esq., of Tyrone, for District Attorney.

The Fall meeting of the Brookville Mountain Park Association will be held at Brookville on the 20th, 21st and 22d of October. Premiums to the amount of $1,500 are offered.

Settle Up.—The Overseers of the Poor of Woodward township, give notice this week, that they are determined to settle all accounts on the 31st day of October, and those not complying with this notice will be debarred.

Teachers Wanted.—The School Directors of Brady township wish to employ four competent teachers. Wages from $35 to $40 per month. The Board will be in session at Lothersburg on the 17th inst., where applicants will please apply.

The Cambria Freeman states that Mr. James M. Kinports, of Hollidaysburg, sold eighty-four trees for spare near Cherry Tree, Indiana county, for $3,400 cash, being over $40 for each tree. They are to be hauled seven miles to the water.

Select School.—Elsewhere will be found the card of Miss Eidson, of Lock Haven, who has established a first class reputation in that city. Her references are good, and those wishing to send pupils abroad will do well by corresponding with the lady in question.

Organs and Melodeons.—We invite attention to the card of Geo. A. Prince & Co., of Buffalo, N. Y., manufacturers of Organs and Melodeons. This is the oldest house in the country in its line, and their instruments rank among the very best.

A human skeleton was found on Sunday a week in a lonely covert, about three-fourths of a mile from Powelton, by a Mr. Watkins, who was searching for his cows. The editor of the Osceola Recorder visited the spot, but found nothing which could lead to the identification of the remains, which gave indications of having lain there for some years.

Unclaimed Freight Goods.—It will be observed by an advertisement in this issue that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company propose to sell the unclaimed goods held for freight at the several stations in this county, on Saturday, the 31st day of October. An examination of the list may bring to the notice of owners where their goods are.

A meeting of the Madera Coal and Improvement Company is called for Oct. 15th, to consider the best means of raising money to build the extension of the Moshannon Branch from Houtzdale to Madera. Whether or not the Madera Company decides upon a method of raising funds, two and a half miles of the extension will be built, if not with the assistance of the Company, then by private enterprise.—Philipsburg Journal.

Trying to Settle.—The Philipsburg Journal states that at the meeting of the creditors of McGirk & Perks, at their Banking House, on Saturday, the 3d inst., a proposition was made to pay all claims at seventy-cents on the dollar, in four annual installments, with interest, which was accepted by the heaviest creditors present and which bids fair to receive the amount of a sufficient number to make it the basis of settlement.

The Late Accident.—The Clarion Democrat, in alluding to the late accident which occurred on the Low Grade railroad, says:

It appears the loss of life was much greater than at first reported—four persons having died, and other persons injured may not recover.

Mr. G. W. Painter, of Millville, called at our office last Saturday and gave us an account of the catastrophe. He was in the front passenger coach, and jumped off just before the locomotives struck. He was sitting by the door, and was the only passenger who got out; he escaped unhurt. He says the engineer who was killed, put on the air brakes, reversed his engine, and stood at his post, and was killed while nobly discharging his duty. He had almost succeeded in stopping his train, and had the oil train been equally checked up the collision would not have been so disastrous.

None of the passengers who were in the passenger cars received any injury, except slight bruises. Doyle, McConnell, Strong, and other passengers who were wounded, had gone into the baggage car. One of them had a dog, and took the others in along to see it. It is doubtful if the company can be held responsible for passengers who were not in the proper place provided for them.

A gentlemen from New Bethlehem gives us the following information: Twenty-five oil cars are a total wreck; one baggage car with express and mail burned; one passenger car wrecked; James Kster, engineer, killed instantly; Michael Killian, scalded and died soon afterwards; Richard Doyle, wounded and died same day; Harry Wirtz, wounded internally, and died Friday morning.—The remains of the dead were sent to their friends.

It is reported that John Strong, of Troy, one of the injured passengers died last Sunday.

The wreck has been all cleared away. The locomotives were put on wheels and taken to Pittsburgh for repairs.

Mr. Wm. Phillips, Superintendent of the Low Grade Division (as the Bennett's Branch is now called), made information last Saturday before J. F. McNutt, Esq., of New Bethlehem, against Samuel McFarland, the telegraph operator at that place, who neglected to deliver the message to the conductor of the passenger train. The charge is neglect of duty and failure to obey orders. He was arrested and gave $10,000 bail for his appearance at court. It seems McFarland thought of the message just after the train started, and sent a boy up to Fairmount, the coal station just above town, to deliver it, but before he got there the train had started, and very soon afterwards the crash of the collision was heard at that point.

The only two of the entire crew of the mail train who escaped death or serious injury are the conductor, Mr. James G. Beggs, and the mail agent, A. C. Scott. They were both in the mail car, and were both hurled through the car window over the embankment and into the swamp, a distance of fifty feet. Mr. Beggs received some severe bruises. Mr. Scott escaped with slight bruises but his clothing was nearly torn from his body. The escape of Messrs. Beggs and Scott was, indeed, a miraculous one, as the mail and baggage cars were hurled bottom upwards down the embankment, while the oil cars were hurled promiscuously upon them. These cars immediately took fire and were destroyed with all their contents.

Sunday School Convention.—The Susquehanna District S. S. Convention will hold its next session at Barnside, Clearfield county, Pa., Oct. 20th, 1874, from 9 to 11:30 o'clock, A. M., and from 1:30 to 4 o'clock, P. M. Jubilee from 7 to 9 o'clock, P. M.

TOPICS FOR DISCUSSION:

1. What is the best general routine of Sabbath School exercises?
2. What constitutes a competent and successful Superintendent?
3. What are the secrets of the Sunday School teachers' success?
4. Are Sunday School teachers' meetings profitable?
5. Are church members' obligations to the Sunday Schools any less than their obligations to the church?
6. How can we prevail upon the careless and inactive to come and help us?
7. To what extent should children be encouraged to memorize and recite Scripture?
8. Question drawer half hour in the forenoon and in the afternoon.
9. Brief reports from the Schools represented will be called for.

We hope all Sunday School workers and friends who can attend will do so. Give the whole day to earnest work, and enjoy the jubilee in the evening.

With the blessing of the Master, let us make the Convention a success, and our schools will all reap benefits. Respectfully,

S. F. Crowthers, Pres't.

Grant, Pa., Oct. 8th, 1874.

Bar Supper.—In a social way, the special occasion of last week was the banquet given to Judge Mayer by the members of the Bar, as a welcome upon his return from an extended tour to Europe, where he had gone to restore his declining health. Only on occasions like this does the lion and the lamb agree to lie down together. Lawyers who have their intellect inflated by a liberal fee often display themselves to a disadvantage in the Court room, when zealously engaged in defending their clients, and are consequently misinterpreted by the casual observer. But on occasions like the one under consideration, they stand unrivalled. Toasts and speechmaking, as is usual among lawyers, was a specialty. After the excellent repast furnished by Capt. McGaughey had been disposed of, Judge Mayer's detailed statement of a personal inside view of the Courts and the trial of causes in England and Ireland was decidedly interesting to all present. The party separated between 11 and 12 o'clock, fully satisfied that a good supper had been disposed of, and that a repetition of the occasion would not be out of order.

The Election Laws of Pennsylvania and the New Constitution.—A carefully revised edition of the Election Laws and the New Constitution of Pennsylvania, with an analytical index, will be issued by October 10th, which, together, form a book of reference that no citizen should fail to possess. The Election Laws have been digested and arranged with notes by Francis Jordan, late Secretary of the Commonwealth, to which is added the Judicial decisions, making a compact, comprehensive and thorough manual, for the information of the people and the guidance of election officers. The work as a whole is very valuable and ought to be in the possession of every citizen. It contains all the legislation of last session in reference to elections, together with the forms of blanks for the use of election officers and assessors; thus rendering it entirely complete in all the branches of which it treats. Benjamin Singerly, Harrisburg, is the publisher. Price, by mail, post paid, in paper cover, $1.10; muslin, $1.35; law sheep, $1.50.

Third Week.—Court opened on Monday, at 10 o'clock, A. M., with Judges Orvis, Foley and Read on the bench. Business moved very slowly on Monday. As usual, nobody was ready. If the plaintiff in one case was ready, the defendant was sure to be absent, and vice versa; besides jurors seemed to be scarce, and 3½ o'clock, P. M., brought about an adjournment until Tuesday morning, when a new departure seemed to have been made, and everybody was bound to be ready and desirous to have their case presented to the jury at once. From the looks of things at present writing (Tuesday morning), there will be considerable business disposed of during the term.

Blitz! Blitz!!—Old Signor Blitz, the world renowned magician, with his trained birds, will give an entertainment in Clearfield, on Saturday evening, Oct. 17th, 1874, at the Opera House. This will be good news for his old admirers, and for the children who have read extracts from his life and have long desired to see the original. This is his farewell tour, and his reception at the Academy of Music, in Philadelphia, where ten thousand persons, including the clergy, mayor and officials of the city, greeted him on his farewell night, shows how much he believed to the rule of his adoption. Let all who would see Blitz, and spend an hour of innocent pleasure, be at the Opera House to greet and welcome him here.

The Dedication.—Never before did the citizens of this borough so fully enjoy themselves as they did on last Friday evening, on the occasion of the dedication of their magnificent new school building. The adult portion were highly entertained, but the little folks were perfectly delighted. The proceedings are entirely too lengthy for our columns this week, and we have therefore postponed publishing them until next week, when we will give them in full.

Postponed.—We notice that "the people of Union, Centre and Clinton counties," who proposed to hold a meeting of some kind in Odd Fellows last week, have postponed it indefinitely. Such enterprise is commendable, when handled as it ought to be. However, if they have nothing particular on hands to thrill over their own counties, it is probably well enough for them to stir up their neighbors.

The biggest pear of the season was handed us last week by Mr. Thomas McGregor, of Wayne. It is of a variety brought from Tortworthy by Josiah Masterton about forty years ago. A city was profited about three years ago on a white there stock by Mr. Hall, which produced in the third fruit. It is one foot in circumference, and weighs one pound.—Clinton Democrat.

That's a whopper!—we mean the pear.

Removed.—Sheriff McPherson has delivered Peck Carney, Frederick Leslie, and William Farver to the Warden of the Western Penitentiary. The two former were each sentenced for one year, and the latter for two years. Carson belongs to Maine, and Leslie to Philadelphia; but the taxpayers of this county will be compelled to pay the bill. Farver had followed a precarious calling for a number of years, and allowed himself to be "roped into" Harry's forgery enterprise, of which both have been convicted and the penitentiary is their reward.
